CAB STRIKE RIOTS PUT 7 IN HOSPITAL

Today

It's Big, and Little.
Religions to Suit.
Many-Car Families.
His Work, His Monument.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 24.

TO KNOW that the world is small, come to the edge of the Pacific and talk to New York friends, as easily as though they were in the same room. Or call London, and talk unconscious of the fact that your voice transformed into an electric impulse, flashes across the Atlantic ocean in less than a sixtieth of a second, through the ether.

NEXT, to realize that the world, this country especially, is big, explore the map on your railroad time table, and look for Tucson, Arizona. You find it a couple of inches away from Los Angeles, and decide to drive there some afternoon to investigate the much praised climate, which Colonel Boyce Thompson says is the best on this or any other planet.

You discover that the distance is 700 miles, and decide to take one of Paul Shoup's Southern Pacific trains, that make the trip in a night.

THIS West Coast supplies everything that you want in the way of new ideas, religions, queer beliefs.

Many gentlemen teach you to explore hidden resources of your brain, and exchange them for cash, right away.

One, enthusiastic, teaches something new called "Brain Breathing." By brain breathing, it seems, you can get rich rapidly.

A MATURE lady, leader of a religious sect, is annoyed by a charge of murder.

The gentleman in the case, was put out of the way, with poison. He had taken up another religion. But, without fail, "he will be resurrected after publication of 'The Great Sixth Seal.'"

That "seal" you must know, contains the secrets of the universe. For it reviving Mr. Ruzzio would be child's play.

ONE unfortunate father, convinced that his religious teachers could bring his daughter back to life, kept the child's body on ice for more than a year.

The religious lady accused of murder, according to witnesses, said she received orders from the Angel Gabriel, but was told not to shed blood. Hence the poison.

STRANGE to us now, such nonsense was part of religious belief, through all time, until recently.

Thousands were put to death, tortured, burned, for not choosing the "only true religion."

Protestants burned Catholics, Catholics burned Protestants, Protestants and Catholics burned Jews, first torturing them to get their money.

Mohammedans killed everybody, except Mohammedans.

The order to slay and spare not, coming from Heaven, was nothing exceptional.

THIS glorious coast from Seattle to San Diego, the land of good roads, faces a family problem less acute in other parts of the country.

The problem is "which cars shall go into the garage, which shall be parked in the driveway?" Here, the two-car, three-car and four-car family is the rule.

A family with only one car is primitive.

IN 1933 Chicago will celebrate in grand style the "Century of Progress."

And there is much to celebrate.

Rufus C. Dawes, brother of our ambassador to England, president of the Chicago celebration, says "man is becoming smarter all the time, and because of science the world is a much better place than ever before."

MOST gratifying is the fact that man is becoming less brutal all the time. Now if you want to find murder in the name of religion, the vilest beliefs of superstitions, you go into the gutters of ignorance. You no longer find such things on the throne or in law-making bodies.

S. T. MATHER, dead in Boston, deserves a monument as high as the tallest of the magnificent trees protected and preserved by him as director of the National Park Service.

ONCE a worker on the old New York Morning Sun, in Dana's time, later a prosperous business man, Mr. Mather devoted his life and fortune to the extension and development of our national parks.

BORN in California, a product of American public schools and the University of California, Mather would want no monument from men. He knew, as every modern man worth while knows, that the only monument worth while is work well done.

Thanks to Mather's work, this nation, for all earthly time, will possess the most magnificent parks on the surface of the globe.

8 INJURED IN TROLLEY CRASH

McKeesport and Brookline Cars Collide; Victims Rushed to Hospital

Eight persons were injured in a street car collision at Smithfield street and Third avenue this afternoon. As a one-man Brookline car in charge of Sylvester Bell was crossing Third avenue, northbound, on Smithfield street, it was struck "amidship" by a westbound McKeesport car in charge of Motorman Bernstein.

The Brookline car, according to the police, had the right of way, the signal light being in its favor. Bernstein, it is said, was unable to stop his car, the brakes failing to hold.

The injured:

ISAACS, JOSEPH, 30, of 1213 Berkshire avenue, Brookline.
ARMONE, A., 37, of 108 Industrial street.
LEBER, MRS. ANNA M., 65, of 2661 Ammon street.
FITZHENRY, Mrs. S., 32, of 254 Glenwood avenue.
MARKS, MRS. A., 30, of 1019 Woodlawn avenue.
FICK, MRS. E., 34, of 2819 Shawham street.
CIVITATE, LOUIS, 19, of 315 Forward avenue.
YOURICK, GEORGE, 24, of 43 Acorn street.

The injured were taken to Mercy Hospital. All but Isaacs, Armone and Mrs. Leber were discharged after being given first aid treatment. The three named were admitted for further treatment. The nature of their injuries was not disclosed.

There were about 15 persons on the McKeesport car and 30 on the Brookline car.

The Brookline car was knocked off the track, its windows shattered and side battered in. Traffic was delayed for 20 minutes.

SAYLOR TAKES CAUFFIEL'S JOB

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Jan. 24.—O. Webster Saylor, a member of the city school board, today was elected mayor of Johnstown by a unanimous vote of City Council. He will succeed Joseph Cauffiel, now serving two years in the county jail at Ebensburg for misconduct in office.

Saylor is 42 years of age and a World War veteran and was a candidate for sheriff last fall. He is a graduate of Franklin and Marshall College where he starred in football. The choice of Saylor broke a deadlock between the four members of council over H. J. Stockton and Harry B. Mainhart.

It has just been revealed that Cauffiel was granted permission by Warden Edward Knee to attend the funeral of Dan Cauffiel, of Wilmington, Del., brother of the former mayor. Cauffiel, without guard, left the jail Sunday night, January 12, and returned the following Saturday.

The blonde revealed her romance with Dague, who has a wife and two children at Viola, W. Va., to guards, for the first time.

"I married Homer Schroeder before I was old enough to realize what love meant," she said. "I never did love him. Dague is the only man I ever loved."

Hanson Freed, Leaves Jail Secretly

William Hanson, Library chicken farmer and former brother-in-law of Al Forney, was released from jail Wednesday after serving 16 days of a four months' sentence, it developed today.

Hanson left the jail quietly at night, after his sentence had been modified in court and he had paid $500 fine imposed at the time he was sentenced.

He was found guilty last spring of maintaining a gambling device in the Mt. Oliver Moose Club. Sentence was postponed eight times.

Three jurists, Judges Josiah Cohen and Thomas Ford, of Allegheny County, and Judge William T. Darr, of Jefferson County, concurred on the modification decision.

Attorney Edward G. Coll, who represented Hanson, contended that evidence introduced at the trial showed that Hanson had been guilty of the possession of but one slot machine. Procedure in previous cases of this type, he argued, was the imposition of a $25 fine.

District Attorney S. H. Gardner said his assistant, John F. Haggerty, has attended one of the meetings of the judges on request and had not opposed modifying the sentence.

"The judges felt that the sentence was excessive after learning that fines of from $1 to $200 and paroles had been granted in cases where the defendant had been found guilty on several counts," said Judge Darr. "We acted entirely within our judicial rights."

CONGRESS DRYS FIGHT HOOVER REFORMS

Willebrandt, Mitchell Called After 2 Stormy Sessions Featuring 'Gag' Charges

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—The wisdom of President Hoover's program for tightening prohibition enforcement was seriously questioned by drys today for the first time on the floor of the House and at public hearings before two committees.

At one session, featured by charges of "gag rule," is was voted to call Mabel Walker Willebrandt, former assistant Attorney General, in charge of prohibition, for testimony on the Williamson bill to transfer the prohibition enforcement unit from the Treasury to the Justice Department.

The anti-prohibitionists have had the Hoover program under fire for a week but the drys at last entered the controversy to demand further information before giving it their approval.

WARNS OF DANGERS

The high light was an appeal to the House itself by Representative Stobbs (Rep.), of Massachusetts, a dry, for advice on what to do with the President's proposal for conferring police magistrate powers on United States commissioners. He pointed out the danger of depriving accused men of their right to trial by jury and admitted the House Judiciary Committee was puzzled by several constitutional features of the proposal.

At a hearing on the bill before the House Committee on Executive Expenditures, Representative Beedy (Rep.), of Maine, leader of the House drys, questioned the wisdom of Mr. Hoover's proposal to transfer the prohibition bureau while leaving the industrial alcohol permit section in the Treasury Department. Beedy proposed concentrating all prohibition affairs in one department so that there can be "no passing of the buck in the future."

Beedy insisted that control of industrial alcohol was "the most important matter" in prohibition enforcement. He corroborated the charge of anti-drys that the "greatest diversion" of alcohol into bootleg channels came from industrial permit holders.

MITCHELL TO BE CALLED

In the end, the committee decided to call Attorney General William D. Mitchell before it to learn why the industrial alcohol section should not be placed in the Department of Justice. The drys appeared intent on this change, as Representative Swing, (Rep.), of California, another dry, went so far as to formally move to amend Mr. Hoover's plan to include this transfer.

Representative Schafer (Rep.), Wisconsin, made the charge of "gag rule" procedure at the session of the Expenditures Committee, after Chairman Williamson had held as out of order a motion by Schafer to call Mrs. Willebrandt, who for years directed prohibition prosecutions for the government.

Schafer's motion was put to a vote. He was sustained 8 to 7, and Williamson said the decision of the committee to call her would be carried out.

Previously the committee had indulged in sharp debate over a motion by Representative Cochran (Dem.), Missouri, to broaden the hearings to include any testimony that might bear on whether the Treasury and Justice departments in any way had failed to enforce the law. Cochran was voted down 10 to 3.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 24.—(INS.)—"What Philadelphia needs is a few good night clubs."

The speaker—no less than Grover Whalen, police commissioner of New York, talking at a dinner here last night, which preceded distribution of the box awards to heroic policemen, declared "good" night clubs are almost a necessity.

"We have determined in New York that night clubs, conducted within the law, are a good thing for a city."

3 STABBED IN DOWNTOWN BATTLE

New Men, Heavily Guarded, Cruise Cabs in Trouble Area; Peace Hope Wanes

Warfare between the striking taxicab drivers and the imported drivers reached a new high pitch today with street riots and stabbings as the Green and Yellow Companies resumed part service. These were the outstanding developments:

1—Three strikers were stabbed and a dozen or more new drivers were beaten in two downtown riots.

2—Sixty cabs were sent into operation after the riots, with five guards on each two cabs.

3—Councilman Robert Garland suggested that Gov. Fisher send state troopers to Pittsburgh to preserve order.

4—The Yellow Cab Company offered $1,000 for the conviction of any person who violates the terms of the court's injunction granted against interference with the cabs.

5—Extra mounted policemen were on patrol in every downtown block to carry out Public Safety Director Clark's instructions to preserve order and protect citizens.

6—The Yellow Cab Company announced that "as a matter of common sense" the cabs would not be operated at night for the time being. The company complimented police for protection offered.

DOWNTOWN RIOTS

Two downtown riots widened the breach between employers and strikers as the taxicab strike entered its thirteenth day today.

Three strikers were stabbed in a riot at Third avenue and Grant street this morning.

An hour later strike sympathizers and imported drivers clashed at Grant street and Sixth avenue.

This afternoon trouble broke out again when four cabs were stoned by 15 strike sympathizers, police reported. One man was arrested. The cabs were returned

U. S. PRESSING CRUISER ISSUE

LONDON, Jan. 24. — (AP.) — Delegates to the five-power naval conference virtually wound up their first week's work today with a whirl of activity bringing Anglo-American parity sharply to the fore for the first time and pointing to publicity for all future full meetings of the conference.

At the suggestion of Henry L. Stimson, American Secretary of State, the troublesome cruiser problem which wrecked the Geneva Conference seems certain to be the first taken up in arranging details of parity of the British and American navies.

In urging that the cruiser angle of the Anglo-American parity problem be taken up first, Secretary Stimson struck directly at the most troublesome question in the whole parity discussion. Although agreed on other points, the exact balance of the American and British cruiser fleets is one point never settled. As the matter stands, disparity amounts roughly to whether the United States is to build in the years to come her last three projected 10,000-ton cruisers under her 15 cruiser program.

Stimson in his first conference with the entire press representation at St. James Palace today described progress of the naval conference thus far as "very satisfactory and encouraging."

Dry Toll Shows Another Boy's Life Sacrificed

The life of another boy is cut short by a prohibition officer's bullet. Another entry for the roll of innocents sacrificed in the name of prohibition enforcement.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—How a school boy returning home one night with a group of fellow-students from a school party was shot to death by a prohibition-enforcing deputy sheriff is described in reports received by the Washington Herald from B. J. Oakes, coroner of Floyd County, and Dan Shannon, chief of police, of Charles City, Ia.

The boy, Melvin Stoker, of Charles City, was killed May 20, 1923, by Vern Cutler, a deputy and son of Sheriff Cutler, of Floyd County. The shooting took place on a highway south of Charles City. No inquest was held but Cutler was indicted by the grand jury, convicted and give an eight-year sentence and later paroled. Coroner Oakes, on July 5, 1929, described the killing in a report to the Herald as follows:

"A party of students returning home at night and ordered to stop. Deputy shot through the back of car hitting Melvin Stoker who died in hospital next day."

BYRD PARTY IN REAL DANGER, STATE DEPARTMENT SAYS

PERIL FOUND IN GREAT ICE BLOCKADE

U. S. Urges Aid for Explorer Before Freezing Packs Lock Him in for Year

BULLETIN.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24. — (AP.) — Ambassador Dawes informed the State Department today that the British Steamer Southern Princess would not be able to pierce the thick ice surrounding the Byrd expedition to effect the rescue of the party.

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—Contrary to published statements of Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd's New York representative, the State Department reiterated today the situation confronting the ice-bound South Polar expedition party was serious.

The department announced yesterday that Byrd had advised he has insufficient food to remain on the ice barrier another winter, and that several of his companions would not be able to survive the experience.

This information was cabled the Norwegian Government in a request that Norwegian whaling boats, now in Antarctic waters, be sent to aid Byrd's ships to penetrate the ice pack and start for home.

PACKS FORM SOON

The huge packs will form next month, making passage by any ship impossible for another year, the department said.

Capt. H. H. Railey, the New York representative of the expedition, declared Byrd was fully equipped to spend another winter at the South Pole.

WHALER STANDS BY

LONDON, Jan. 24.—(AP.)—The British whaler, Southern Princess, is standing by in Antarctic waters for an opportunity to get in touch with the expedition of Rear-Admiral Richard E. Byrd, held in by pack ice in the Antarctic.

The Liverpool owners of the whaler received a request from Ambassador Dawes for assistance, and immediately sent instructions to the master to take whatever action he could.

SKIPPERS OPTIMISTIC

OSLO, Norway, Jan. 24.—(INS.)—The Norwegian foreign office today conferred with whaling experts who believed Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd's Antiarctic expedition would not be isolated for another year by the ice barriers preventing passage from the Pacific Ocean to the Ross Sea.

Further conferences with whalers familiar with Antarctic conditions are scheduled so the Norwegian government may have ample time to aid the expedition before the ice barriers close up for the winter season.

Senate Puts Leather, Hides on Free List

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—(INS.)—All hides, varieties of leather goods, boots and shoes were restored to the free list in the new tariff bill today by the Senate as the climax to a week's debate over tariff protection for cattle raisers and the tanning industry.

The Senate first refused to increase the House duties on hides by several record votes and then finally wiped out all protection for the articles. The motion putting all the items on the free list was made by Senator Borah (Rep.), of Idaho.

to the garage, their windows smashed.

Seven riot victims, six of them strikers, were in Mercy Hospital, and the windows of two Grant street buildings were shattered in the fighting.

CABS GUARDED

Soon after the riots Yellow and Checker cabs were operating, each heavily guarded. The cabs left the Yellow Cab Company's garage in Ross street in pairs, one deputy sheriff in the first cab and four guards in the second cab, all prepared to resist attack.

The three stabbed men were reported in serious condition. They were:

GRIPPO, RALPH, 24, of 70 Stevenson street, wounded in the back.

FRIEDMAN, MILTON, 25, of 1315 Bluff street, cuts in back, chest and side.

ALBERT HOFFMAN, 24, of 310 Atwood street; wounds in back, neck, face and chest. A knife blade was removed from his cheek, it was said.

BANK WINDOWS SMASHED

With the knife victims in Mercy Hospital were three others and Deputy Sheriff John Service, bruised and beaten in the fighting.

The three were Frank Price, 25, of 5034 Dearborn street; Paul Reagan, 25, of 4606 Liberty avenue, and John Klaja, of 3704 Fleetwood street.

Iron slugs, brickbats and bottles were hurled by the rioters. Windows in the American State Bank and Trust Company and the Baker-Taylor Furniture Company store at 634 Grant street were smashed.

NEW EMPLOYES BEATEN

A dozen or more new employes of the cab companies, beaten in the riots, were treated at the Yellow Cab garage.

An hour after the cabs were stoned in Grant street two more men were arrested. One was carrying a stone, the other feused to obey police orders to "move on."

RULE FOR INSERT X U

Thirteen men were arrested. Ten of them, strike sympathizers, were taken in the rioting; two were new drivers who drove through traffic lights, and the other was a man, who, armed with a hammer, tried to board a parked cab at Tenth street and Penn avenue, police reported.

TAXI ROUTES GUARDED

The taxicabs, each bearing signs telling of the court's injunction against interference, were operating principally between the Pennsylvania Station and the hotels. One hundred fifty extra mounted patrolmen and police guarded these routes.

This afternoon the strikers were to meet in Moose Temple. Paul Toole, chairman of the strike committee, which is holding out for more pay and recognition of their union, said: "We are holding fast."

"Gov. Fisher should be asked by the cab companies to send state troopers here." Councilman Garland urged. "The people can expect no aid whatever from Mayor Kline. The Mayor controls Council. What can I do?"

ROTHSTEIN SUIT DECIDED

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—(AP.)—An insurance policy for $20,000 on the life of Arnold Rothstein was listed as an asset of the dead gambler's estate today under a court decision that it had not been legally transferred to Ines Norton, a show girl and friend of Rothstein.

Miss Norton, who was made defendant in a suit brought before Justice Alfred H. Townley in Supreme Court, testified that she was expecting to marry Rothstein at the time he was killed in November, 1928. Under cross examination she said her relations with him were "the same as those of man and wife," adding that she was "not ashamed of it."

Tom Farley, Negro, confidential employe of Rothstein, testified for the state that his employer was really in love with his estranged wife and had sent Farley as an emissary in an attempt to effect a reconciliation.

Farley said that Mrs. Rothstein had her husband's confidence to the point of being one of the three persons who knew of her husband's secret strong box, hidden in the upholstery of his favorite chair.

Chinese Seize Briton In Test of New Rule

HANKOW, China, Jan. 24.—(AP.)—The arrest today of a British naval officer whose automobile killed a Chinese coolie may result in a test of the Nationalist government's decree of December 28 abolishing extra-territoriality in China. Upon representation of the Chinese mayor, coupled with the guarantee of the British consul, assuring the naval officer's appearance before Chinese officials, the officer was released. Chinese police said they weer acting "upon specific instructions from Nanking."

PLAN FOR CANAL TO LAKE ERIE SHELVED

Cities Along Proposed Route Of Pittsburgh Waterway Must Give Survey Report

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—The proposed "Pittsburgh-to-Lake Erie Canal" is a "dead issue" until the cities along its proposed route submit data to the War Department and Congress showing the potential tonnage that can be expected to move over it, War Department officials announced today.

This attitude was shared by Representative Shreve (Rep.), of Pennsylvania, one of the backers of the project. He said the responsibility rested on city officials along the proposed route to furnish the department and Congress with statistics showing the necessity and convenience of the canal.

At the War Department it was said the scheduled army engineer hearing on February 4 probably would deal only with improvement of the Allegheny River between Pittsburgh and Oil City.

This stretch of the river would be a part of the proposed canal route between the Mississippi River and the Great Lakes if the canal ever is constructed between Oil City and Lake Erie.

THREE ROUTES

According to army engineers, there are three available routes connecting the Ohio River with the lake—one via Toledo and Miami River; the second from Sandusky via Scioto River, and the third from Cleveland via the Muskingum River.

The Miami River from Toledo strikes the Ohio River at Cincinnati, the Scioto at Portsmouth, O., and the Muskingum at Marietta. These cities will also be represented at the hearing.

"UP TO CITIES"

"Nothing will be done," said Representative Shreve, "until the cities and towns along the proposed canal route submit a survey to Congress showing the amount of potential tonnage that may be expected to originate in Pittsburgh and along the line of the canal for shipment to ports on the Great Lakes or to New York harbor.

"There must also be a survey of the amount of tonnage to be expected from Great Lake ports through the proposed canal to points on the Mississippi River system.

"Nothing will be done until this information is given to the Army Board of Engineers and the House Committee on Rivers and Harbors. It is up to the people living along the route to prove the necessity for such a canal."

It was announced that contracts for the building would be let as early as possible, following approval by the cabinet officers, with work starting this summer or fall.

GORMAN LOSES HEIRESS BRIDE

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Jan. 24.—(AP.)—An annulment of the runaway marriage last April of Natalie Guggenheim, 18-year-old heiress to the copper millions, and Thomas Gorman, Long Island realtor, has been granted by Supreme Court Justice Joseph Morschauser, it was learned today.

Justice Morschauser said it was granted at a private hearing in his chambers here Tuesday night, but the papers had not been signed as yet.

The annulment was granted on the grounds that Miss Guggenheim was not 18 years old when she and Gorman eluded her parents last April 6, after several unsuccessful attempts and were married. The action was brought by Edmond A. Guggenheim, her father.

The marriage of the young copper heiress and Gorman, son of a railroad employe, created considerable stir last spring when it first became known, several days after the ceremony, and shortly after Mrs. Gorman sailed for Europe with her parents, leaving her husband behind.

The new general freight terminal with buildings and yards in Eleventh street, between Etna street and the Allegheny River, was opened for inspection today by the Pennsylvania Railroad.

The terminal was completed at a cost of $5,000,000 and will care for business formerly done by three freight stations, at Penn avenue and at Sixteenth and Grant streets. The new structure, of brick construction, fronts 375 feet along Eleventh street and extends eastward for 800 feet.

The station will be opened Monday for the receipt and delivery of freight from and to all points.

Weather Conditions.

A low pressure area, centered north of the Great Lakes and extending southwards over the lake region and the upper Mississippi valley, is causing cloudy weather over that section and light snowfall at scattered places. Elsewhere over the country the skies are mostly clear. There was a further drop in temperature over the Atlantic Coast states, extending over the mountains of the country and over the Canadian Northwest the temperatures are rising. The weather is still cold, however, with freezing temperatures as far south as the gulf and over Northern Florida. The high pressure area is still stationary over the plateau section, and an offshoot from it is centered over the lower Mississippi Valley states.

River Conditions.

The rivers are falling. The upper rivers are frozen over and break up is reported in the lower rivers. Stage at Franklin is 5.0 feet; Lock No. 7, 17.4; Pittsburgh, 11.8; Dam No. 4, 6.9; Dam No. 6, 7.4; Dam No. 8, 5.0, and Dam No. 11, 4.5. The dams are down, but they will be raised today.

HOOVER TO SHUN FORAN DISPUTE

President Will Refer Charges Of Anti-Saloon League To Prohibition Chief

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—President Hoover will not associate himself with the charges the New Jersey Anti-Saloon League has filed against Col. Arthur F. Foran, comptroller of customs for the port of New York, it was learned from a reliable source today.

Should officials of the league appear at the executive offices to see Mr. Hoover, it was stated, they will be referred to Seymour Lowman, assistant secretary of the treasury in charge of prohibition.

Mr. Hoover believes the matter is purely one for the Treasury Department to handle and is determined to take no action whatsoever except to pass upon that department's recommendation that Foran be reappointed or relieved at the expiration of his term January 31.

CHARGES COLLAPSE

The Anti-Saloon League charges grew out of alleged smuggling of champagne for Herbert L. Pratt, Standard Oil millionaire.

Investigation has convinced high administration officials, however, that Col. Foran and other customs officials were blameless and that the claim that $16,800 penalty should have been imposed upon Pratt is entirely unfounded.

A bitter political liberal-dry fight still stands between Controller Foran and his reappointment for a new term, however. Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Lowman is investigating charges that Foran served liquor and maintained gambling machines, and that he violated the law by serving as a director of transportation companies while holding his federal office.

RAID CAUSES FURORE

Demand for an explanation of alleged unauthorized participation by a federal prohibition agent in a raid on the country lodge of Col. Foran brought the statement that while a government man accompanied state raiders, he was not officially connected with the raid.

Senator Kean (Rep.), of New Jersey, asked Prohibition Commissioner James M. Doran today for a statement. Doran said he did not have a detailed report from Administrator William J. Calhoun, of Newark. He was reliably informed a federal agent did accompany the state men, he said.

When it was learned that there was no liquor in Foran's lodge the federal agent did not enter. It was explained he went along at the request of the state agents to take action in case liquor was found. A report will be made to Kean within a short time.

Doran conferred with the Rev. James K. Shields, of the New Jersey Anti-Saloon League, and the latter filed a number of affidavits and photographs at the White House and with Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Lowman. The photographs were said to have been of bottles and kegs, and, according to officials at the prohibition office, were taken outside of Foran's lodge.

Calhoun said yesterday in Newark that Shields had asked him to participate in the raid, giving him the impression that it was to be made on a speakeasy.

2 DRYS UPHELD IN SHOOTING

DETROIT, Jan. 24.—(INS.)—The two members of the customs border patrol who figured in the shooting of Walter Grund, 27, of Wyandotte, Wednesday night, apparently were within their rights and were seeking to prevent the smuggling of liquor at the time, Ward Culver, chief assistant prosecutor, said today.

Culver said Roy Fountain admitted that he and Grund were smuggling 12 cases of whisky across the river. Grund denied having any such deals with Fountain. The latter is one of the two men who last night gave blood for a transfusion.

Culver's opinion today came on the heels of a demand made at Washington by Congressman Robert M. Clancy, of Michigan, that every customs agent who has figured in "hair trigger shootings" be dismissed at once.

Kaiser's 71st Birthday Monday to Be Quiet

DOORN, Holland, Jan. 24.—(AP.)—The seventy-first birthday anniversary of William II, former German emperor, on Monday, promises to be a quiet one compared with that of a year ago. Then on the occasion of his passing his seventieth milestone there gathered at Doorn the largest aggregation of Hohenzollerns seen together in one place since the fall of the German monarchy.

None of the more distant relatives are expected this year. As usual, former Crown Prince Frederick William has arranged to come. He probably will be accompanied by the former Crown Princess Cecile, as the former Kaiser's second wife, Hermine, and Cecile have patched up their differences.

Of the other children of the former ruler, his only daughter, Princess Victoria Louise, is certain to come with her husband, Duke Ernest August, of Brunswick and Luneburg. It is not yet certain whether all of the other [illegible] of William II, Eitel Friedrich, Adalbert, August Wilhelm and Oscar, can come, but Baron Ulrich Von Sell, personal aide to his majesty, said one or two of them surely would be there.

Death claimed William's only brother, Prince Henry, on April 20, 1929. Prince Henry even a year ago was already so ill that he could not come to his imperial brother's seventieth birthday. Likewise, the Kaiser's oldest sister, Princess Victoria, wife of Alexander Zoubkoff, died in October, 1929. This leaves only one sister, Princess Margarete, who intends to come to Doorn with her husband, the former Landgrave Friedrich Karl of Hessen.

BLONDE, DAGUE BACK TONIGHT

MEETS DAGUE

"I went to work in a restaurant in Wheeling and there, about two years ago, I met Dague. From the first time we met, I knew we were meant for each other. He realized it, too.

"From the very first, he said he loved me. He told me his story. He said he was not in love with his wife, but always he has had a real affection for his children.

"At first I wouldn't have anything to do with him, but he kept after me and after a while I could see no other way. We left home together and have traveled about more or less ever since.

"We both love our children. I could have secured a divorce, but it would have meant giving up Donnie to my husband and I could not think of this. No matter what happens to me, my only hope is that Donnie does not go back to his father."

BACK TONIGHT

The chartered Pullman bearing the two prisoners and a party of Pennsylvania officers is scheduled to reach New Castle tonight. Irene and Dague may be taken from the train before reaching their destination and smuggled into jail by automobile.

Irene has completely recovered from the effects of her collapse Thursday night. She slept late yesterday and ate little, but towards evening she brightened considerably and Dague's worried look gave away to smiles.

Throughout the day and late into last night they sat oblivious to their surroundings, murmuring and snickering into each other's ears, their hands joined by handcuffs were linked together and their lovemaking was very much in the open.

BORROWS MAKEUP

"Honey, your makeup is all off your face," Dague told her.

"Yes, I know it, but I haven't any," she replied. "Won't you get me some?" she asked one of the newspapermen. The necessary articles of toilet were supplied and Irene beamed her happiness.

"I'll do as much for you some say," she said.

DONNIE HIDDEN IN NEW HOME

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Jan. 24.—Donnie Schroeder, juvenile star in the real life drama of the blonde "trigger woman," whose coming to New Castle tonight is awaited with suspense by Lawrence County authorities, is kept under close surveillance.

Late yesterday he was placed in an automobile and taken out of town by J. M. Dunlap, probation officer and custodian of Donnie in the juvenile detention rooms.

Dunlap, officers of the court and District Attorney John S. Powers refused to divulge the child's hiding place.

Donnie, held in default of $10,000 bail as a material witness in the murder of Corp. Brady Paul, is ignorant of the return of his mother, Irene Schroeder, and it was indicated that mother and son would not meet until some time after her arrival, according to Dunlap.

Donnie's leave-taking late yesterday caused a stir among the little inmates of the detention rooms and brought out a great gathering of all the children in the neighborhood who have been his playmates since he was brought here from West Virginia two weeks ago.

"I'm comin' back," said Donnie. "I want to live here all the time. I like it because I get all the bananas I want.

"I like it because they have good apples, too. I want to come back real soon, and when mamma comes home I hope she comes here with me. If she comes here and they still get lots of bananas to eat it will be fine. I have all these kids to play with and they have music and nice warm fires and pictures and everything.

"I will be glad to see mamma when she comes, and I guess she will be along some time and come and visit me. I will ask her to stay—yes, I think she will."

Suspect Admits 'Killer' Burke Alias False

A phoney gunman gave North Side police a thrill today when he furnished a fictional tale in which he was the hero—Fred Burke, the Chicago killer.

Arrested as William Smith, 26, of 1306 Arch street, he said today he narrated the story of gang murders and crimes to get a cab driver in court to face him. He said the driver accused him of trying to steal an automobile.

Police are investigating the man.

WELLS NOT SON, WOMAN SAYS

Mrs. Thomas F. Ackerman, of 3416 Beechwood boulevard, today said she was positive that the Vernon Ackerman, alias Joseph Houston, alias Joseph F. Wells, held in Phoenix (Ariz.) jail was not her son, Vernon, as he had pretended. Her son, she asserted, was killed in the Argonne, in the World War.

Mrs. Ackerman wrote to Sheriff Charles H. Wright, at Phoenix, when she noticed in the newspapers that the man held in jail there had given the same name as her dead son. After learning of the letter and its contents, the prisoner was quoted as saying he was the "long lost" son of the Ackermans here. He had concealed his identity, he said, because of shame.

After examining three photographs of the bandit, arrested with Irene Schroeder and Glenn Dague, Mrs. Ackerman said: "There is no resemblance. This man is not telling the truth."

Vernon Ackerman, her son, was a member of Company D, Three Hundred Nineteenth Infantry. He was wounded by a shell, September 26, 1918, and died several days later in a base hospital. His body was brought home.

KILLINGS LAID TO ARGUMENT

The dual slaying at the wedding feast Wednesday night in Eagles' Hall, West Stockton and Sherman avenues, was not due to racketeer warfare, homicide detectives announced today.

Their preliminary investigation, they said had disclosed that Salvatore Cirlingione, 34, of 1416 Nixon street, was shot to death by Leo Badetto, 29, of 106 East General Robinson street, because Cirlingione had chided Badetto about his cooking at the wedding of Jahn and Angelina Cancellieri, of 1215 Liverpool street. Badetto also was shot dead as he attempted to flee from the dance hall. Who shot Badetto still was a mystery to detectives.

Charles Spallino, 30, of 1215 Pennsylvania avenue, arrested shortly after he was alleged to have left the dance hall, was turned over to the coroner at a hearing in the Central Police Court.

Spallino, known in police circles, was a patient in St. John's Hospital last July when Steve Monastero, alleged bootleg king, was shot down in front of the institution while on his way to visit Spallino.

Badetto, too, had a police record it was revealed. He had been arrested for liquor law violations and discharging firearms, according to detectives.

MEXICO BREAKS WITH RUSSIA

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 24.—(INS.)—To complete the severance of diplomatic relations between this country and Soviet Russia, Dr. Alexander Makar, Soviet minister to Mexico, will be expected by the Mexican government to board the next steamer leaving the country, it was learned today.

The Mexican minister to Moscow is already on the way out of Russia.

In blunt language, a statement given out by the Mexican foreign office declared:

"Mexico knows perfectly well that this propaganda against our institutions has been prepared and directed from Russia. It also knows that Russian Communist groups neither work nor can work independently, since any political organization whatsoever of that country is subject to the Soviet government."

MOSCOW, Jan. 24.—(INS.)—Considerable surprise was expressed by Soviet officials today over news that the Mexican government had severed diplomatic relations with this country.

Soviet officials argued that even if Communist demonstrations had occurred it was not fair to link the Russian government with them.

FOX FILM FIGHT STIRS MARKET

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—(INS.)—Followers of the dramatic battle of finance waged by William Fox, film and theater king, in an effort to keep intact his vast interests, turned today to the New York stock market to watch the movement of Fox stocks.

For yesterday, while in a scene filled with the tenseness of frenzied finance, Federal Judge Coleman signed an order requiring the Fox Film Corporation to show cause Monday why it should not be placed in equity receivership, a battle raged in Wall Street—a battle of millions revolving about the stock of this same company.

All efforts to solve the financial difficulties of the Fox Corporation, whose total listed assets amount to about $75,000,000, without resorting to a receivership, failed at a conference of attorneys in court.

BOYS LECTURED FOR SKATING

Burges Charles Chamberlin, of Dormont, last night lectured then dismissed all on charges of their having attempted to skate on the municipal pool after it had been closed because of thin ice. The burgess' office in the Dormont Municipal Building was crowded with prisoners and interested citizens at the time.

"I told them to make sure that the ice was strong enough for skating and then go to it. Why shouldn't they? I was a boy once myself and I would like to see them have a good time," Burgess Chamberlin said after the hearings.

The youths were rounded up Monday after Street Commissioner Thomas Dolan had declared the pool unsafe and when Capt. of Police Ralph Miller began a roundup of non residents for ignoring the ban.

Eighty-five residents of the village of Decker Chapel who took refuge in the second floor rooms of homes there have not been heard from. Many are reported to be ill from disease and exposure.

Senators and Lobbyist Exchange Wisecracks

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—(AP.)—After asserting that the actions of the Senate Lobby Committee "seemed so useless a proceeding," Arthur L. Faubel, secretary of the American Tariff League, surprised the committee today with the assertion that the Senate should take a subordinate position to the House of Representatives as in the English system of government.

Faubel's criticism grew out of a question whether the league was a lobby organization.

"It is a matter of indifference to us whether we are known as a lobbying organization or not," Faubel said. "This whole to-do and discussion doesn't seem to make very much difference. A rose is a rose by any other name."

"Yes, you and Arnold smell just the same," Chairman Caraway, of the committee, retorted. He was referring to J. A. Arnold, manager of the Southern Tariff Association, whose activities were scathingly criticized in a committee report.

"The English system of government seems to be better because the upper house has a very decidedly secondary place," countered Faubel.

"Why not abolish the Senate then?" Caraway asked.

"Well, why not? Faubel replied.

Senator Blaine (Rep.), Wisconsin, asked if he wanted a king to appoint lords and peers and dukes to the Senate.

"I thought maybe you had ambitions to be a duke," Blaine told him.

"If so, I hope you'll be one, too," Faubel told Blaine.

Faubel testified that a number of delegations from the league had visited members of Congress to protest against the foreign valuation plan for imports.

He added:

"We gave them a treatment."

Asked what he meant by "treatment," he said the delegates were given information and arguments.

"This is what all lobbyists do, isn't it?" Blaine asked.

"Yes and that's what we understood members of Congress are for," Faubel answered.

He said the plan was worked out by Senator Grundy.

Doctor Flies to Sick Girl On Storm-Bound Island

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 24.—(AP.)—Aviation and medicine have joined hands in an effort to save the life of a 9-year-old girl on ice bound Puget Sound, 80 miles west of this city, in the middle of the Columbia River.

Thirty minutes after an appeal was received here last night, Tex Rankin, aviator, and Dr. Ernest Boylen, physician, were roaring through the night in a tiny ski-equipped airplane, the life of June McGilvray, daughter of W. E. McGilvray, Longview (Wash.) policeman, was at stake.

The little plane dropped to a safe landing on the island and the doctor was rushed to the sick girl's bedside. More than 200 residents of the island greeted the tiny plane. They had kept beacon fires burning around the small field to aid its landing.

Storm bound for 12 days, residents of the island had unsuccessfully sought to obtain aid for the girl across the river ice.

The McGilvray girl was said to be suffering from pneumonia.

HUSBAND SLAYS WIFE AND SELF

Farewell notes from Floyd E. Jacobs, 27, were found today several hours after Jacobs had shot and killed his estranged wife and then ended his own life in a field near his home in Universal country detectives reported.

"Just another story of two blondes," Jacobs wrote.

One of the several notes was addressed to his daughter, Phyllis S. He wrote: "God bless you, my darling little Phyllis. Your mother kept you away from me too long. My heart is gone."

The revolver which the wife, Mrs. Marie Jacobs, 23, of Hulton road, Penn township, carried as protection against her husband, failed. Jacobs took his wife to his home last night on the pretext of giving her some of their furniture. In a field near the home he fired two shots. Both were dead in a few minutes, found by Mrs. Jacobs' brother, Charles Kopp, 17, who had accompanied her.

The wife had carried a revolver since threats by her husband, Kopp said.

PILOT CLEARED IN T.A.T. CRASH

OCEANSIDE, Cal., Jan. 24.—(AP.)—Officially exonerated of any possible blame, Basil Russell, T. A. T. pilot whose last turn at the controls of an airplane ended in death for himself and 15 others here last Sunday, lies buried beneath the black soil near the scene of the tragedy.

While fellow birdmen lowered his charred body into the grave only a few miles from the site of the worst airplane disaster in the annals of American commercial aviation, a coroner's jury inquired into the cause of the disaster and held that "No one was responsible for the deaths of the victims." Adverse weather conditions, the jurors decided after hearing 20 witnesses, caused the wreck.

Phila. Church Razed In $250,000 Fire

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 24.—(INS.)—A spectacular three-alarm fire originating from a defective oil burner razed the Gaston Presbyterian Church at Eleventh street and Lehigh avenue, early today and threatened an entire block with destruction before it was under control. The damage amounts to a quarter of a million dollars.

Two firemen were injured by falling timbers and several others were overcome by smoke. Severe cold hampered the fire fighters, water congealing almost as fast as they poured it on the blazing structure.

Jailing of Young Mother in Dry Tragedy Brings Cleanup Demand

Thrown into a filthy cell in a dirty jail as a result of a dry crusader invading her home on the pretext of finding two cases of homebrew, Little "Sue" Brown, of Monterey County, California, became a mother. The baby died and it was 24 hours before the mother was removed to a hospital where her condition is reported serious as a result of shock and neglect.

Winifred Brown, well-known writer, in another article today discloses conditions existing in official circles of Monterey County and makes formal demand for a thorough investigation of such conditions with all the accompanying details of the outrageous treatment accorded Little "Sue" Brown.

By WINIFRED BLACK,
Universal Service.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 24.

So it's all coming out at last—day by day, hour by hour, detail by detail—the whole incredible story of the outrageous treatment of little Sue Brown, and more important even than that the whole infamous, incredible truth concerning the state of affairs in the Monterey County administration of justice.

Talk about the three must get theirs—excuse me—the Three Musketeers; we've all read about them in the book written by the great French novelist.

We've all seen them on the stage and in the pictures—and here they are in real life, right in our beloved state of California and right down in the very heart of one of the most beautiful and well-known counties of that state.

'Three Musketeers'

Sheriff Abott, Special Officer Laughery and District Attorney Warth—what a rollicking, devil-may-care picturesque trio with the whole county of Monterey and every one in it at their mercy.

This place raided—that place protected, this well-known bootlegger never disturbed, and that poor little inoffensive woman who never either bought or sold a drink of any sort whatsoever dragged to prison and left there in her squalid cell to live or die when her hour came—alone.

And how about the justice of the peace—all quite cheerful and agreeable even when somebody is signing warrants and sending them into the judge to execute instead of bringing the witness in to swear out the warrant himself in the presence of the judge as the law provides.

Oh, well, what's a finicky little thing like the law anyhow—laws are made by a lot of old fogeys who are always "protecting" what they call the "inalienable" rights of an American citizen.

Who wants to be bothered with all that fuss and feathers, when you can just sit in your office and make out an affidavit on a typewriter and sign it yourself or get some obliging friend who doesn't know a thing about the case to sign it, and there you are with your warrant in your hand all ready to break in the front door of somebody's house at any time of the night you may choose.

Brave Officers

If the man of the house happens to be away working to make a little extra money for the sake of the new baby that is expected—why so much the better.

What does a woman out on a lonesome farm know about affidavits and warrants and her rights as an American citizen.

A sheriff is a sheriff, isn't he, and a special officer is a special officer. Who is a little frightened woman that she should dare stand up in her own home and demand the protection the law is supposed to give.

Maybe District Attorney Warth didn't know about the tricky little ways that makes Sheriff Abbott and his friend Special Officer Laughery so powerful and so interesting.

Well, now here's a chance for Mr. Warth to show just exactly how he feels about it.

We've just heard a little bit about conditions in Monterey County in the last day or two Mr. Warth. What a relief it would be if you would set the machinery of your office to work and turn in and clean up the whole sickening mess.

That's one of the things a district attorney is for, isn't it?

And if District Attorney Warth is too busy or too loathe to hurt the feelings of his friend Sheriff Abbott to stir up this business as it should be stirred, why then let's look to Attorney General Webb of San Francisco.

Somebody will have to take a broom and a mop and a vacuum cleaner and go down into Monterey County and clean it up—the whole State is watching—the whole State is aroused.

Public Aroused

Letters and telegrams and telephone calls are pouring into the Examiner office from Siskiyou to San Diego, rich people and poor people, lawyers, judges, men and women in every walk of life, they all want to know all there is to know about this terrifying subornation of the law, whereby well known evil doers are protected and innocent law-abiding citizens stand in constant danger of outrage.

Let's find out all about it, Mr. Webb, Attorney General of California.

Let's find out who signed that affidavit in the Sue Brown case.

Let's find out just how well Judge Baugh knew that particular witness, where had he seen him before—there are such things as handwriting experts, Mr. Attorney General.

Why not put one of them on this case and let him look up that signature of the mysterious "Henry Miller" and compare it with the writing of names signed in different capacity, on different legal documents executed in the county of Monterey.

Let's hear more about the "protected" bootleggers, how much did they pay for protection and to who did their money go.

But first, last and all the time the men and women of this state want to know why little Sue Brown was left alone in her cell on the night of her agony.

Her condition was known to the Sheriff and to Laugherty, the special officer who dragged her to that foul cell in that pest hole of a jail.

Where was the matron of that jail when Sue Brown was beating upon the walls of her cell in her agony.

And when the matron did arrive at 8 o'clock in the morning and found little Sue Brown still in mortal agony, and a weakness close to death—why was it two hours before the ambulance came to take her to the hospital for decent care?

Inquiry Demanded

Ask the kindly nurse at that hospital what Sue Brown's real condition was when she was brought to the hospital 24 hours after she should have been taken there.

Ask the sheriff why nobody notified honest Art Brown that his young wife had been taken to the hospital.

We want to know all about these things. Attorney General Webb, we the people of California and wouldn't it be a good idea to look well into the affairs of some of the other counties in the state too.

Let's see just exactly how this law that many good and honest people believe is good and honest—is working out, not in theory but in actual practical every day practice.

There is something more at stake than the good name of a few county officials.

Justice and liberty and the desire of every true American citizen to uphold the law when that law is righteously administered—these things are all at stake, District Attorney Warth and Attorney General Webb.

The good name of the State of California is involved, and we look to you gentlemen to clear that name.

We don't want to be forced to appeal to the Federal Government for relief from these unbearable conditions.

We don't want the stone lions of Venice set up on the doorstep of any courthouse in the State of California.

And the plain, every-day people of the State of California look to YOU, District Attorney Warth, of Monterey County, and to you, Attorney General Webb, to clear up this whole astounding situation.

Don't let us look too long.

PORTER OPENS FIGHT ON DOPE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—The Legislative fight to save thousands of Americans, including young boys and girls, from the ravages of dope has been started.

Representative Porter (Rep.) of Pennsylvania, chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, introduced two bills which, after weeks of study and investigation, he believes will plug the loopholes by which staggering amounts of narcotics are diverted to illegal uses.

The legislation would create a commissioner of narcotics with broad powers to reorganize and strengthen the whole federal system of narcotic enforcement, and would provide more vigorous means to break up dope smuggling at the ports and along the borders, would charge a board of medical men with the duty of keeping opium imports to the barest minimum required for medical and scientific purposes and would require all physicians and other legal dealers in narcotics to have a federal license. The government would have the authority to deny, suspend or revoke the license of any person who is an addict or has been convicted of a narcotic offense.

PROVES ALIBI IN SIMMONS DEATH

The murder of Ernest F. Simmons, 38, of 211 Hailman street, which occurred January 1 in front of 6411 Aurelia street, still was far from solution today as the result of an alibi proved by Stephano Boscorino, 28, rear of 1313 Webster avenue, to the homicide squad.

Simmons was baggage master at the Pittsburgh Pennsylvania Railroad station. Boscorino was an employe who was discharged the day Simmons was murdered.

Wanted as a suspect in connection with the slaying, Boscorino walked into headquarters of the homicide squad on January 15 and surrendered. He submitted to questioning and was held on a suspicious person charge. Then he proved a perfect alibi, police said.

On arraignment today before Magistrate Leo Rothenberg, in Central Police Court, Boscorino was discharged.

MRS. O'BRIEN, FREED, RESTS

CHICAGO, Jan. 24.—(INS.)—Acquitted of having participated with Samuel Howard Dorr, her alleged sweetheart, in the murder of her husband, Mrs. Genevieve O'Brien today was resting from the rigors of her trial at the home of her father here.

The jury deliberated for 3 hours and 25 minutes before its members agreed on a verdict of "not guilty" last night. Five ballots were taken.

Weakened by the ordeal of her long incarceration and the strain of her trial, the young widow, an expectant mother, swayed as though she were about to faint when the verdict was read. Then she seemed to recover enough to sob her gratitude to the jurymen.

William O'Brien was fatally shot on the morning of November 20 when he surprised Dorr in his wife's room.

Furniture Store Damaged by Fire

The basement of the Hahn Furniture Company store at Broad street and Frankstown avenue was damaged this morning by fire that burned its way through into the show room of the building. Battalion Chief Fred S. Beckett estimated the damage at $5,000. The stock, however, was not damaged and the store was open as usual today.

The fire is believed to have originated near a gas furnace in the basement and to have burned its way up to the rear of the street floor. A sprinkler system was set off and it attracted the attention of Patrolman Harvey Conners, who sounded the alarm.

Bomb Blasts Wreck 2 Chicago Agencies

CHICAGO, Jan. 24.—(AP.)—Two West Side handbill distribution agencies were wrecked last night by bombs that exploded within a few minutes of each other. The explosions were so violent that the detonations were heard on the North Side.

AUTO LEADERS VISIT SHOW HERE

Motor Square Garden Still Drawing Record Crowds as Exhibition Nears Close

By H. W. DIETRICH

The attendance of the public and the motor car manufacturers' executives at the automobile show in Motor Square Garden this week, continues to set new records. The hours of the show, which is being sponsored by the Pittsburgh Automobile Dealers Association under the direction of W. N. Owings, secretary, are from 1 to 11 p. m. It will be brought to a close tomorrow.

Among the motor car executives who will be present at the display today will be C. W. Nash of the Nash Motors Company and Thomas E. Jarrard, general sales director of the Marmon Motor Car Company. These men also will address gatherings of dealers from Western Pennsylvania and adjoining states. Mr. Nash will be the guest of George P. Gray, president of the Nash-Pittsburgh Motor Company, and will be the speaker at a luncheon-meeting in the William Penn Hotel. Mr. Jarrard will speak at a luncheon-meeting at the Walker-Moore Inn, Collins avenue and Broad street, with H. H. Blumenthal, president of the Marmon Company of Pittsburgh, as host.

DeSoto dealers in the Pittsburgh district yesterday heard LeRoy G. Peed, sales manager for DeSoto, say the reception accorded the new DeSoto Eight on its introduction recently was the greatest in his 20 years experience in the industry. Mr. Peed spoke at a luncheon given by Kilroy Motors, Inc., local distributors for the DeSoto Eight and Six, and also attended the show. He told the dealers the company's plans for 1930 are most ambitious.

and that while no doubt production would be under the 1929 total, business would be on a more stable basis.

N. E. McDarby, director of sales of the Auburn Automobile Company, Auburn, Ind., attended the show yesterday as the guest of J. A. O'Malley, president of the Pittsburgh-Auburn Company. Mr. McDarby is making a tour of the principal automobile shows throughout the country, having already visited the exhibits in New York, Brooklyn, Philadelphia, Buffalo, Boston, Hartford and Detroit. He stated that at each of the shows he has visited with two exceptions, the attendance has exceeded that of last year.

Orders for 137 Cord front-wheel drive and Auburn automobiles had been booked at the New York show, and orders for 33 of these cars had been taken during the first three days of the Brooklyn show, Mr. McDarby said. "Show visitors this year are examining the cars more closely to determine their different values and uses and reports received by the factory from dealers say that from two to three times as many orders for spring delivery are being booked as was the case a year ago, indicating a healthy future for the industry."

He will leave here today for the Chicago Automobile Show, and later will go to San Francisco.

NASH SEES 1930 TRADE THRIVE

Declaring that the general tone of the country's business is improving daily, Charles W. Nash, president of the Nash Motors Corporation visiting Pittsburgh today, anticipates a good year for all American industries. At the same time he asserted that a manufacturer's best asset is in a loyal sales organization, and while here he praised the enterprise of George P. Gray, his Western Pennsylvania distributor, and his associates.

"It's useless for American business men to hide their heads in the sand," said Mr. Nash, "but it must be admitted now that we began 1930 with pessimistic views that were largely mental. A good many people actualy lost money when the bubble burst last October, but a still greater number of folks just thought that they had suffered losses. Talk of 'hard times' begets a feeling of depression and too much shouting of phenomenal business growth on the other hand creates doubt. The truth of conditions is that we are forging ahead on a healthy in-between situation that is improving each day.

"Fundamentally the business of the country never was any better. Crops are obtaining good prices, live stock still holds up and I never paid more for steel than I am just now. We are not going to turn out as many cars in 1930 but we know that there is to be a healthy demand and in meeting this supply we will kep our factories running."

WHIPPET PRICE REDUCED

Several announcements of interest were made at the show yesterday. In one of these the Rea-Seagert Company, Willys-Overland representative in this district, announced that prices on the Whippet Four sedan had been reduced to $385, at the factory. The new list makes the car the lowest priced of all four-door sedans.

Another announcement stated that Whitehall and Danforth, Inc., had been organized to distribute the new Westinghouse Electric refrigerator in Allegheny County. The new refrigerator is now being shown for the first time anywhere on the sub-floor of Motor Square Garden at the booth of I. W. Danforth, Inc. The new product has attracted as much attention among the show visitors as the most novel of accessory displays. The company will be headed by Elmer Whitehill, who for many years was one of the most prominent figures in the automotive industry here, and I. W. Danforth, a prominent automotive accessory dealer and a director of the Dealers' Association.

Damaged Auto Parts Exhibited at Show

It has been a long time since exhibitors at an automobile show intentionally damaged parts of the regular jobs on display to prove their worth. But such things are being done at many of the booths this year. Others are featuring colors, design and mechanical excellence. Nash, Packard, Hupmobile, Buick, Marquette, Hudson, Essex, Dodge, De Soto, Oakland and Pontiac are among those with interesting stories to tell.

Reo Truck Manager Speaks to Dealers

At a dealer meeting conducted by the R. E. Loughney Motor Company, local Reo distributor, in the Rittenhouse yesterday, W. C. Parker, manager of the truck division, Reo Motor Car Company, was the principal speaker. The various products by Reo and the program for 1930 were discussed by the more than 65 dealers and executives.

Man Indicted Over New Year's Stabbing

SHARON, Pa., Jan. 24.—(AP.)—Frank Pantelo was indicted by the grand jury on a charge of murdering Bruno Cangine at No. 5 mine on New Year's Eve, by stabbing. The grand jury returned true bills against 47 others, most of the cases involving the national prohibition act.

"An Eight Cylinder Car and a Four Cylinder Home"

They're proud of their car, this family. It's big and smart and powerful . . . it runs on eight cylinders. Their home, however, has to plod along as best it can. Too bad! Many who would have nothing less than 1930 model cars are living in 1910 model homes. The—

February Furniture Sale

—is championing the idea, "First Furnish Your Home" . . offering incentives to all, particularly to people in moderate circumstances, to place their homes even before their cars in the relationship of things that make for happiness . . . showing how much more real worth while enjoyment one will get out of life if the home is given as much thought and attention as are some of the lesser factors in life.

The February Sale offers you the choice of almost endless assortments on one entire floor in two buildings, including an excellent collection of moderately priced suites and separate pieces — and substantially lower prices on a large part of the stock, as well as convenient terms of payment.

Adorable Junior Ensemble

Pattern 1831

Sun Telegraph 15c Practical Pattern

By ANNE ADAMS

Isn't this rig delightful for younsters? The ensemble idea has been borrowed from the grown-up mode and cleverly made in wool and cotton print. The frock has short sleeves, two inverted skirt pleats afford grace and freedom, tiny pearl buttons adorn the neck trim. The coat may be lined or not, just as you wish.

Design 1831 uses kasha, serge or jersey for the coat and printed cotton broadcloth, percale or pique for the frock and lining.

This pattern may be obtained only in sizes 4, 6, 8 and 10. Size 4 requires 1⅛ yards of 54 inch material for the coat. The dress needs 1⅛ yards and the lining 1⅞ yards of 39 inch fabric.

No dressmaking experience is necessary to make this model. The pattern has ample and exact instructions. Yardage is given for every size. A perfect fit is guaranteed.

Patterns will be delivered upon receipt of FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins carefully wrapped or stamps. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, STYLE NUMBER and SIZE wanted.

The NEW WINTER FASHION BOOK is FIFTEEN CENTS, but only TEN CENTS when ordered with a pattern. Address all mail and orders to Sun-Telegraph Pattern Department, 243 West Seventeenth street, New York City.

48 PIANOS LOANED

FREE

Forty-eight Pianos (Grands, Players and Uprights, both new and used instruments), will be placed in homes of Pittsburgh and vicinity and they may be used until we need them—which will be an indefinite time. We have discontinued a number of our branch stores and these instruments are arriving from our Wheeling, Steubenville, East Liverpool and Dover agencies. We are placing these Pianos in our "Frederick Annex," located at 915 Liberty Ave. Instead of storing these pianos in unheated warehouses where lack of care may cause us a great loss, we are ready to take the loss now, and have slaughtered prices so that if you have ever thought of buying a piano—now is the time. All pianos not sold outright will be placed in the homes of families who are interested in owning a piano in the immediate future, and for the valuable advertising we will receive by having good families use them. We reserve the right to select the homes in which these pianos are to be placed.

Positively No Charge for Anything

No cartage, no rent or any expense whatever. You must call at the store to make your selection. There are no strings to this offer, which comes but once in a lifetime.

Vandergrift Loss By Fire $85,000

VANDERGRIFT, Jan. 24.—Members of the George G. McMurtry Volunteer Fire Department here spent 3,000 hours an average of 6½ hours per man last year fighting fires, caring for equipment and attending drill according to the report made by Claude Dunmire, retiring chief.

The number of alarms, 16, was the lowest in many years, but the damage, $85,045, highest in 10 years. A garage fire accounted for more than $75,000 loss.

2 Escape As Plane Plunges Into River

CINCINNATI, Jan. 24.—(AP)—Two men escaped serious injury here when an air mail plane fell into the Ohio river and submerged.

Bob Dawson, pilot, and Don Biverding, mechanic, were in the plane when the motor failed as they were returning from a short test hop. The craft dropped 10 feet into the water, cracking a pontoon. The men were taken off before the plane went under and suffered only minor lacerations. The plane will be recovered. It is to Pittsburgh.

Bail Revoked in Rum Charge, Woman Held

BEAVER, Pa., Jan. 24.—When her bond of $2,000 was cancelled by Barney Silverman of Midland, Miss Mary Whalen, 28, 105 St. Clair street, Pittsburgh, was committed to the county jail here.

Miss Whalen was arrested in West Bridgewater by state highway patrolmen December 15 when they reported finding 336 pints of Canadian whiskey in her automobile, which they said she was transporting from Cleveland, O., to Pittsburgh.

Man Uses Dynamite Blast to End Life

RENO, Nev., Jan. 24.—(AP)—Placing a stick of dynamite on top of his head, Charles Blake, 50, miner and prospector, stood in the center of his hotel room here, touched off the fuse and ended his life. The concussion shook buildings a block away and called out the police and fire departments. Blake had considerable money and the motive for the suicide is unknown.

This cooperative effort has produced... a piano guarantee ...of real value

COOPERATIVE GUARANTEE

WE, The Aeolian Company, manufacturers of piano Number ____ and the undersigned sellers jointly guarantee said piano for the period of five years from date. Any defects in material or workmanship appearing within that time will be repaired, or the piano replaced with a new one of like grade, without cost, upon its return to the undersigned.

How thankful she will be in future years for these early lessons

WE have told you fully in three previous ads about this co-operative or association plan of selling pianos. We have told you of the value of the pianos that are being sold on this plan. We have told you of the great Company that makes these Pianos and stands solidly back of them. Wednesday Mr. Hamilton, Manager of our Company told you in a personal word how much he valued this plan and of his high opinion of the pianos.

Now, today, we tell you of the guarantee which has been put upon these instruments as a result of this association idea.

12.50 Monthly

The initial payment necessary to obtain one of these pianos is $25. The $25 is deducted from the price—leaving $410 to be paid at $12.50 a month, with no further payment except a small carrying charge.

For a house of the Aeolian Company's standing to produce an instrument at this price is in itself the strongest guarantee you could have. Just as a low-priced car built by General Motors or Packard would have to come up to the high standards established by its maker—this Grand piano MUST be worthy of the name under which it is manufactured.

But, in addition, you get a written guarantee, as printed above. Read it—and judge for yourself. In our opinion, it is the strongest guarantee ever placed upon a piece of merchandise anywhere or at any time.

An Aeolian-built Piano $435

Let us sum up this whole proposition. You get a fine durable piano made by one of the world's leading manufacturers for $435.

You pay twenty-five dollars when you select your piano, and you are allowed thirty-four months to pay the balance. You can take the full time or not, just as you wish. This except for a small carrying charge is all the payment to be made of any kind.

Besides this you get the protection of the guarantee above mentioned—protecting you absolutely for five years.

What more can be given? What more can be wished? Can you suggest any further privileges or conditions that would be of advantage to you?

This, then, is the cooperative plan in brief. It is a you-help-me-and-I-will-help-you-and-everybody-pull-together idea.

POINTS OF ADVANTAGE IN THIS COOPERATIVE PLAN

1...The Aeolian Company, the makers of this fine Grand piano, have heretofore never manufactured a Grand piano to retail at less than $645.

2...Instead of paying $50 to $100 as a first payment, and $20, $30, or $50 a month as you will in the regular way, during this cooperative sale you pay but $25 to join in this cooperative movement and then but $12.50 a month, plus a small carrying charge.

3...You get the strongest guarantee ever put on a piano; a joint guarantee signed by the manufacturers—The Aeolian Company—and ourselves, giving you protection for five years that is as safe as a government bond.

4...So confident are we as to the value of these instruments that within one year from the day you get your piano through this cooperative plan, you may exchange it for any of the celebrated makes of instruments we handle without so much as a penny's loss.

5...All payments remaining unpaid are voluntarily cancelled in the event of your death—thus leaving the piano free of encumbrance to your family.

6...You are given opportunity to secure others to cooperate in this plan. This still further reduces the cost of your instrument.

CHARGES FRAUD OVER RING

CHARLEROI, Pa., Jan. 24.—William Kelly, 37, of 513½ McNair street, Wilkinsburg, was committed to Washington County jail in default of $300 bail on a charge of accepting a diamond ring under false pretense. Kelly implicated William Moss, of Washington, Pa.

Representing themselves as hauling contractors, it is said, they signed truck drivers here for jobs in Akron, O., and from each applicant collected $20 as bond to appear for work.

Bud Maloy, 21, of Lock Four, says he gave Kelly a $50 diamond ring as his security. He then asked police to investigate and the arrest followed. Moss is missing.

Finds Her Husband Dying From Bullet

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Jan. 24.—Attracted by calls for help from an upstairs room, Mrs. Arthur Burchinal found her husband dying on his bed from a wound in his left side. A revolver found nearby indicated suicide. Burchinal was 38.

The young man, who was the son of Dr. L. N. Burchinal, of Point Marion, is believed to have been worried over the business at his news stand and confectionery store in Point Marion.

Arrest Man Here In Theft of Auto

GREENSBURG, Pa., Jan. 24.—Captured in Mt. Washington, Pittsburgh, with an auto alleged to have been stolen from W. A. Brown, of Greensburg, James Bridge, 22, of South Greensburg, has been returned here by state police.

Grace Moore, Singer, Gets Talkie Contract

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—(INS.)—Grace Moore, of Tennessee, Metropolitan Opera soprano, has been placed under contract for the talking and singing moving pictures by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, it was announced.

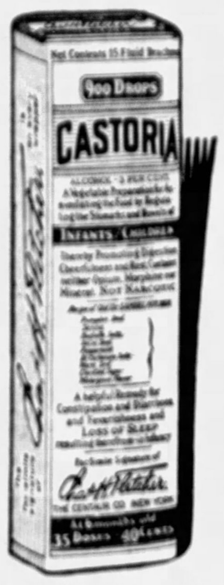
Miss Moore was formerly a choir girl in the Tennessee mountains. She made her first public appearance in Washington and made her debut at the Metropolitan in "La Boheme" in 1928.

Shot During Robbery Youth Is Near Death

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Jan. 24.—Shot when he and a companion were believed to be robbing a restaurant, Charles Molchan, 19, is in a critical condition at Memorial Hospital. He was shot three times.

Sam Peuracha, proprietor, who shot the Molchan youth, was released after questioning. Molchan's companion, Michael Krupnak, 17, is being detained by the police on a technical charge.

An Ailing CHILD



Are you prepared to render first aid and quick comfort the moment your youngster has an upset of any sort? Could you do the right thing—immediately—though the emergency came without warning—perhaps tonight? Castoria is a mother's standby at such times. There is nothing like it in emergencies, and nothing better for everyday use. For a sudden attack of colic, or the gentle relief of constipation; to allay a feverish condition, or to soothe a fretful baby that can't sleep. This pure vegetable preparation is always ready to ease an ailing youngster. It is just as harmless as the recipe on the wrapper reads. If you see Chas. H. Fletcher's signature, it is genuine Castoria. It is harmless to the smallest infant; doctors will tell you so.

You can tell from the recipe on the wrapper how mild it is, and how good for little systems. But continue with Castoria until a child is grown.

BEAUTY DOCTOR CONVICTED

CHICAGO, Jan. 24.—(AP)—Dr. Henry J. Schireson, who has had widely-known theatrical stars as his plastic surgery patients, was convicted by the State Medical Committee of fraud, conduct unbecoming a physician and gross malpractice. The committee unanimously recommended that his license to practice medicine in Illinois be revoked.

Every charge in the proceedings brought by Assistant Attorney General Harry A. Ash at the direction of Attorney General Oscar Carlstrom was sustained by the committee. The verdict is yet to be passed upon by Michael F. Walsh, director of the State Department of Registration and Education.

The committee found Dr. Schireson wholly responsible for the case of Miss Sadye Holland, both of whose legs were amputated after an operation for bow legs. It was also held that Schireson obtained his license by fraud and misrepresentation.

Among patients listed by Schireson were Fanny Brice, Sophie Tucker, "Peaches" Browning and Truly Shattuck.

MUSIC

GERMAN OPERA COMPANY

SYRIA MOSQUE

The German Opera Company gave its performance of Richard Wagner's epic music drama "Die Goetterdaemmrung" ("The Dusk of the Gods") in Syria Mosque last night and achieved artistic heights that we hardly believed possible since the passing of that grand coterie of singers who used to come to us with the Metropolitan Opera. This opera is symphonically the finest in all operatic repertory, and those who came to hear "Siegfried's Rhine Journey," or that majestic "Funeral March" will cherish the memory of this music for many a day.

J. Fred Linsfelt

The orchestra, with Ernst Mehlich conducting, again brought forth unsuspected results. Mehlich reads a smoother line into his playing than Knoch, but he is less cautious of the singing voices. Generous cuts were made in the score, the entire Norn scene being omitted. But when the curtain rose on the Walkyrie Rock, and disclosed Johanna Gadski as Brunnhilde, we felt secure as to the outcome of the music.

This singer gave a phenomenal performance. And may those who heard her remember that they heard the last of the old guard, who took their cues almost from the mouth of Wagner. To begin with, her entire demeanor belongs to the great traditions.

Gadski acts with the freedom that comes from perfect knowledge of her role, and that never depends on the prompter's voice nor the director's baton. Vocally she was incredibly fine, and sang many a caressing phrase that brought a tear. Already, in the struggle with Siegfried, when she swears the oath upon the spear, and finally in the immolation scene and farewell to her horse, Grane, she rose to dramatic heights that were worthy of the greatest actresses.

We seldom get so impressive a characterization nor so intimately studied a figure as Carl Braun's Hagen. It is the epitome of baseness and treachery, flawless in its truth to detail, and magnificent when he mounts the rocks to call together the vassals. Wener Kius had a few important lines as Alberich.

Rudolph Ritter's Siegfried fortunately had youth, but his encounter with the Rhinemaidens was anti-climactic. He was more successful in the hunting scene, and when he related his meeting with the forest bird, he was singing his best. The Gibichung race are frequently represented as a mealy-mouthed lot, but last night they were dignified, worthy companions of the gods. Franz Egenieff's Gunther is a more virile portrayal than we have seen, and Merran Reader's Gutrune was marked for its excellent singing.

Helena Lanvin sang the Waltraute, one of the most appealing roles in the entire Ring, but her voice was hardly adequate against the surge of the orchestra. The Rhinemaidens improved as they sang. We cannot remember having heard a better chorus of men than the Gibichung vassals and trust if we are fortunate enough to hear this company next season, that they will be included in the opera chosen.

These two operas have been an orgy of magnificent sound. May they prosper and return to us often.

J. FRED LISSFELT

WHERE STYLE AND ECONOMY MEET

HOOVER FETES JUSTICES

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24—(AP.)—Only six members of the Supreme Court of the United States attended the judiciary dinner given at the White House last night by President and Mrs. Hoover.

The absence from the city of Chief Justice Taft, who is in Asheville, N. C., for his health, and the established practice of Justice Oliver Holmes not to go out at night because of his advanced age, reduced the list of the men receiving the annual compliment.

Justices Van Devanter, M'Reynolds, Sutherland, Butler, Sanford and Stone attended, the last four accompanied by their wives. The guest list included Attorney General and Mrs. Mitchell, Senators Gillett and Overman of the Judiciary Committee, and their wives; Representatives Graham and Sumners, chairman and ranking members of the House Judiciary Committee; the Solicitor General and Mrs. Hughes; the Assistant to the Attorney General and Mrs. John Lord O'Brian; Mr. and Mrs. George W. Wickersham; Mr. and Mrs. John Foster Dulles, of New York, and Mr. and Mrs. John Richardson, and Jeremiah Smith, Jr., of Boston.

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Jan. 24.—Reading tests given University of Pittsburgh students revealed that many had the reading ability of only sixth or seventh grade school pupils, Grover H. Alderman, dean of the school of education, said in an address before the Greene-Washington County School Men's Club, composed of supervisory officials of public schools in the two counties. The trouble was remedied by special classes.

Indigestion

Immediate Relief!

What most people call indigestion is usually excess acid in the stomach. The food has soured. The instant remedy is an alkali, which neutralizes acids. But don't use crude helps. Use what your doctor would advise.

The best help is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. For the 50 years since its invention it has remained standard with physicians. You will find nothing else so quick in its effect, so harmless, so efficient.

One tasteless spoonful in water neutralizes many times its volume in acid. The results are immediate, with no bad after-effects. Once you learn this fact, you will never deal with excess acid in the crude ways. Go learn—now—why this method is supreme.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any druggist.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade-Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor, Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

DONOHOE CLUE LINKS ALLUM

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Jan. 24.—(AP)—Further piecing together of the fragments of testimony intended to solve the mystery of the slaying of John Donohoe, former constable, last July 31, brought out testimony at a coroner's inquest here that Donohoe was seen an hour and a half before his body was found in company with a man identified by the witness as Glen Allum.

Constable George Zemo said he saw the two men in an automobile in Republic and was certain they were Donohoe and Allum. The latter now is serving a sentence in the Allegheny County workhouse for transporting liquor.

Another development of the third session of the inquest was testimony by Edward McShane, bank cashier, and others, that they had received threatening letters following the slaying of Donohoe warning them to discontinue their part in the investigation.

HELD IN SLAYING OF DRY RAIDERS

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Jan. 24.—(AP.)—A coroner's jury last night held that George W. Moore, alleged bootlegger, murdered two Federal prohibition agents, killed last Saturday when they attempted to search the Moore home for liquor.

Immediately after the verdict of the jury, which stated that Robert K. Moncure and F. R. Patterson died from gunshot wounds "inflicted by George W. Moore in an act of murder," Justice T. M. Rickart announced he would issue a warrant holding Moore for the grand jury.

The defense bitterly contested the case throughout the inquest, bringing witness after witness in an attempt to prove that the agents had attempted an illegal search after nightfall with daytime warrants.

Witnesses, including Mrs. Moore and her 14-year-old daughter, Ollie, testified that the agents did not ring the door bell of the residence before attempting entry and that the raid was made after dark.

On the other hand, James S. Kugler and W. M. McNulty, two agents who survived the raid, declared it was still daylight when they attempted the search and that Moncure first showed the search warrant to Moore before asking him to open the door.

The agents said the raiding party left headquarters at 5:50 p. m., for the Moore place and that it was still daylight when they got there. Gus Jordahn, a defense witness, was introduced to read from a government book that official sunset on the day of the slayings was at 5:32 p. m. Three other witnesses for the defense testified that darkness had fallen when the raid and shooting occurred.

The search warrant, stained with the blood of Moncure, was examined by the jury and found to be a day-time warrant.

Mildred Hunt to Return To Radio Tonight

By DARRELL V. MARTIN, Sun-Telegraph Radio Editor.

BROADCASTING BROADWAY, with Mildred Hunt the featured star, will have its premiere over the WEAF network at 9:30 tonight. Miss Hunt, familiarly known as the "Sweetheart of the Air," has returned to New York after a three-month vaudeville engagement.

The great love of James Madison for Dolly Payne Todd will be revealed in the 8:45 sketch over KDKA.

Mildred Hunt

Jessica Dragonette, soprano, has a nice repertoire for the Cities Service concert, WCAE at 8. She will do "Carme" and "Can It Be Love at Last?" as solos. With Leo O'Rourke, tenor, she will be heard in a duet of "The Love Nest" from "Mary."

WHY THEY DON'T

Calling our attention to the versatility of Amos and Andy, a gentle reader of Wilkinsburg wants to know why they never imitate Madame Queen or Battleaxe. This assignment would go to Amos who has the tenor voice, only Amos tried it two years ago when the team was known as Sam 'n' Henry at WGN.

They had Sam's wife visit them from Louisiana but the feminine impersonation was not so good, fans said, and Sam's wife was shipped back to Louisiana to pick cotton. She's still picking cotton.

Mrs. G. L. Grossman wants to know when she can hear Bill Farren, the boy who is cutting capers in the Radio Roll. Farren has the Gainaday program on Sunday night, the Far North relief with Louis Kaufman on Saturday night, the Jamesway Barn Warming on Wednesday and a relief assignment on Apex Travelers.

Herbert Long, Dormont, wants the identity of The Two Black Coals at WCAE. They are Charles Kay and Thomas Pillion, former vaudeville men. Between them they can impersonate 11 characters.

TODAY'S TID BIT.

Marquis Chisholm, Kay Dee continuity man, has Studio A looking like a toy room with his many noisemaking devices, the latest of which is a pop gun. Chisholm is an old theatrical man. He is credited with having made the first movie in this territory, a two-reel thriller filmed on the shore of Lake Erie.

Good Judgment, my boy!—

—I was wondering how you could afford to buy such good-looking clothes season after season. They're Fintex, you say? Think I'll take a look at them myself. I never knew one could get clothes like that for twenty-three fifty!"

"Glad you like this suit, Mr. Allen. I'm quite proud of it myself. Been wearing it for months and it's every bit as smart now as the day I bought it!"

Fintex brings you the smartness well-dressed men seek, the high quality better dressers always demand—a clothing character that is possible at $23.50 only because of the planning and power of a great organization with its own factory and stores.

White House Fire.

Dolly Payne Todd was a beautiful widow of 26 years when James Madison first met her. The distinguished representative from Virginia soon openly declared himself a suitor for her hand. Dolly, however, was undecided as to whether she wished to marry this staid bachelor and all Philadelphia was interested in the outcome of the romance. After their wedding and after James Madison had been elected President of the United States came the most dramatic moment in Dolly Madison's eventful life. It was during the War of 1812 when British troops set fire to the Executive Mansion. In the absence of her husband, Dolly remained in the burning building until the end and saved many of the nation's most priceless papers and possessions.

Guests at Party.

The two sweethearts are entertained at a tea party. Among the guests is Minnie, the courageous daughter of a widowed mother, and it is her story that is told Mary and Bob during the broadcast. It is the account of the girl's struggle to support her mother, and the utter simplicity of the narrative only adds to the dramatic realism of the situation Maudie had to face, a situation which proved the test of a real man. The girl had suddenly discovered that she and her mother were destitute and in ill health herself she had been unable to secure work. On the evening when the bread necessary for their daily existence had failed, the girl had gone out into the night and had returned with the necessary funds. Her mother suspected her fears a recent fall months ago, when the man who had given her the money appeared.

Again?
A day that might have meant so much—and she has to be excused. What a pity there's a woman left who does not know of Midol! One or two tablets in time, and not a twinge of pain throughout the periodic process. Or an end to such suffering at any time, five to seven minutes after Midol is taken. Yet this merciful medicine is non-narcotic. Its wonderful results are due to the fact it acts directly on the organs affected; so it's utterly harmless, and it is only common sense to use it. Midol comes in a clever little case of metal you can slip in the smallest purse. And the cost of this comfort is fifty cents.*

*Midol's comfort is not confined to any certain days or age. It relieves at any time of life. Its ease is felt immediately in cases of nervous headache, backache, cramping, hot flashes and all febrile pain peculiar to women.

DAVIS DENIES JOB SLUMP

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—(AP)—Secretary Davis has charged that the employment situation was being dragged into politics and came to the support of President Hoover with statistics to show that "there is no disputing the fact that there was a very appreciable trend upward on January 6 in employment."

The Labor Secretary issued his statement as a result of a challenge by Miss Frances Perkins, New York State industrial commissioner, of President Hoover's announcement Tuesday that "the tide of employment all over the country has changed in the right direction."

"There is no disputing the fact that the month of November and the month of December were the worst we have had in years," the Secretary said. "Neither is there any disputing the fact that there was a very appreciable trend upward on January 6 as compared with December 30. Iron and steel went up 11.1 per cent; automobiles went up 3.6 per cent; automobile tires went up 14.7 per cent, and all industries went up 3.4 per cent, and this was based upon returns from 7,564 manufacturing establishments."

The increase was not uniform throughout the country, Mr. Davis said, and added that, while it may not have been true of each individual state, it was true of each of the 12 recognized geographic divisions of the country.

"Not only that," he continued, "but a preliminary report comparing January 13 with January 6 shows that the automobile industry was still gaining on the thirteenth as compared with the sixth by 3.5 per cent, which for a gain in one week is not inconsiderable."

New England was reported as showing an increase of .3 per cent on January 6; the Middle Atlantic States, .8 per cent; East North Central, 3.7 per cent; West North Central, 5.6 per cent; South Atlantic, 13.7 per cent; East South Central, 9.2 per cent; West South Central, 2.2 per cent; Mountain States, 4.4 per cent, and Pacific Coast, 2.6 per cent, while all divisions showed an increase of 3.4 per cent.

"Whatever the situation may be in New York," the Secretary said, "the fact remains, as stated by the President and myself, that January 6 showed the first tangible evidence of returning employment."

STOMACH UPSET

Get at the real cause. That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets help arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, people rarely suffer from indigestion and stomach troubles.

Have you a bad taste, coated tongue, poor appetite, a lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, trouble with undigested foods? Try Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound. Know them by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain. All druggists, 15c, 30c and 60c.

Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief. Eat what you like.

IF YOU HAD A NECK AS LONG AS THIS FELLOW AND HAD SORE THROAT ALL THE WAY DOWN TONSILINE SHOULD QUICKLY RELIEVE IT 85c and 65c. Hospital Size $1.00 ALL DRUGGISTS

FIRE POTS AID WINTER FLIERS

The [illegible] fire pot has proven [illegible] of importance piece of equipment the 21 Army aviators have taken on their trip on winter maneuvers, according to radio reports being received here by F. E. Herron, of 7002 Kedron avenue, and A. M. McAfee, of Oakmont. The young radio men are members of the American Radio Relay League. The latest message received dated Miles City, Mont. follows:

"Bucking the forces of keen winter with the humble plumbers fire pots the group made a signal victory by being able to start their motors this morning at Helena, Mont., and to get into this place at 5:30 p. m. These fire pots have proved the best means of warming the motors for starting in sub-zero weather."

BRITISH BROKER GETS 14 YEARS

LONDON, Jan. 24 (INS)—Clarence Hatry, whose sensational financial operations resulted in a crash of companies with which he was connected involving the loss of $67,500,000 to investors, today was sentenced to serve 14 years of penal servitude.

The trial of Hatry, millionaire British financier, and three associates on charges of fraud and forgery in connection with a stock exchange scandal took a surprising turn today when all pleaded guilty to all counts in the major indictment.

The pleas were entered as soon as the defendants' defense had started. It was utterly unexpected, as at their arraignment all four had entered not guilty pleas.

WORKMAN DIES IN BOILING VAT

Coraopolis police reported two fatal industrial accidents today, one at the Steel Spring Company and the other in the yard of the Montour Railroad.

Charles Garies, 28, of 841 First avenue, Coraopolis, foreman for the spring company, fell into a huge tank of boiling water and was scalded to death.

William M. Smith, 38, of 1047 Ridge avenue, Coraopolis, employed by the railroad, fell between a freight car and an engine and was instantly killed.

NO TROUBLE AT ALL NOW

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Has Benefited This Woman

Millions today are eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN—guaranteed to relieve both temporary and recurring constipation.

The cause of constipation is the lack of roughage in food. Add sufficient roughage and constipation disappears. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is nearly all roughage.

Here is a letter from Mrs. H. Gilbert, 107 E. Knight Ave., Collingswood, N. J., which will be interesting to many sufferers:

"I had a very serious operation in October and when I came from the hospital my main trouble was constipation. One day I said to the doctor, 'I am going to eat ALL-BRAN,' and since I started I have no trouble whatever. So you see I can't praise it enough and am always telling my friends what it did for me."

You will enjoy the nut-like flavor of this delicious, ready-to-eat cereal. It is rich in iron, and when eaten with milk or fruit juices, adds important vitamins to the diet.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is an essential in any reducing diet. It means every-day health to people all over the world. Your grocer has it in the red-and-green package. Served everywhere. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

GARDNER PLANS TO SIFT VOTING

District Attorney Samuel H. Gardner today promised to investigate carefully the charges of Ward Bonsall, of the recount board, that fraudulent returns were made in 18 election districts at the recent election and to institute prosecutions if evidence warranted.

Gardner said he did not see how he could proceed in the cases of the 53 districts in which, according to Bonsall, ballots were fraudulently marked. There were difficulties, the District Attorney said, in getting evidence that could be laid before a jury.

In 40 districts, Bonsall said, "phantom ballots" were found. Gardner said he would have to know exactly what was meant by the phrase before he could act.

It was announced that in 71 of 76 districts in which a recount was asked, discoveries were made that justified the recount. Accordingly, the $50 deposit made by the petitioners in each of the 71 districts will be refunded. In five districts, however, nothing was uncovered, and the $50 deposit will, therefore, be retained. These five districts are the Third of the Fifteenth Ward, the Sixteenth of the Twenty-first, the Fifteenth of the Twenty-second, the Forty-first of the Nineteenth, and the Third of the Fourteenth.

COLLEGE GAMES' DOOM SEEN

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—(INS.)—Declaration of Dean Herbert E. Hawks, of Columbia University, that lack of student interest probably will soon write the doom of athletics was widely discussed today.

Speaking here yesterday, Dean Hawkes said that in many eastern institutions the undergraduates' interest in intercollegiate athletics "is becoming distinctly dampened."

"Intercollegiate contests continue to be a great spectacle, enjoyed by alumni and other members of the community, but the kind of undergraduate enthusiasm for these events which was a matter of common knowledge 25 years ago is rapidly passing away," he declared.

5 HURT IN NEW FILIPINO RIOT

WATSONVILLE, Cal., Jan. 24.—(AP.)—Racial hatred, inflamed by the employment of white dancing girls in a Filipino club here, seethed again in the Santa Clara Valley today as the result of two clashes at San Jose, in which one white man was stabbed and four Filipinos badly beaten.

Alfred Johnson, 22, was stabbed twice in the back and critically wounded while he allegedly was watching a clash between Filipinos and whites at San Jose. There were two fights, two Filipinos having been beaten in each. Police said white men were the aggressors in each case.

The body of Permin Tehera, 22, a Filipino, was found in a bunk house East of here yesterday. He had been shot through the heart. Authorities said shots were fired into the building by a mob of white men Wednesday night and that several Filipinos fled from the place in terror.

Fire Routs 20 Co-Eds Garbed in Pajamas

COLUMBIA, Mo., Jan. 24.—(INS.)—Twenty co-eds of the University of Missouri narrowly escaped with their lives early today when fire razed a rooming house and damaged two others. Co-eds had no time to dress and escaped into the street clad in pajamas. The girls were taken to other homes where their sisters provided temporary clothing.

PAPER SALE MAY SAVE CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Jan. 24.—(INS.)—Six emergency relief plans to stave off the bankruptcy that threatens Chicago and Cook County governments were being pushed today as the city's financial condition grew more acute.

The fund-raising plan which administration leaders believe will bear the most fruit is the one advanced by the State Tax Commission to sell tax anticipation warrants to utilities and large manufacturers.

The pool of Chicago's big business will be organized immediately to buy at least $50,000,000 in tax anticipation warrants, which, according to administration leaders, is enough to run the governmental bodies until reassessment is finished and 1928 tax bills collected.

New developments were brought to light last night which indicate the growing seriousness of the city's plight. Nearly 4,000 county employes expected their salary checks yesterday, but did not receive them.

School teachers numbering 13,000 looked forward to pay day today, but will receive no checks. The South Park Commission announced that it has received no bids for a proposed bond issue of $1,500,000.

PLAN TO SAVE PISA TOWER

PISA, Italy, Jan. 24.—(AP.)—The Leaning Tower of Pisa, lodestone of the American tourist who visits Italy, is to be strenghtened at its base in order to prevent its leaning too far over and crashing.

The tower at present is 14 feet out of the perpendicular. Engineers say it leans because during construction the ground on the south side fell. An inclination in the opposite direction from the third story up then followed. The tower is 169 feet high, has eight stories, six of which are surrounded by colonnades, and was built between 1174 and 1350.

One Dead, One Dying In Plant Explosion

CATLETTSBURG, Ky., Jan. 24.—(AP.)—One man is known to have been killed and another was believed to be dying as the result of an explosion today at the Tri-State Refining Company's plant at Kenova, W. Va. The explosion was in the trapping still. Firemen and rescue crews have been unable to get inside the buildings to determine whether other men have been killed. The dead man was found lying beside the workman who was believed to be fatally hurt.

GREENSBURG, Pa., Jan. 24.—(AP.)—County detectives said today they were holding Raymond Imburgie, 22, of Monessen, for questioning in connection with the killing of Carmelo Circicone, 30, Tuesday night. Detectives said Imburgie was a mourner at Circicone's funeral. Officers have been attempting to learn a motive for the killing.

PARENTS FIGHT EARLIER SCHOOL HOURS

SIDE WALKS of PITTSBURGH

by WILLIAM PFARR

Nellie Wheel,
The Waitress,
Pittsburgh, Pa.

Dear Nellie:

THIS is to set you right on the Lizzie Daley myth. You remember those four fellows you waited on last Saturday night? They asked you if Lizzie still worked there and you asked who Lizzie was and they said Lizzie's uncle had just died and left her the bundle and you ran all over the place trying to find out about Lizzie.

There's no such person, Nellie. Those fellows have been pulling that joke for two years, and they've taken almost every waitress in the town.

Two of those fellows are lawyers, one's a pharmacist and one's a physician. They're the most practical jokers in Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia. Next Saturday they'll probably drop in again and try the deaf stunt on you. One of them pretends deafness and the others whisper to you that his brother would pay millions to restore the boy's hearing. They'll tell you that he's positively uncanny as a fortune-teller. They'll tell you to drop the knives and forks near him in the hope that the noise will restore his hearing, and they'll have him tell your fortune—he'll tell you just whatever you've told them.

We're tipping you off in advance. Maybe you'll want to drop a little something in their coffee. SIDEWALKS.

At 3 o'clock the other morning, 17 cows gained temporary freedom on the North Side. In a blinding snowstorm (snowstorms are always blinding) they ran rampant through Old Allegheny. Police took up the chase, but the cows proved obstreperous. Finally, in West Park, the law surrounded the fugitives. Capt. Tony Block raised a riot gun to his shoulder and "got the bead" on one of the enemy.

As Capt. Block prepared to pull the trigger Joe (the cow) turned in his tracks, gazed at Tony and emitted a long, impressive moan.

"Aw, nerts," Tony exhibited disgust, "how can a guy shoot a friendly cow?"

that he would have nought to do with intoxicants, but she knows that many of his friends are not so bound and that he likes to play the host. Her vote of confidence in him was the gift. He has never broken his promise.

Sinclair Lewis, author of "Main Street," "Elmer Gentry" and other books, has appealed to the courts to have his former wife's alimony reduced. Girl Sought

MARY MILLER

MISSING GIRL HUNTED HERE

All of the Pittsburgh Bureau of Missing Persons was sought today in locating Mary Miller, 17, of Homer City, Indiana county, who disappeared from her home in company with two other girls on January 13.

In a letter written to bureau operatives by Justice of the Peace Walter H. Jackson, of Indiana, it was related, according to the bureau, that parents of the missing girl received a post card from her last week which bore a East Liberty postmark.

"Dear Mother," the card read. "I am working ere in East Liberty and am well. Hope you are the same."

A checkup will be made in an effort to find the girl and return her home.

VOTERS DEBATE REDISTRICTING

Complaints of Second Ward voters were heard last night by Chairman N. R. Criss, Charles E. Finn and William J. Zeifel of the Redistricting Commission of Allegheny County at a meeting in the Ralston School. The meeting was one of a series being held to gain view of the voters in redistricting the county.

Next Wednesday night the voters of the Twenty-second Ward will be given an opportunity to voice their complaints before Howard Neeley, John T. Small and Joseph G. Armstrong, Jr., at a meeting in the Allegheny High School.

Another meeting is scheduled for Friday night, January 31, in the Lincoln School, when David L. Lawrence, Mortimer A. Lesher and George E. Meyers, redistricting members will hear complaints.

The victims were John Bognar, 20, of 349 Wylie avenue, Clairton; Nick Magnda, 25, of 466 Third avenue, Clairton, and Emma Srenock, 18, of 363 Baker avenue, Clairton. They were taken to Homestead Hospital.

Bognar, who suffered a fractured left leg and body lacerations, was the most seriously injured. The Srenock girl and Magnda were allowed to go home after receiving medical attention.

LOVEJOY

Tom Scolds Lovejoy for Getting Intoxicated

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Tom Nicholson and his young and beautiful wife are happy with their baby and tiny bungalow until their wealthy neighbors, the Aldersons, come into their lives. Mrs. Alderson, whose husband is elderly, has an affair with a man named "Jack." Tom's suspicions are unjustly directed to Lovejoy when Jack telephones and hangs up abruptly. Lovejoy speaks to Mrs. Alderson about it. When Lovejoy takes Tom to a card party at the Aldersons, Norrie Shane comes to look after the baby. Lovejoy is amused to discover Norrie's fondness for Tom.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XV.

JEALOUSY is an insane thing.

It can make people do things that they never would dream of doing in their sane and sober senses.

It can be stronger than strong drink.

And that night Lovejoy was not only filled with jealousy. She had five drinks too many besides—she who never drank anything more intoxicating than her morning cup of coffee.

She did not want Steve Oglebay to kiss her and put his arms round her. . . . What she wanted was to have Tom see him do it. What she wanted was to hurt Tom—Tom, dancing by with that Mont girl's head on his shoulder!

"Steve, you still do like me a little, don't you?" she asked him, holding him close to her by the lapels of his coat. "Steve, you don't like that Mont girl, do you? She's not half nice enough for you—Steve—"

Her face was not three inches from his. He stood looking down at her. His eyes were filled with the old look of longing and puzzlement that he had always had for her. He was breathing quickly as if he had been running.

"Don't do that, Lovejoy!" he said sharply, and he took her wrists in his hands and pushed her gently away from him.

"You've had too much to drink," he told her. You aren't yourself—or you wouldn't behave like this! You're married to a mighty fine fellow, and you're happy with him. So don't be like the rest of these married women — messing around with cheap love affairs all the time!"

Lovejoy looked up at him from the bottom step of the stairs where she was sitting now.

"So I'm happy now?" she asked him, her voice slow and thick.

Dim muddled thoughts went through her head. . . . The two quarrels she had with Tom lately. The way he had told Norrie Shane that he would have liked to stay at home with her this very night. The way he was looking down into Mary Mont's eyes, this very minute, as he danced past the doorway with her—

"No, I'm not happy!" she said. "I'm not the least bit happy. Now what do you think of that!"

Steve put out his hand to draw her to her feet.

"Come on, Lovejoy," he said. "Let's go out and have some food. Aline's calling us all to the dining-room."

Above the radio music and the din of voices, Aline was shouting that she had made bull's-eye eggs and rum omelet and Welsh rarebit and that they were getting stone cold.

Allen was rushing about with an apron on, bringing in hot plates from the kitchen. Tom and Mary Mont went out into the pantry for a pitcher of ice for some more drinks.

Jane Goodsell and Aline were standing at the table serving out jellied salad and fresh caviar from big round silver bowls. Larry was opening mineral-water bottles.

Everything was confusion and noise and laughter. The lights in the room seemed to dance around Lovejoy's head, and the floor felt like the floor of a ship in a storm to her.

"I think I'll sit down," she said unsteadily to Steve Oglebay. "I think you'd better open a window—"

The next thing she knew she was out in the chill sweet darkness of the winter night. There were stars above her, and a man's arm was around her. The whole world was going around and around—

"Steve," she murmured dizzily.

It was Tom's voice that answered her.

"Better?—Think you can go home now?" he asked.

It was his arm around her, helping her to walk.

She never remembered going up the steps of their own house that night and coming into it.

But presently she knew that she was in her own bed. Tom was standing beside it shaking out the ivory-white dress she had had on.

She turned on her pillows and gave a great sigh of content . . . Oh, it was good to be back in the little house once more! Safe in her own soft little bed. And Tom here with her—safe from the Mont girl's attractions.

She got up on one elbow and the room seemed to sway upward with her.

"Never—let me see you—with a girl's head on your shoulder again — Tom — Nicholson!" she said thickly. Her tongue felt like a big lump in her mouth and it was hard for her to speak.

Tom turned to her, still holding the ivory silk dress in his big fine awkward hands. He looked down at her and his face was grim.

"You're a fine one to talk!" he said. "I take you out on the Aldersons' porch for some air—and when you come to and find my arms around you, what do you say? You say 'Steve' to me! You call me by that fellow's name!—And you get drunk. Drunk as a lord!—Gosh, I feel as if I'd never really known you until tonight, Mrs. Nicholson."

Lovejoy closed her eyes.

She tried to close her ears, too. But every now and then something that he said would force its way to her befuddled brain.

"—I didn't want to go to the doggoned party in the first place—"

"I don't like that kind of an evening and that kind of women. Drinking women—"

"And I lost eighteen dollars that I couldn't afford to lose—"

"Hire a hall!" Lovejoy broke in without opening her eyes. "Hire yourself a great big beautiful hall and a couple of audiences, will you?—And then please go away and let me sleep, Billy Sunday!"

The kind of sun that shines only on Sunday mornings was shining when Lovejoy opened her heavy eyes the next morning.

But both of the windows were shut tight, and the air in the room was stale and thick.

She sat up in bed and looked over at Tom's bed. He was sound asleep, his hands clasped under his dark head.

"Tom! Wake up!" Lovejoy called softly to him. "It's 11 o'clock!"

It was 10 minutes past, according to the little green enamel alarm clock on the dressing table. . . . What would Norrie Shane think of them both, sleeping like this and letting her look after the baby and get her own breakfast.

There was a faint smell of fresh coffee in the room.

"Smell the coffee?" Lovejoy asked as Tom's eyes opened. "I'm going to shriek to Norrie to bring us some."

Holding her aching head be-

SOUTH HILLS SCHEDULE OPPOSED

Exclusion of Outside Pupils Sought as Remedy for Overcrowding in Building

Plans of the Board of Education to change the hours at the South Hills High School will be protested at a mass meeting of parents tonight in the Prospect Public School, Mt. Washington.

The proposed schedule is to change the hours so that classes will start at 8 a. m. It is necessary, according to school officials, because of the overcrowded condition of the high school.

COURSES CURTAILED

The capacity of the school is 1,950 students. There are more than 2,200 attending now, and after the Spring graduation the influx of approximately 400 new students will make the crisis more acute.

Curtailing of courses has been necessitated already, due to the overcrowded conditions, spokesmen for the parents said yesterday, and the early hour, which will mean that when daylight saving time is adopted school will be convening at 7 a. m., will place undue hardships on the students and parents.

OPPOSE OUTSIDERS

Opposition also will be made at the meeting to the practice of allowing pupils from towns outside Pittsburgh to attend the school, which causes inconvenience to Pittsburgh pupils. At present, it is estimated, the spokesmen said, that about 82 of these outside pupils are attending the South Hills school.

Members of the Board of Education have been invited to the meeting to explain the necessity for the change.

SONS OF ITALY NOT POLITICAL

"The recent visit of a delegation of high officials of the Order of the Sons of Italy to Mayor Charles H. Kline was not for the purpose of asking him to give jobs to citizens of Italian ancestry, as reported in some quarters, but merely to permit prominent out-of-town members of the organization to pay their respects to the Mayor."

This was the gist of a statement given out today by a committee composed of Dr. Frank C. Ferrante, Salvatore Sunseri and Cav. Antonio Certo, representing the grand council of the Sons of Italy.

The organization is non-political, they said, and seeks no political favors.

GWYER HEADS TYPOTHETAE

John Gwyer, president of the Typothetae of Pittsburgh, has been named chairman of the United Typothetae of America, according to an announcement yesterday by David Gustafson, U. T. of A. is the national organization of master printers.

Others from Pittsburgh who have been appointed to committee memberships include A. C. Held, F. J. Doyle, and E. G. J. Gratz, production engineering; G. R. Dorman, education; and R. L. Forsythe, legislation.

PITT LIBRARY OPEN SUNDAYS

The University of Pittsburgh library for students will be open every Sunday in the future. Officials announced the opening yesterday a few hours after Norman L. Parks, editor of the "Pitt Weekly" had declared that one of the duties of the Student Council at the University, was to see that the library remained open on Sunday.

Parks had criticized the student council in his columns of the Weekly and said the members had asked that he appear before them—and give his reasons. Instead of appearing, he had a letter read at a meeting of the council Wednesday night. The Sunday opening of the library was one of the suggestions he made.

Flames Damage Store At Freedom

FREEDOM, Pa., Jan. 24.—Damage estimated at nearly $2,000 resulted from fire in the store of Joseph Marks.

SHIPPERS GIVEN QUESTIONNAIRE

A questionnaire, the first of its kind sent out in 10 years, was forwarded to Pittsburgh shippers yesterday by Donald O. Moore, manager of the traffic division of the Chamber of Commerce, and secretary of the Shippers' Council. The object is to obtain information on shipping facilities, sidetracks, loading conditions and type of service given in this district by railroads.

The information will be used to bring about improvements in the less than carload freight service for Pittsburgh business houses.

The shippers' council of the chamber is co-operating with the special less-carload local committee of the Allegheny Regional Advisory Board of the American Railway Association, which is seeking such information from shippers located in all sections of the region under its jurisdiction.

Man's Leg Broken As Auto Hits Pole

When his automobile crashed against an iron pole in Duquesne road, Hays borough, this morning, John Bodnar, 20, of 345 Wylie avenue, Clairton, suffered a broken right leg. He was removed to the Homestead Hospital. Two friends who were riding in the automobile escaped uninjured.

The Camera Question Box

The Sun-Telegraph's "Camera Question Box" each day will ask a question of public interest to Pittsburghers and will photograph those interviewed.

Today's question: Can a woman interested in club and society activities be a good mother?

ESTHER L. Roos, Brentwood, librarian: "I can see no possible reason why club activities should prevent any woman from being a good mother. A mother who meets other people often learns new methods to conduct the home; while the mother who does nothing but sit in the house gets in a rut and makes little improvement."

Miss Roos

NELLIE C. SMITH, Wilkinsburg, secretary: "Yes, I believe a woman can be both a good mother and an active club member provided her children are given the first consideration. Only the few unthinking women become so interested in society that they forget all else. A mother, like anyone else, needs recreation and a relief from duties about the house."

Miss Smith

MILDRED SCOTT, McDonald, clerk: "Just because a woman has one or even several children she should not be compelled to drop all social activities. Neither should she forget the children in favor of the social activity. There is a happy medium that can be struck. This medium, I think, would allow time for both home and club."

Miss Scott

VIRGINIA L. TAYLOR, Brentwood, stenographer: "It all depends on the individual. Some mothers can attend club meetings and society gatherings but still have time to administer to their children. There are other women who let children and home life suffer because the club offers an easy way to spend an afternoon."

Miss Taylor

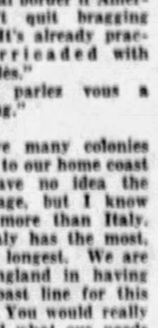
ALICE McKEEVER, Carrick, stenographer: "Nobody can do two things and do them right. Being a mother is a difficult and responsible task requiring all of any woman's time. Of course, if a wealthy woman wishes a governess to raise her children she, the mother, will have plenty of time to attend teas, bridges and the like."

Miss McKeever

FLORENCE FLAHERTY, Verona, stenographer: "The mother assumes a big responsibility trying to rear a child. If she engages in club life she is not giving her son or daughter a fair deal. When the child is able to care for itself then the mother would be in her own rights to devote her time to outside doings."

Miss Flaherty

Will Rogers Says:



LONDON, Jan. 24.

RAMSAY MACDONALD opened the session yesterday and asked each nation alphabetically, beginning with "S," what they were prepared to sink. Stimson, America, speaking also for Wisconsin and Alabama:

"Well, the whole thing is such a surprise, Mr. Speaker, it's so taken me and my little faithful band of colleagues that we are flabbergasted. I didn't expect to be called on and I really brought no music. We are peculiarly situated in that we have a coast line where both oceans touch us. Outside of that I am nonplussed.

"Australia, what have you come to sink?"

Mr. Fenton:

"Well you will pardon me, Boss, but we just come for the buggy ride, but if the comrades are speaking of coast line, we have ample sufficiency to enter this conference."

"And you, Canada?"

Mr. Ralston:

"We will sink that three thousand miles of unguarded international border if Americans don't quit bragging about it. It's already practically barricaded with empty bottles."

"France, parlez vous a little sinking."

Tardieu:

"We have many colonies in addition to our home coast line. I have no idea the exact mileage, but I know it's much more than Italy. Even if Italy has the most, ours is the longest. We are next to England in having procured coast line for this conference. You would really be surprised what our needs are."

Mr. MacDonald then enacted the role of toastmaster and announced England's coast line as follows:

"We are an island and naturally an island accumulates coast line very rapidly. Our ships are on every sea, in fact, it takes all the seas to hold 'em."

"India, arise and tell the gentlemen about your coast line."

Mr. Chatterjee:

"Oh, you should see our coast line. It's practically continuous."

"Irish Free State, do you by any possible chance join the ocean?"

Mr. Smiddy:

"Say, you never saw a nation that tried so hard to get in the ocean as we do and our coast line is second to none compared to the amount of land that washes it and we have another boast in common with the mother country; we are also an island, we have no boat to sink, but in case one ever shows up there, we will be more than willing to co-operate."

"Italy, how's the sinking down your way?"

Mr. Grandi:

"We are practically island. All that keeps us from being one is the Alps Mountains, but Mr. Mussolini is rapidly moving them so that our naval needs will be as great as any other European nation. We have a ripping coast line."

"Japan, what can you offer to the statistics of nations in regard to coast line?"

Mr. Wakusatkui:

"Japan is an island and we depend on our navy to keep it an island. Our coast line is exceeded by few and the quality is excelled by none.

Mr. MacDonald:

"The meeting is adjourned. If there looks like any reason to ever have you all meet again I will let you know. In case I should, I wish you would have your army of experts figure out for you the exact amount of coast line you have. This uncertainty is holding up this coast line conference and we will never get anywhere till somebody sinks some coast line."

Yours, WILL.

CITES AIR-RAIL EXPRESS LINES

Air-rail express for light and perishable merchandise is the present step of advancement in aviation, R. W. Cost, aviation expert of the Westinghouse Lamp Company, Bloomfield, N. J., told members of the Railway Club at the Fort Pitt Hotel last night.

"Ten air lines are already contracted with railroads through the Railway Express Service on this service," Cost related. "Shipments from New York City alone total $25,000,000 in value each day. The tendency of modern business indicates increased use of this fast service. With its growth, railroads will gain business.

"While air mail will increase to the detriment of the railroads, passenger travel will undoubtedly remain on the air-rail basis. Improved lighting methods will aid night flying and, in turn, express business will gain an increase through the facilities."

Harold L. Button, 26, of Bridgeport, Conn., refused to reveal the name and address of his parents, when he was arraigned in Federal Court today for sentence before Judge Nelson McVicar.

He had pleaded guilty several days ago to transporting a stolen automobile from Wooster, O., to Everett, Pa.

Special agents of the Department of Justice testified they had learned that Button had served three enlistments in the army and was listed as a deserter, March 17, but that otherwise his record was clean.

Bandits Herd Four Victims In Room and Escape With Druggist's $600

Holding up the V. L. Birchard drug store, 47 Station street, Crafton, within a stone's throw of the borough police station, three masked and armed automobile bandits last night fled with more than $600 cash.

Answering the description and using the same tactics of pharmacy bandits who held up drug stores in Millvale and Wilkinsburg earlier in the week, the three men entered the Birchard store shortly after 10:30 o'clock each pointing a revolver at Birchard, his wife, Mrs. Florence Birchard, Dr. W. D. Moore, a dentist, of Dinsmore avenue, and another customer.

GET $600 IN CASH

The victims were corralled in a rear room, where Birchard was searched, $500 being obtained from his person. Approximately $100 was taken from the cash register.

While being forced to the rear of the store, Mrs. Birchard took off two diamond rings, one valued at $1,600 and the other at $200, and placed them in her mouth until the bandits backed out of the pharmacy.

Three well dressed men held up the confectionery of Sam Fazio, 340 Thirty-ninth street, Lawrenceville, an hour earlier. Covering Joseph Fazio, 17, with their revolvers, they escaped in an automobile after taking $15 from a till.

HOLD UP WATCHMEN

Ordering Jack Brown, 20, of 509 North avenue, Wilkinsburg, night watchman for the Kissel-Skiles Rent-a-Car station, 525 Penn avenue, Wilkinsburg, to "shell out," two armed and masked bandits obtained $80 shortly after 1 a. m. today. They escaped in an automobile, traveling in the direction of Pittsburgh. The money represented cash receipts of the company.

An hour earlier, two automobile bandits answering the description of the Wilkinsburg holdup men, held up George Love, 50, of Larimer avenue, Turtle Creek, night watchman at the Kultau Garage, Monroeville road and Sycamore street, Turtle Creek. The secured one dollar for their trouble.

SCHOOL SOUGHT AT OVERBROOK

Citizens of Overbrook, which district was recently annexed to Pittsburgh, and East Brookline have organized the New School Boosters' Association to obtain a new elementary school.

The new organization is headed by Clifford Wickman, who has named Dr. R. A. Hutchison, Mrs. C. L. Buckley, Mrs. Anna Strutzel, E. Sweitzer, Edward Toole and Attorney John J. McGrath to present the district's claims to the Board of Public Education.

Chairman N. R. Criss of the finance committee of the school board says that the rapidly growing section of the districts indicate a new school must be erected in the near future to take care of the district.

Sometime ago the Board of Public Education bought what is known as the Paul site in West Liberty and another in Overbrook, just over the then city line. Reports submitted to the board, Mr. Criss, says, show that if a junior high is built on the West Liberty site it will delay building the elementary school in the East Brookline section for two years. The board has the school demands under advisement.

HOLDS ALCOHOL NOT DEADLY

A discourse on natural history relative to insects and animal life occurred in testimony of government entomologists during a forfeiture libel hearing in Federal Court against 58 drums of alcohol liquid which the government seeks to have condemned as contraband.

The liquid product was seized August 15, 1929, by government prohibition agents at the Consolidated Warehouse Company, Thirteenth and Pike streets.

The Agricultural Chemical Company, of South Kearney, N. J., manufacturer of the product, in opposing the libel, claimed it to be a germicide. The hearing was before Judge Nelson McVicar, who reserved his decision.

The government chemists claimed that the liquid could be redistilled into potable alcohol for beverage purposes. They also claimed it does not conform with any government formula.

Dr. W. S. Abbott, of Washington, an entomologist engaged in insecticide inspection, testified that the liquid might kill weak insects, but not the hardy ones, and expressed the opinion that it might damage trees if used as a spray.

James Clarke, of Montclair street, whose purse with $105 was "lifted" while he was paying taxes in the City Treasurer's office Tuesday, will not suffer any loss, City Council has decreed. Members of council yesterday raised a subscription to reimburse Clark for the $105 he lost. The subscription was taken after a proposal to pay Clarke the money was negatived.

Most councilmen held that to pay the money would be a bad precedent. They decided the best way to reimburse Clarke would be to take the money from their pockets. City Treasurer Roy Schooley helped in raising the fund.

CITY TO APPEAL COURT CURB ON BORROWING

Refusal to Allow Increase In Loan Power to Be Taken to Supreme Bench

The City of Pittsburgh will appeal to the Supreme Court in its efforts to increase the city's borrowing margin by cutting the water works' valuation from the bonded debt.

Council and City Solicitor Charles A. Waldschmidt, yesterday, decided to take an appeal after an adverse opinion was handed down in Common Pleas Court.

City officials have maintained for years that the water bureau was self-supporting and that the capital investment should not be an encumbrance on the city's borrowing margin.

A test case was instituted in 1924 on a proposed street improvement bond issue of $1,200,000 in excess of the existing debt limit. The local courts restrained the city from issuing the bonds.

The city then sought to have the water works' investment deducted from the bonded debt.

The opinion rendered yesterday in Common Pleas Court was written by Judge Elder W. Marshall with Judges John A. Evans and James B. Drew concurring.

The allegations were made in a petition filed in Federal court, in which he seeks return of a large quantity of alleged contraband and other property which he claims were unlawfully seized by the prohibition agents on November 22. BROOKLINE CAR LINE ASSAILED

Brookline property owners last night formed an organization to urge the city to acquire the private right of way of the Pittsburgh Railways Company on Brookline boulevard and to repave that thoroughfare.

It was the concensus of opinion of citizens, 150 property owners on the boulevard being represented, as well as other sections, that the right of way had become a public nuisance.

Business men complained that the growth of the community had greatly interfered with the parking of cars, because of the company's exclusive rights to an 80-foot thoroughfare and that the tracks are unsightly. The property owners and business men elected Paul Smith chairman, and authorized the appointment of a committee of 25 to present the subject to the authorities. One of the committee's first objectives will be to obtain more street lights for the boulevard.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON SOCIETY

R. K. Mellon Usher at Wedding

RUTHLESS winds and zero weather we may have now that winter has come to stay until spring returns, but society folks here at home have late winter weddings of marked note to add interest to the days, and plans for occasional dinners and dances.

I've already told you about several weddings that are going to take place in Pittsburgh during the coming weeks, and there are also some out-of-town marriages of interest here.

Richard King Mellon, son of the Richard Beatty Mellons, attended the wedding of Frances Brooks Gillet, daughter of the George Martin Gillets, of the Green Spring Valley, Baltimore, Md., and Thomas Swan, IV, son of the late Thomas Swans, which took place Wednesday in Baltimore.

And Mr. Mellon was one of the ushers. The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, had as her only attendant Miss Charlie Townes, of Baltimore.

And the ushers included in addition to the scion of one of Pittsburgh's outstanding families David K. Estes Bruce, who married Mr. Mellon's cousin, Ailsa Mellon, and Dr. William F. Rienhoff, Daniel Baugh Brewster, Eben F. Warrington Gillet, brother of the bride; James Bruce, De Ford Swann, E. Garet Winants, Harry Orrick, E. McClure Rozie, and Francis R. Croass, all of Baltimore; Thomas Armstrong, Don M. Kelly and Alvin Devereaux, of New York; Richard C. Orr, of Chicago, and Representative Richard B. Wigglesworth, of Massachusetts. * * *

ANOTHER Pittsburgh man, or rather Sewickley man, was in an eastern bridal party, Frank R. Stoner. He was an usher at the wedding yesterday at noon of Elizabeth Stevens, daughter of the Francis Kirby Stevenses, of Gladstone, N. J., and Peter Ballantine, son of the Percy Ballantines, of Newark, N. J., which took place in St. Luke's Church, Gladstone. And the Rev. John M. Harper, assisted by the Rev. John R. Oliver, of Baltimore, an uncle of the bride, officiated.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore white velvet with the train lined in silver, and a veil of tulle with a cap of old rose point lace. She carried a white prayer book from which fell a shower of orange blossoms.

The bride's sister Frances Gallatin Stevens, as maid of honor, wore a Kate Greenaway gown of pale blue with a small leghorn hat to match, and carried an old-fashioned bouquet of forget-me-nots.

The bridesmaids, Elizabeth Ballantine, sister of the bridegroom; Alice Byrd, of Richmond; Marie Iselin and Priscilla Choate, of New York, wore gowns of royal blue crepe de chine and small net hats of the same shade. Their flowers were arm bouquets of snapdragons and Spanish iris.

Robert W. Ballantine, brother of the bridegroom was best man, and the ushers were in addition to Mr. Stoner, John S. Stump, of Baltimore; John J. Livingood, of Cincinnati; Robert W. Cumming, Henry Young, Jr., R. G. Van Blydenbeck, and Arthur McClement, of New York.

A small reception at Stonehouse farm, the country home of the Stevens family, followed. After a wedding trip to the West Indies, the Ballantines will live in Newark, N. J.

The bride attended Miss Nightingale's School in New York, and Mlle. Moss' School in Paris, and she is a member of the Junior League. Mr. Ballantine is a graduate of St. George's School, Newport, and of Princeton, class of 1925. And he is a Cap and Gown man.

WHISPERS OF YESTERYEAR HAUNT THE NEWEST MODE

Sketched in Paris

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, Jan. 24.—A whisper of yesteryear still echoes hauntingly through the sartorial symphoney of today. The mediaeval, the Directoire, the Victorian, each one finds expression through the medium of drapings, high waistlines, with long, full skirts, or slight bustles. And all these style high lights of other times are present in some slight or subtle guise in the ultra modern fashions that are so expressive of this age of beauty and feminine lure. Such touches are more apparent in clothes designed for evening wear, which appear to be more attractive than ever, especially the lovely gowns that will stroll through flower-filled, moon-drenched southern gardens. Really, a poet should be retained to describe the exclusive colorings, the line and the flattering beauty of these lovely evening frocks. Ordinary words seem coldly inadequate.

WE are still under the gentle tyranny of taffeta, and we show today a pastel hued pompadour frock of that fabric that is drawn tightly around the figure from the front and is knotted in a flaring bustle at the back. Below this falls a flaring "tailpiece" like a short bouffant train, but not quite reaching to the floor. The decolletage, in front, is square, as it is in many of the latest models.

• • •

THE collection shown by Lucille Paray revealed that this couturiere has a lasting fondness for thin velvets. The evening gown shown here is from her mid-season collection. It is of banana colored ring velvet and its draping shows a hint of moyen-age influence. The body is shirred down the center front to a point well down on the skirt and over this the drapery of the skirt is looped up over a twist of velvet, that deftly encircles the waist. The hip line is very snug especially in back despite the extreme width of the softly falling skirt, due to a sort of half yoke ending at either side seam. Such a frock lends both grace and allure to its wearer, by reason of its exquisite simplicity.

Review of New Film, Hollywood Notes and Local Show Gossip

J. BARRYMORE ON WHITE HORSE

By CLARENCE E. GRUNDISH

John Barrymore rides a white horse and in many ways tries to emulate Napoleon in "General Crack," an all-talk, all-motion picture which opened at the Penn. It furnished Walter Wanger say it is the Barrymore's first talkie and it gives him opportunity to display dramatic talents which were denied recognition in the silent days.

And he looks grand on a white horse, this Barrymore. He makes a gallant lover, a reckless soldier and creates a belief in Gen Crack, the gentleman he portrays. Only when he says his dramatics with loud exclamations is he ineffective. Then he is funny, though he doesn't mean to be.

WHAT'S IN A NAME

In the story, laid in the mixed-up Europe of the Eighteenth Century, Gen Crack is a soldier of fortune who has an army at his command and who hires himself and his army out to one Leopold, emperor of Austria. Then he goes out to get the emperor another crown, leaving his gypsy bride, whose name is Fidelia, which means Faithful, at the palace of the king. But what is in a name! Mr. Leopold, the king, and the faithful Fidelia have an affair. And when General Crack hears about it is he mad? He builds a scaffold for the king and plans something awful for the king's sister. But in the end he puts the emperor back on his throne and prepares to sup in paradise an earthly one with His Majesty's sister.

BOUDOIRS AND CAMPS

The picture has action, romance and adventure. It is elaborate and lengthy. There are castles and battlefields, dinners in palaces and in public inns, love-making in royal boudoirs and in gypsy camps. Bands blare forth at various intervals and soldiers march and ride all over the place. And they do a coronation act in technicolor.

In a sort of prologue Barrymore portrays his own father. And it is in this comparatively brief episode that he is at his best. Lowell Sherman makes a gorgeous king, Marian Nixon plays the king's sister and is a bit too "human" to be a relative of royalty. Robert Bosworth, as prime minister or something, and Armida, as the gypsy maiden, are well cast.

Incidentally, the picture is not without its mystery. A nightgown disappears. Which might have caused the censors to wonder.

Mends Own Shoes, Easily Trailed as Store Thief

HARRISBURG, Jan. 24—(AP)—The fact that James Edwards, a Negro, mended his own shoes was one of the reasons he was in jail here.

Edwards' crude repair work made the soles end in an angle at the instep. The improvised sole left such a peculiar mark in the snow that police had little difficulty in tracing him while seeking the robbers who forced an entrance into a confectionery here and took a quantity of cigars and cigarets.

Police said Edwards admitted the robbery and implicated two other Negroes who, he said, bought the cigars and cigarets from him.

WEST PURCHASES STORY BUT THAT DOESN'T SAY HE'S GOING TO WORK

By DOROTHY HERZOG

(Copyright, 1930, by Premier Syndicate)

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 24.—

Roland West won't go to work. It has been at least eight months since Mr. West finished "Alibi." But will he work? He won't. He quit taking the daily dozen because it developed into work. But he has a story. Which is hopeful, "Love in Chicago," by a young lad named Charles Walt, who is the only author extant to come to Hollywood and get a job the first day. (I did print it, Harry!)

When Mr. West has a story that doesn't mean he goes to work. He buys a story for a character or a dramatic sequence or maybe a title which is no slap at Mr. Walt. Then he cogitates!

Roland West

And in the course of weeks Mr. West has a yarn. Then he goes to work. But he's a fastidious person. He must make what to him, in all sincerity is a good story, or he can't be bothered.

While he's idle the financial sun still shines. Um. Just sold the German rights of his play, "The Unknown Purple," to a stellar German actor named Albert Besserman.

Mr. West was reminiscing about that and this. He recollected when he was 21 and in voodvil he earned $500 a week. Which was equal to another cipher in the days when money was money and not a presidential prosperity boom. And d'yuh savvy how he did it? He told the managers he had 10 people in his cast. And he did. But he played each part himself! The act was a crook act. He collected all the salaries. All but one, and that didn't run any more than 15 or 20 bucks per.

La Garbo Studies German for Film

There's an English lad in town. One John Loder. Mr. Loder is married to a vivid and petite German girl. Mrs. Loder has just been put under contract by M. G. M. for six weeks. Purpose: To teach Greta Garbo German. Reason: So the Garbo can gutteral the German version of "Anna Christie."

Years ago, when D. W. Griffith uster shoot 'em at Mamaroneck, he engaged Una Merkel to doubel for Lillian Gish. Miss Merkel also "stood in" for Miss Gish when the cameramen lined-up a shot. She got paid to wear her feet out and not her expressions. Time lapse. This department saw Miss Merkel support Helen Haynes in "Coquette." She was swell. To give a vague sort of comparison, she was to the role what Zasu Pitts can be when she goes dumb and gawky. Miss Merkel is now in Hollywood and will traipse in D. W.'s next flick, "Abraham Lincoln." She has been put under contract, her expressions, not her feet. What a twister if it could be added that Lillian Gish will "stand-in" for Miss Merkel. But lackaday and weep-a-sek, 'taint true. Merely a colyumnist's idea of blissful penning. . .

MUSICAL HIT ON FINAL TOUR

Pittsburgh theatergoers, it is announced, will have their last opportunity of witnessing the musical hit, "Blossom Time," when it comes to the Alvin next week. Its producers, the Messrs. Bert Lytell will appear in "Brothers" with Grace Menken in the Nixon next week.

"Smilin' Through" will be next week's offering of the George Sharp Players in the Pitt. Edith King will appear in the role which made Jane Cowl famous on two continents.

SEEK REMOVAL OF SILVER TAX

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 24. (AP.)—Removal of the government tax on production of silver is asked in a petition to President Portes Gil by the Chihuahua State Mining Chamber, which says such aid is necessary to help the mines in that region out of a difficult situation caused by the drop in the price of silver.

The chamber refers to a decree issued by the late President Obregon providing for temporary removal of the tax when the market price of silver falls below 60 cents gold.

The price has gone down to 43 cents, and government assistance is needed to keep the mines running, it is claimed.

Woman Will Face Old Liquor Charge

PUNXSUTAWNEY, Pa., Jan. 24.—Mrs. Joseph Maire, whose roadhouse between this city and Sykesville, burned about a month ago, was arrested yesterday on a charge of selling, possessing and transporting liquor by County Detective Milo Milford. Her husband is at present serving an 18 months penitentiary term on a similar charge.

She was jointly indicted with the husband, but a prohibition agent, who had, it was alleged, made a purchase, had left the force and was not located until Wednesday.

In Movies

James Gleason is in the movies now and comes to the Harris tomorrow in the talk screen version of his stage success, "The Shannons of Broadway."

BEGGAR ADMITS KILLING MAN

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Jan. 24.—(AP.)—Three hours after a storekeeper in the suburb of Cudahy was killed and his wife critically wounded, John Amyz, 30, of Jackson County, Ky., last night confessed the slaying, according to Cudahy police.

Amyz entered the clothing store of Ben Mandelman and asked Mrs. Mandelman for money to buy food. She said she would ask her husband and went to a room in the rear of the store.

When the two returned, Amyz fired five times—because he "became panic-stricken," he told police.

Mrs. Mandelman crawled to the front door and called for aid. Amyz was caught by a posse after a three-hour search and after questioning, confessed the slaying, police said.

Man Cuts Wife's Profit on Rum, Divorced

CHICAGO, Jan. 24.—Mrs. Antoinette Anziecek was awarded a divorce today when she told the judge that her husband, who contributed nothing to her support, was the best customer at her speakeasy.

The trouble was, she said, that he didn't pay for his drinks and cut her margin of profit down to a thin edge.

Glass Workers Study New Plant

FORD CITY, Pa., Jan. 24.—Thirty men from the Crystal City plant of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company are in Ford City and 20 more will arrive Sunday. The men are employed at the new Crystal City plant, which is identical with the No. 4 works in Ford City. They were brought here at the expense of the company to familiarize themselves with the workings of the latest type of glass-making machines.

Washington Asks $90,000 For Chest

WASHINGTON, Pa., Jan. 24.—Washington has launched its drive for $90,000 for the Community Chest, John L. Stewart presiding. Charles E. MacGinnis is general chairman.

Man Faces Charge Of Stealing Coal

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., Jan. 24.—Henry Dickerson was arrested by railway police accused of stealing coal. He is alleged to have had a revolver in his pocket.

ure it's high time he turned heroic and nabbed the "little woman" as the celluloid talks to the end. His first happy ending will be "The Divorcee," which smacks of irony. But "The Divorcee," a lux version of "Ex-Wife," touts Norma Shearer in the title. So mebbe all's well that unreels in a clinch.

Chester Morris

They do be quoting Stan Laurel of Laurel and Hardy chuckles as confessing just why his hair is scared. Stan and Babe (Hardy) made a two-reeler once-upon-er-time wherein they traipsed as convicts. They shaved their respective heads. Babe's hair grew in normal. Stan's stood up and continued to stand up. Proving even nature is favorably interested in his career.

And—that's all.

Love's Awakening

A Continuation of Love's Embers

By ADELE GARRISON

Mary Reveals She Was Masked Dancer at Club

AS MARY shot her challenge at Noel I never had seen her more beautiful. Her lovely little head was thrust forward expressing the defiance and pride which were also vibrant in every line of her slender lissome figure.

But one man of the two who faced her was not enthralled. I saw that in the strained face of Prince Georges. It had on it the look of one passing from a roseate dream into black reality. To him had come a problem any solution of which would be tragic. His chivalry—high boyish Quixotic—I guessed—forbade him to give Mary the ultimatum which her outrageous defiance of him called for—a choice between breaking the engagement between them or complying with his wishes. And not guessing the game which Noel and Mary were playing with their happiness as a stake he faced the tragic future of a man tied to a wife with not a single thought or aim in common with him one, moreover, who threatened to belittle him in public and make a ridiculous figure of him.

What Noel thought no one could have told. I guessed that he would have given much to have brushed past our royal visitors, swept the mutinous little lady of his heart into his arms and rushed away with her. But he had set himself to play the role of devotion of Olina which I had asked of him, and he would not deviate from it. At Mary's challenging question concerning his father's verdict upon her dramatic ability he straightened himself and spoke tersely, emphatically, but in the matter-of-fact tones with which he would have answered any professional question.

"You are perfectly correct in the claim you have made. My father has said repeatedly that you will be the greatest dramatic star he ever has trained."

Curiously enough as Noel vindicated her claim Mary was not looking at Georges who had belittled the mention of her "career," but at Olina. Suddenly I had the eerie conviction that my husband's madcap niece had not yet finished with her plan for disillusioning Prince Georges, and that she was expecting some move from Olina—waiting for it—that she might act accordingly.

The next instant my question was answered. From Olina's lips there came a dainty little laugh, a mere wraith of a thing, but expressing infinite incredulity and disdain, and with the power of a stiletto to wound. It or something like it was what Mary had been waiting for. I decided as she wheeled on Olina, her head suddenly thrown back, her hands thrust down at her side, her eyes blazing with well-simulated anger.

"You do not believe, I see." She shot the words at Olina. "I shall have to show you. Wait here, everybody. I shall be back in a minute."

She danced into her room while the three members of the group she had left looked at each other with a blank amazement in their faces, an astonishment which was reflected in my own face, I knew. But when in but little more than the interval she had named she came into the room again I understood, and rising from my chair put my hand out in protest before I remembered that so far no one had known I was in the room, and that I had promised Mary to remain quiet no matter what happened.

For it was not our Mary who had come back into the room but an exotic figure in a fetching but abbreviated dancing costume of the sort only used upon the stage. In her hand she clutched something I could not distinguish but with a sick little feeling at my heart I knew what it was. But I was powerless to intervene. Mary had indeed taken things into her own hands. No one could help her now save herself.

I saw Noel take one impulsive step toward her and then stop as if he too realized the futility of interference. Then she stopped in the middle of the floor and swept us an exaggerated courtesy.

"Now ladies and gentlemen," she said in a high falsetto voice, "I shall endeavor to prove to you that Mr. Verriten did not err in his judgment when he pronounced the verdict which his son has just given and which one of you at least appears to doubt. Watch closely, please, and be ready to give this little girl a hand."

She postured for an instant then swept into an intricate dance humming her own music as she moved. She was breath-taking in her beauty, and the two young men watched her spell-bound. Olina more watchfully, but patently impressed in spite of herself. Then, as in mere bravado Mary whirled away from them and for the fraction of a minute danced with her back to them the while her hands were busy at her face. When she turned back, a small black silk mask covered her eyes and the top of her adorable nose and she smiled mischievously beneath it as she swept into the finale of the dance. But Princess Olina cried out something which made me icy with horror.

"I know you now. You were the masked dancer in that night club."

The Marry-Go-Round

By HELEN ROWLAND

Sweet, Sweet Home!

SOMEBODY is always wondering if the sacredness of the home is becoming obsolete.

Nonsense! Whether it's a Park avenue mansion or a kitchenette apartment, the home will never lose its sacredness.

Every married woman knows that the "sacredness of the home" consists largely in the fact that the big armchair and the best reading lamp are "sacred" to the man of the house.

That the broadest bath towel, the pet back brush and the shaving cabinet are "sacred" to father.

That the liver, the second joint and the browned skin on the breast of the fowl are "sacred" to DAD.

That the desk in the den and the undisturbed morning newspaper are sacred to Him.

That the cream off the quart and the melon on the ice are his by divine right.

That the front door key and the garage lock are sacred to his use—and the ladder and the lawn mower sacred possessions never to be "fooled with."

That Sunday is twice sacred to him—and the sporting page must be preserved undefiled until he peruses it.

Sunday morning is sacred to his beauty sleep, the Sunday dinner to his fluctuating appetite and Sunday evening to his nap, his whims or his amusement.

The car tools are sacred to his use and the driver's seat to his royal occupancy.

The family tub is sacred to his matutinal splash and the vestibule light to his nocturnal home-coming.

The furnace is sacred to his tinkering and the shovel his exclusive property. The hammer and the screwdriver positively radiate holy privilege.

The camping equipment in the garage and the fishing poles upon its beams burn with righteous fire; and any wife expects to be struck dead if she irreverently tampers with his bait box, looking for a screw or something.

Eight a. m. is sacred to his breakfast, 6:30 p. m. to his dinner and 7:30 to the rites and ceremony that accompany his after-dinner cigar.

Woman has always been credited with "preserving the sanctity of the home;" but it is really man who manages to surround almost everything in it, from the shoehorn and the hot water to the car and the radio, with the glamor of sacred possession and royal privilege.

Yes, verily, all the sanctity of the home is MAN'S!

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Saturday, January 25

A DAY in which the personal rather than the business affairs dominate is the forecast made from the ruling configurations. While business interests will not lag, being under fair stimulus of Mars, yet the social, artistic, domestic or affectional relations and activities will engage the attention. There should be glowing adventures or understandings in the latter. Withal there may be small anxieties, perplexities or delays.

Those whose birthday it is are at the threshold of a year in which the personal progress, prosperity and happiness may engage the attention with the aims and activities centered in this direction, although not to the entire neglect of more sordid adventures. The romantic angles may predominate.

A child born on this day should be ambitious and energetic, with many stable qualities, assuring it a lively, prosperous and happy career, with much personal popularity and gratification.

Polish Curtain Rings

If a curtain pole and rings are polished with a little furniture polish after they have been cleaned, it will be found that the curtains can be drawn smoothly and easily.

WELCOME STRANGER

Drawn by Nell Brinkley

"A hundred thousand welcomes: I could weep,
And I could laugh." —Says Gloriette.
"I hope, as no unwelcome guest,
At your warm fireside, when the lamps are lighted,
To have my place reserved among the rest,
Nor stand as one unsought and uninvited'"
—Murmurs the pink young Cupid.

"BUT" says she, whipping her new birthday-gift fan about until the breeze stirs the bold stranger's blonde curls; "but, though I give you welcome and I think you are astonishingly good-looking, you are the only one who was unsought and uninvited. You come in such an informal way, too, I feel. No one else climbed in at the window, without a hat and muffler. In fact, you are—you are somewhat like Truth—you know all the Goddesses, I suppose, by name and to kiss their hands. SHE dressed simply, too! If you remember."

"I remember!" laughed Love. "Though she is no relative of mine, the whole world tells me sometimes I look very like her, and I know her well. But then sometimes I look, too, like that other, Lady Justice, for artists who have made thousands of portraits of me—no less—sometimes paint me with a handkerchief over my eyes. Lady, I have seen you out walking. I have seen a rose and I am come back to breathe its perfume. I humbly beg to know you better. I can make you happier than Cinderella!"

"They do not end stories, love stories, as they did when Cinderella lived and was written about—not NOW," Gloriette retorted brightly. "When I, as Cinderella, shall marry the Prince my story will be only just begun, where long ago they ended hers. And I have been told tales about you; that the glass slipper that glitters like diamonds sometimes grows to hurt. That sometimes, when one has taken you in, you turn out like that little green thing in the grass that someone once warmed in his bosom! That you are more tender than true—oh, many things that make a lady cautious! But yet—but yet—you are a darling knave. I long to know you—make friends, at least. Your hair looks like real gold, your eyes frozen lake-water—no, star sapphires! I think you COULD be sweet.

And Gloriette, with him among the guests, unsought, uninvited, but oh, so welcome, WILL weep—and laugh.

NELL BRINKLEY.

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

What initials are proper on silverware (that is, knives, forks, spoons and so forth), those of the girl's maiden name, or the initials of her intended married name? S.

THERE is much discussion of this question nowadays—indeed, the silversmiths and the makers of linens are sending forth questionnaires to find out what the brides of the country think of the question. And the result of the questions is the same thing that we always find out in questions of this kind: The conservative brides, those who cling to fine traditions, maintain that there is much that is excellent in the idea of a bride using the initials of her maiden name. And I thoroughly agree with them. Silver and linen from time immemorial have represented the commodities that the bride's family brought to the new home. Naturally then it should be embellished with their family initial. The girl of pride wishes to hold by this tradition, this symbol of her family.

But the radical "moderns" now often use the initials of the name-to-be. That is, Mary Smith marrying John Jones uses the initials M. S. J. I do not approve the girl's using initials that are not yet hers.

A Present Out of Place

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

We are two girls and we are invited to a luncheon. Is it proper to take a present? If so, will you kindly suggest what is proper? M. C. F.

IT IS not necessary to take a present to a luncheon. Indeed, for the usual luncheon, this would be quite out of order, and pointless. If there is some special occasion which the luncheon is celebrating—if, for instance, it is a shower luncheon or a birthday luncheon—then gifts may be taken. Indeed they must be taken for the shower luncheon.

DAILY TRUE STORY

BY PROXY

"WHERE is Mr. Morgan?" Joe Howell asked his secretary.

Tom Morgan was junior partner in the big wholesale hardware firm of which Howell was treasurer.

"He said that he had some business calls uptown, Mr. Howell," the efficient girl replied with a smile, "but he took his golf clubs along."

"Oh, very well," and Howell felt a sense of relief—temporary relief, he knew, yet it was a little more leeway for him.

Howell went back into his office and closed the door. He glanced at a ledger and scowled, at the same time he smothered a groan. He slammed the covers of the great book. Everything looked all right, but wait until the auditor arrived!

There were some figures in a little note book in his pocket. He looked at them and felt ill.

"Twelve thousand eight hundred," he murmured.

Joe Howell had nerve, just the same. He leaned back in his swivel chair and swung about, staring over the roof-tops from his high office.

"Hackneyed situation," he muttered, "nothing new in it. I wonder how many thousand other treasurers in this man's town are short in their accounts? Half a dozen lines in the papers when the explosion comes."

He wheeled back to his desk and frowned.

There was Myrna, his beautiful wife. Tough on Myrna, to let her in for anything like this—and he was bound to be caught soon.

It was the life—the damn-fool habit of living beyond one's means, that had done it. Dipping into the firm's money here and there, now and then, to meet bills. And then playing the market to recoup, put back and cease worry.

Puts Gun in Pocket

But he did not recoup.

There was one way out of course, Howell slipped the automatic from his desk into his pocket. It was one of the newest make, small and with a silencer.

But that way out was just as hackeneyed as his peculations from his firm, where he had worked up from office boy.

There would be his insurance for Myrna. But no, Myrna was straight. His insurance was for fifteen thousand. Twelve thousand eight hundred of it she would hand over to the firm. That would leave her twenty-two hundred—not much over funeral expenses.

Well, might as well be killed for a sheep as a lamb, he thought. He turned to the financial page. He'd make another stab at the market, with some more of the firm's money. Always a chance of a big killing. Then he could restore his thefts and never do it again.

He juggled some more figures, wrote a check that would come back from the bank and he would be first to see it—and destroy it. In the morning he would drop in and see his broker. There were several things that looked mighty good, half a dozen points would put him back into the safety zone again.

His secretary tapped at his door. Was there anything else? He had promised she might go early.

He let her go and soon followed. He couldn't hang around the office another minute. The pictures of the old founders on his office walls seemed to be hissing "Thief!" at him.

Myrna would be playing bridge perhaps, and losing as usual, or at some expensive afternoon tea.

He had got to guess right in the market this time. Couldn't get Myrna in bad—too fine a woman for that.

He walked in the park a little and smoked a cigar until it burned his lips. No use. He'd go home and read—he could always lose himself in a good book—better than an opiate.

Sound Alarms Him

And so he let himself into his home.

He saw a bag of golf sticks there. On the leather tab were the brass initials T. W. M. He knew the bag well enough without needing the initials. It had kicked around the office enough years. But why the devil was the junior partner, Tom Morgan, leaving his golf clubs there?

He heard a sound.

It was from the den. The door was closed. He could step through the portieres to the living room, however, and then see through the archway to the den.

He did so.

His eyes popped, his jaw sagged.

"God!" he said. He hadn't meant to say it audibly, but he did, to the consternation of Tom Morgan and Myrna Howell.

Joe Howell had an alert but peculiar mind.

He stood there and grinned.

It was a lop-sided grin, and his heart hurt him, to be sure, but he grinned.

Myrna Howell sat up on the divan, her face paper-white, her eyes wide with fear.

Tom Morgan stood there, also pale, waiting—waiting for a physical attack, perhaps, or a torrent of words.

Instead of that, Joe Howell was thinking, "This is a far more hackneyed situation than my office peculations."

And then he thought of a supposedly smart little story going the rounds. For the life of him he couldn't help using it.

"I see you are waiting for a street car, Morgan," he said.

Myrna Howell shivered. Morgan reddened and then paled.

Joe Howell stood there staring at his guilty wife, at the home-wrecking junior partner where he worked, and he was thinking many things.

Morgan was twisting a button on his coat now. Myrna might have been a corpse but for the clouds of fear in her eyes.

Rubbing It In

Howell was thinking that this was more than the last straw. It was rubbing it in. Didn't he have troubles enough as it was?

What the devil could he do about it anway?

Finally Morgan cleared his throat, made two false attempts to be audible and then managed to speak.

"Well, why don't you shoot?" he asked.

This made Joe remember the automatic he had slipped into his pocket. And the coincidence made him grin.

"You've got us dead to rights, Howell. What are you going to do about it?"

That made Howell grin again. It was just what he was trying to figure out—what should he do about this—and those thefts from the firm also on his mind—what? He tried hard to think.

"Shoot or say something," Morgan cried. He wasn't a man of much strength of mind, at that, and the situation was agony to him.

"Don't stand there and grin—shoot—or what are you going to do about it?" Morgan fairly screamed the words.

Howell wiped the lop-sided grin from his face with a quick gesture.

"I don't know yet," he finally answered, "just what I am going to do about it."

He lied. He did know. He had decided.

"Morgan," Howell finally said, speaking slowly and sticking a tattered bit of cigar wrapper in place, "we'll ride down town and talk it over—it can be settled without any melodrama or tragedy—perhaps," and for the first time Howell looked square at his wife, "and perhaps without the least scandal."

Myrna Howell flushed with relief and walked to the window.

"Under the circumstances Joe, I think that is the only sane thing to do," Morgan said with quick relief. "You know we are not responsible for our hearts—our—"

"We will not discuss it in the presence of so perfect a lady, Morgan," Howell said.

Myrna Howell collapsed in a dead faint—as though the words had been bullets. Howell called the maid and told her that Mrs. Howell was ill. He had Morgan walk out in front of him.

On the drive down town—in Morgan's car, which had been parked around a corner—Howell said nothing. Several times Morgan tried to explain, to settle things.

"Not through thinking," lied Howell.

He had finished his thinking long before this.

"We can discuss it better in your office, Morgan," Howell said as they went up and let themselves into the closed office.

In the office Howell walked over to the typewriter.

He started to write and, after three attempts which he tore up and put in his pocket, he seemed satisfied.

"Sign right there — without reading it," he ordered Morgan.

"Why no Joe, not without reading it—I suppose it's a confession to enable you to get a divorce but I expect to read—"

"Sign it or I'll blow your brains out!" said Howell.

Tom Morgan stared into the muzzle of the automatic Joe held and signed the paper which Joe took.

"Now the joke of it is, you rotter, I'm going to blow your damn brains out anyway," said Joe Howell.

And he did!

Then he put the signed paper beside the dead man, washed and wiped the automatic and put it into the dead man's hand.

He went home and had dinner. His wife had to sit and pretend to eat.

He read and then retired.

In the morning Myrna took the paper from before the apartment door and read:

DEFAULTER SUICIDES

Tom Morgan Leaves Confession of His Peculations.

Joe Howell waited a few weeks, then sent Myrna to Reno. He could afford it. They had made him junior partner.

How to Keep Well

By DR. COPELAND

The Hazards of Child Labor

VERY different are conditions under which the children of today live, vastly different than they were 25 years ago. Yet there are many thousands of children in our fair land today who from necessity, or because of greed and negligence, are forced into industrial work. They are driven to labor during the very years when they should be given every advantage to develop physically and mentally.

DR. COPELAND

In New York City alone 60,000 boys and girls enter industry each year. Health hazards arise almost immediately. Up to this point of their development, the state and society have expended much money upon their education and health. Now, perhaps, all that has been done may be sacrificed because essential care and protection will not be adequate to safeguard their health.

Under New York State laws, gainful employment for children under 14 years of age is forbidden. Those between 14 and 17 years must show a certificate of physical fitness in entering industry, together with one showing a satisfactory school attendance.

In many another State such laws have not been made for children entering industry. In some States children are still made to work in the factory 10 or 11 hours a day. In some of the rural districts children are employed on the farm, in work after school hours which takes them until 10 or 11 o'clock at night to finish. In canneries, tenement housework and street trades children are made to work long hours.

In this machine age men and children are often brutally used up by the machine. "The rich sap of human life is being drained to oil the wheels of industry," we hear from one who knows.

Children in industry are more prone to accidents than their elders.

In 1928 there were 884 children under sixteen years of age who were given industrial compensation by the State of New York. The State, too, has a compensation law by which a child illegally employed, when the fact is determined, receives double compensation from the State. Not so the legally employed children. The child who is injured should receive a larger compensation, commensurate with his disability through life.

The actual results upon child health in industry may never be known. The high death rate from tuberculosis among children 15 to 20 years of age, the thousands of cases of malnutrition, of incipient disease, of infection in early years which have serious consequences in later life, of accidents, all these take their toll among children of our so enlightened country today.

Every effort should be made for adequate laws in all States and Federal laws, as well, to maintain child health and abolish child labor.

LOVEJOY :: By BEATRICE BURTON

tween her hands she got out of bed.

"Norrie!" she called, opening the bedroom door, "Norrie!—Got any coffee that we could have in here?"

She could hear newspapers rustling in the living room. Then Norrie answered:

"I have a tray all ready for you! I'll bring it."

Lovejoy yawned as she started back to bed, and the sudden movement made a fierce pain run through her neck and jaws.

"Jiminy, but I feel low this morning," she said to Tom.

"You look it," he answered shortly.

She walked over to her mirror and peered into it. The indelible lipstick of last night made her mouth look like a gash in her face. The scarlet rouge stood out in two round dabs on her cheek bones.

There were puffs under her eyes and the lids were dark.

She tried to laugh. But she couldn't.

"I never dreamed that I could look like this!" she cried, clapping one hand to her painted mouth.

She always had been as fresh as a flower in the morning, after the hot soapy bath that she took every night of her life. Fresh and sweet and sweet-smelling.

"I have a dark-brown taste in my mouth, haven't you?" she asked Tom, who lay watching her.

He nodded. "Anybody who drinks has," he said as she started for the bathroom and the tooth brush rack.

"Open those windows before you go, will you?" he asked.

She shook her tousled red-gold head.

"Who was your body-servant last year?" she asked as she marched out of the room . . . It had all come back to her suddenly. Last night, Mary Mont, with her head on Tom's shoulder. The scolding that Tom had given her when they got home—

"He can't razz me, and then expect me to wait on him!" she told her reflection in the bathroom mirror as she scrubbed the taste of Bacardi rum out of her pretty mouth.

She meant it, too!

Norrie was in the bedroom when she walked back into it.

She was all in stiff crackling white, and her hair was smooth and her face was flushed.

She was standing beside Tom's bed, setting the tray down beside him and listening with her shy quiet gravity to something that he was saying to her.

Lovejoy listened, too.

"Norrie," he was saying, "you sure are a sight for sore eyes."

"You mean because she's brought the coffee?" asked Lovejoy sharply, "or because you think she looks better than I do?"

"She looks a heap better than you do—if that's what you're asking me," Tom answered bluntly.

OWN HALL SITE SAVING SEEN

Purchase of the Osterling site for the Town Hall on the North side would save $800,000 in cost of the property with the added advantage of additional footage over the Schenley Farms site.

This claim was advanced today by Adolph Mayer, [illegible] secretary of the Federation of Civic bodies of the North Side. It had the support of W. H. Nowicki, chairman of the Town Hall Committee of North Side.

Citing the reported cost of the Oakland property in contrast with the site in River avenue at the Ninth Street Bridge, the North Side supporters declared:

"On several occasions recently the value of the Schenley Farms site has been quoted at $1,407,810 for a plot that contains about five and one-half acres including the surrounding streets. It is our claim that the Osterling site of about nine and one-third acres within five minutes walk of the Triangle and with railroad sidings and ample parking space can be purchased for about $600,000 or a sum of $800,000 less than the Schenley Farms site which is about three miles from the downtown district.

S.S.S. DISCOVERY, Antarctica [illegible] Delayed. At 5:30 o'clock this morning we arrived off a high rocky peak of the Enderby Land coast, finding it separated by a narrow water passage from the mainland ice cliffs.

There are many rocky outcroppings in this vicinity, some appearing as small islets, others as rocky protections from the coastal ice. The islets and grounded icebergs cause a local jam of ice packs through which the ship pressed to a large pool of open water in the lee of the coast. Our position is now latitude 66.5, longitude 53.5, placing us approximately on the Antarctic Circle.

Our scientists disembarked from the Discovery, spending a profitable day ashore. The luxuriant seaweed in the shallow water harbors a great variety of marine life.

Petrels and their chicks were observed for the first time from this vantage point. Here above the ship we had a good view of the sea and the northern extremity of Enderby Land. We [illegible] ebbing [illegible] of the tabular form and over [illegible] feet high.

SUNDAY DINNER
Clam Cocktail
Chops a la Castillane
Fried Egg Plant
Potatoes in Half Shell
Asparagus Salad
Strawberry Ice Cream
Cup Cakes

THESE French chefs really know a thing or two about sauces; you'll just have to admit it after you've tried Chops a la Castillane for your Sunday dinner.

Broil six lamb chops and arrange them on slices of fried egg plant and pour around the following sauce:

Brown tablespoons of butter, add 3½ tablespoons of flour and stir until well browned; then add gradually 1 cup of rich brown stock.

Cook 3 tablespoons of lean raw ham cut in small cubes in ½ tablespoon of butter for 2 minutes. Moisten with 2 tablespoons of sherry flavoring and add to the sauce with 2 tablespoons of finely shredded green peppers. Season with salt and pepper.

POTATOES baked in half-shell are the appropriate accompaniment for such a magnificent dish. Select 6 medium-sized potatoes an bake for about 40 minutes. Remove from the oven, cut slice from the side of each and scoop out the inside.

Mash and all 2 tablespoons of butter, salt, pepper and 2 tablespoons of hot milk; then add the whites of 2 eggs well beaten.

Refill the skins and bake from 5 to 8 minutes in a very hot oven after you have sprinkled the tops of the potatoes with grated cheese.

One cupful of asparagus tips, 1 cupful of celery, ¼ cupful of chopped pimentos and a generous amount of mayonnaise will make an utterly delicious salad. Just blend the ingredients and serve on crisp lettuce.

Finish your dinner with strawberry ice cream, the smooth, delectable American variety, and serve fluffy cup cakes as worthy escorts.

APRICOT SOUFFLE: Wash ¼ pound dried apricots and soak them in water to cover for 3 hours. Then cook slowly in the same water for 10 minutes until tender. Strain through a colander and add ½ cup sugar. Cook until thick, stirring constantly to prevent the fruit from burning. Add a pinch of salt and 1 teaspoon lemon juice and allow to cool. Add the apricots and 1 teaspoon baking powder to 3 egg whites, beaten stiff, and flavor with 1 teaspoon vanilla. Stir

HOT TOMATO SANDWICH. For each sandwich spread 1 slice of bread with butter and another with either pimiento or cream cheese. Fry the sandwiches gently in melted butter. Put them in a shallow pan and top each sandwich with a thick slice of tomato. Sprinkle with salt, pepper and a few drops Worcestershire sauce. Bake in a hot oven or broil them under a hot flame for a few minutes. The sandwiches must be served very hot.

LIMA BEANS WITH CHEESE SAUCE. 2 tablespoonfuls of butter, 2 tablespoonfuls of flour, 1½ cupfuls of milk, ½ cup of rich grated cheese, dash mustard, salt and pepper, 3 cupfuls of cooked lima beans, 1 egg yolk.

Melt butter and stir in flour. Pour on gradually the milk into which the egg yolk has been stirred. Add cheese, mustard and salt and pepper to taste. Cook stirring constantly until cheese is melted and sauce is thickened. Add beans and allow them to heat thoroughly in the sauce. Recipe makes six servings.

milk, bean pulp and flour mixed and sifted with baking powder, salt and sugar. Add shortening. Fold in the egg white and bake in greased muffin pans in a moderately hot oven.

LIMA BEAN BALLS: Soak lima beans and cook in salted water until they are tender, but not too soft. Drain off the water, put in a generous lump of butter and mash thoroughly. When they have cooled, make into balls. Roll in cracker crumbs, beaten egg and again in crumbs and fry in hot fat.

HERE'S a recipe for Italian spaghetti: Take about a pound of meat, preferably beef or chicken, fry to a nice brown on all sides and add salt and pepper.

To this add a little parsley and 1 kernel of garlic, which have been chopped finely together. (This garlic adds greatly to the flavor of the spaghetti and it is most important that you use it.)

Fry these chopped particles slowly with the meat, taking care not to let them burn, for they cook very quickly.

Then add a can of tomatoes and cook very slowly over a low flame for about four hours. This slow, lengthy cooking is necessary to improve the flavor. The sauce can be prepared and allowed to cook with little or no attention, however.

VEGETABLE SOUFFLE: Blend 3 tablespoons fat with 3 tablespoons flour and add 1 cup milk to make a white sauce. Add 1 cup vegetable pulp, 3 well-beaten egg yolks and 1 tablespoon chopped parsley. Lastly, fold in the stiffly beaten whites of the 3 eggs. Turn into a buttered baking dish and bake in a slow oven until firm. Serve immediately while hot.

THEN scald a pound of spaghetti in 4 quarts of boiling salted water. When tender, drain through a colander.

Don't allow the spaghetti to cook too long for when it gets too soft it isn't nearly as palatable. Put on a large platter, sprinkle well with grated Roman cheese, which can be purchased at an Italian grocery, and then pour over it the hot tomato sauce.

Serve hot.

ASPARAGUS RAREBIT: Melt 2 tablespoons butter in the top of a double boiler. Blend 1½ tablespoons flour well with the butter and gradually add 2 cups milk. Stir until the mixture begins to thicken then add 1 cup grated cheese and 2 slightly beaten eggs. Season with ½ teaspoon salt and a few grains pepper. Stir constanly. Lastly add 2 cups canned asparagus, and cook about 5 minutes. Serve on toast.

* * *

POTATOES O'BRIEN: Pare potatoes and shape into balls with a vegetable cutter to make 1 quart of potato balls. Soak in cold water and drain well. Fry in deep hot fat until brown and tender. Drain and sprinkle with salt. Fry 2 slices of onion in 2 tablespoons of butter until golden brown. Remove the onion and add 1 large green pepper, cut fine. Then add the fried potatoes. Serve hot, garnished with one tablespoon chopped parsley.

TUNA FISH LOAF WITH EGG SAUCE: Flake 1½ cups tuna fish and mix with 2 eggs, 1 teaspoon lemon juice, 1 teaspoon chopped green pepper, 1 teaspoon salt and one-fourth teaspoon paprika. Blend the ingredients together well and mold in a loaf. Roll in flour and place in a buttered loaf pan. Dot with butter and bake in a moderate oven about 30 minutes.

Just before serving make a white sauce of 2 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 cup milk and ¼ teaspoon salt. While the sauce is steaming hot add 1 beaten egg yolk and pour around the tuna fish loaf when serving.

SPANISH SAUCE: This sauce is excellent to serve with any simple meat dish, greatly improving the flavor. Melt 2 tablespoons fat and fry 1½ tablespoons chopped onions in the fat until a delicate brown. Stir in 2 tablespoons flour and add ½ teaspoon salt, a sprinkling of pepper and a few grains cayenne. Mix well. Add 1 cup strained tomato juice and bring slowly to the boiling point, stirring constantly. Add 3 tablespoons cooked chopped celery and 2 tablespoons cooked carrots, as well as 3 tablespoons cooked chopped ham. Serve hot over the meat.

HERE'S a wonderful recipe for a wonderful date pie:

Cook a package of pitted dates and a cup of cold water, together in a saucepan until a thick paste is formed.

Remove from the fire, add 2 tablespoons of orange juice and let stand until cold. Just before serving pour this filling into a baked pastry shell and cover with sweetened whipped cream.

CREAMED CHICKEN IN PASTRY HORNS: Roll puff paste into a thin sheet, cut into strips ¾ of an inch wide and wind them around lady-lock forms, taking care that each round of paste slightly overlaps the one before it. Trim the ends even with the forms. Set on a baking sheet and bake in a quick oven until browned. Slip from the molds and fill with the following mixture: Melt ¼ cup butter, add ¼ cup flour and cook until frothy; add 1 cup chicken broth, 1-3 cup cream, salt and paprika and let the mixture cook 3 minutes. Set over hot water, add 1 pint of cooked diced chicken, cover and let stand until hot.

FISH is a vitally important food. It contains iodine, most necessary mineral salts and phosphorus; the body needs those elements. I offer today a brand-new sauce, called Striped Bass Veronica.

Put the fillet of a 3-pound bass in a buttered pan; add salt and cayenne pepper; a half glass of white grape juice and a half glass of bouillon.

Cover with buttered paper and put in the oven to bake gently.

But the bones from the fish into a pot and cover with water. Add salt, a chopped onion, a bayleaf, a clove and a few peppercorns. Boil for half an hour. Put into another saucepan ¼ cup of butter. When warm add 2 tablespoons of flour and stir well.

Add the strained fish stock and also the stock left from the filet and boil for a few moments. Beat well the yolks of 2 eggs and ½ cup of cream and thicken the sauce with this, stirring carefully and cooking very slowly. Strain the sauce add a cup of seeded white grapes, pour over the filet and serve.

CREAM OF TOMATO SOUP: Scald 1 quart of milk with 1 slice of onion, remove the onion and thicken the milk with 4 tablespoons flour diluted with cold water until thin enough to pour. Cook 20 minutes in double boiler, stirring constanly at first. Cook ½ can tomatoes with 2 teaspoons sugar for 15 minutes, add ¼ teaspoon soda and rub through a sieve. Combine mixture and strain into soup dishes over butter, salt and pepper. Serve at once.

Did you know that it would require a field of nearly 35,000 acres to produce the potatoes sold in Kroger Stores last year? This is equal to an area approximately the size of the City of Indianapolis.

The money that Kroger customers saved last year in silver dollars placed one on top of the other, would reach to a height of over 41 miles, 210 times higher than the Chrysler Building in New York, the world's tallest structure. Kroger customers in 1929 saved $28,993,983.33, as compared with the cost of the same kind of foods at the average grocery store in the United States. This figure is based on Food Price bulletins issued monthly by the U. S. Department of Labor.

SPORT COMMENT
by JAMES J. LONG

Man Mountain's Debut. Plaid Draws Big Gates.
Carnera in First Test. Offered Game on Coast.
Peterson Looks Easy. Thevenow Fights Jinx.

SOFT START PICKED FOR RING GIANT

TONIGHT will bring the first of a series of ring tests that will show either that Primo Carnera really is capable of fighting a lick or two or that the widely advertised man mountain is only a pugilistic mole hill. The giant Italian is scheduled to make his American debut in a 10-round engagement with Big Boy Peterson at Madison Square Garden in New York, and a vast army of doubting Thomases will await the outcome with much interest on the chance that it may shed some little light on the question as to whether or not the latest heavyweight importation has anything more than size to recommend him.

Primo Carnera

Not that tonight's results can be accepted as conclusive evidence. Far from it. That is, unless Peterson should emerge the winner. In that event Carnera might as well beat it back to Europe on the next boat. But such a happening isn't at all probable. Big Boy's record and rating are such as to indicate that the men interested in Primo's career in this country were careful to select a pretty soft spot for the colossus as a starting point.

THESE wily gents originally had something even softer picked out for the huge Italian's premiere here. Carl Carter, a Cuban tenth-rater, was to have been the sacrifice to assure Primo's getting off on the right foot. The New York Boxing Commission squelched that scheme in short order however by refusing to sanction the proposed bout, ruling it an uneven match.

It is hard to figure from what angle the same commission viewed the Carnera-Peterson meeting as being much more even, for if Italy's dreadnaught has any ability at all he ought to dispose of Big Boy very easily. The only opponent of any prominence at whose hands Peterson ever escaped defeat was Paulino Uzcudun, and it was a foul in the second round that gave him the verdict on that occasion.

AT other times the man who is to face Carnera has been beaten by such small-time heaters as Tiny Roebuck, Roberto Roberti, Tony Fuente, Ernie Schaaf, Babe Hunt and Jimmy Byrne. He has the size, standing 6 feet 5½ inches and weighing 195 pounds, but has never shown anything suggestive of real ability.

So there is little likelihood that tonight's affair will result otherwise than in a victory for Carnera. If he can't beat Peterson he can't beat anybody. Yet the bout ought to furnish a better line on his possibilities as a fighter than has any of the gymnasium stuff that he has been parading to date.

Jess Willard

LITTLE is known of Carnera's previous career beyond the fact that he won one fight in Europe from Young Stribling on a foul and lost another to the same opponent in the same way. His work here will afford a chance for an interesting study by reason of his colossal stature—he stands 6 feet 8½ inches and scales around 280 pounds—for it has been the history of the ring that success rarely falls to fighters of his gigantic type. Great height and weight have nearly always appeared to be a handicap rather than an advantage in a game that calls for speed, quickness and agility. The fate of such Gargantuan battlers as Charles Freeman, The Venetian, Ned O'Baldwin, Herr Placke, Ed Dunhorst and others is well known. The only giant ever to get anywhere was Jess Willard.

EVEN in a year when it was below normal in playing strength as attested by the fact that it lost three times and was tied once in a schedule of nine games, Carnegie Tech stood out again in 1929 as one of the best drawing cards in American football. The popularity of the Tartans as a gridiron attraction abroad as well as at home is reflected in the impressive record they made in the matter of attendance at their games.

According to the estimate of Clarence Overend, graduate manager of athletics at the Schenley Park School, the Scots played to the huge total of about 263,000 persons in their nine contests last season. That's an average of more than 29,000 to a game, a convincing bit of testimony that Carnegie Tech football stands very high in public favor.

THE largest crowd to see the Plaid in action was 62,000, turnstiled at the Notre Dame game here, the only time The Stadium has ever been filled in the five years of its existence. The Southern California event in Los Angeles drew 55,000, the Pitt clash 48,000, and the New York University contest in the metropolis 45,000.

One other number also drew an attendance running into five figures that being the W. & J. battle which attracted 23,000 to The Stadium. The patronage at the Bethany, Thiel, Western Reserve and Washington University games totaled about 20,000.

Clarence Overend

CARNEGIE TECH still is a strong football attraction on the Pacific Coast despite the sorry showings made by the three Eastern college elevens that invaded California at the end of last season. The fact that the Tartans were beaten 48 to 13 by Southern California on December 14 evidently did not cause the Plaid to lose any caste in the Far West. Graduate Manager Overend has received a "feeler" from the University of Santa Clara, a little California institution that has done big things in football in recent years, including the ruination of several of Pop Warner's seasons at Stanford. Santa Clara would like to play Carnegie in San Francisco on a November date next fall.

WITH the Skibo schedule already arranged, such a game, of course, would not be possible in 1930. Even if an open date were available, it would be difficult to make a trip of such distance at that time because of the considerable absence from classroom work that would be necessitated.

However, the Santa Clara proposition was none the less gratifying to the athletic authorities at Carnegie Tech, as it indicates that in spite of the Skibos' fall in California last season, as well as the defeats suffered by Pitt and the Army there, the Plaid's showing was sufficiently pleasing to coast fans to make a return visit desirable.

THE cancellation of the spring horse-racing meeting at Latonia means a marked change in the turf calendar, as this will be the first time in 47 years that there have been no races at that track in

AL WINKLER BEATEN

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 24.—Al Winkler, local lightweight, launched a comeback campaign last night, but proved no match for Eddie Reed, Philadelphia Negro, dropping an eight-round decision. Reed weighed 135 pounds and Winkler was four pounds heavier. Richie Martell, 141, this city, defeated Francis Culverson, 140, Oklahoma City, in the eight-round semi-final.

ALLEGHENY HIGH MEETS PERRY IN SECTION 2

Having failed to get past the obstacle set in its path to the championship of Section 1 in the City League by Schenley High on Tuesday, the South High passers return to the wars today, hopeful of regaining the winning string that was broken by the Schenley defeat at the expense of Fifth Avenue.

South provided the sensation of the early part of the title race by going undefeated in its first four games. Then came the meeting with Schenley and the South quintet was knocked into second place. Fifth, defending league champs, also defeated by the Bellefielders, will be very anxious to push the Washabaugh tribe further down the ladder in today's contest.

The program for the day includes three contests in each section. South and Fifth top the card in Section 1, with Schenley and Peabody meeting at Peabody and Westinghouse clashing with Ralston at Ralston.

PERRY, ALLEGHENY MEET

The Section 11 piece de resistance brings together the leading Perry five and the ambitious Allegheny quintet on the former's floor. The contest is the first of the week for the leaders, their game scheduled for Tuesday with Oliver having been setback until January 31.

To complete the card in division two, Oliver will play Allegheny Vocational and Langley will engage Carrick.

The W. P. I. A. L. offers a flock of banner attractions. The defending champs, Homestead, take on McKeesport on the home floor. Bill Campbell's team, while not as strong as in 1929, is making a strong bid to retain its title, and can come close to sewing up the Section VII title by beating the Tubers today.

Beaver Falls, tied for the lead in Section IV with Harding High of Aliquippa, meets Rochester, a dangerous oppenent. The Harding team entertains Monaca at home.

BELLEVUE PLAYS SEWICKLEY

Greensburg, strong Section X five, battles an old rival in Jeannette, while Scottdale, pressing the Lucksmen for the honors in the section, meets Connellsville.

Monongahela and Monessen tie up in a feature game in Section V, with South Brownsville taking on Charleroi in another banner attraction.

Bellevue, anxious to get into the title playoff again, and hoping for better success if the goal is reached than attended its efforts last year, meets Sewickley in Section II. Ambridge plays Avalon at Avalon and Ben Avon will test Ray Bucher's Leetsdalers at Leetsdale.

SCOTT TOPS RANKIN

Three W. P. I. A. L. basketball games where staged yesterday, Monessen High defeating Monongahela City, 24 to 12, in Section 5; Scott High, of North Braddock, defeating Rankin, 28 to 13, in Section 8, and Stowe downing Dormont, 39 to 24, in Section 9. Homestead High Juniors tripped Wilkinsburg Juniors, 24 to 22. The lineups:

YESTERDAY'S EXPLANATION: ADMIRAL FARRAGUT COMMANDED A SHIP WHEN HE WAS 12 YEARS OLD—David G. Farragut (1801-1870) was a warranted midshipman in 1810, when only nine years old. In 1813, when he was not quite 12 years old, he was made prize master of the "Barclay" and in that capacity displayed an ability extraordinary for his age. Ref., J. R. Spear's "David G. Farragut."

TOMORROW: THE MAN WHO MARRIED THE MOON.

PIRATES DRILL FOR BIG GAME TOMORROW

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Jan. 24.—Frank Frederickson, manager of the Pittsburgh Hockey Club, put his skaters through a long workout here today in preparation for their National League game with the Chicago Hawks, to be staged at the local arena tomorrow night. The Steel City puckmen came here from Ottawa, where they dropped a 7-4 decision to the Senators on Tuesday after holding the Canucks even until the middle of the final period.

Tomorrow's game will mark the first appearance of a Pittsburgh team here, but it will not be Atlantic City's first taste of National League hockey. The New York Rangers met the Ottawa sextet here on December 28, and a capacity crowd of some 12,000 thoroughly enjoyed the sport. Indications are that another big crowd will witness the Pirates-Hawks encounter.

HAWKS FAVORITES

The Windy City puckmen have been established as favorites in the betting because of their superior record. They have annexed three victories in three meetings with the Bucs this season, and they are not lacking in victory incentive in that the Rangers are giving them a real fight for second place in the American Group standings.

The Pittsburghers at present are aiming to snap a losing string of seven straight games, but in Harold Darragh and Hib Milks they boast two of the best performers in the league, and they are nobody's setup. Local fans also are eager to get a glimpse of Bud Jarvis, rookie star hailed as the "find of the season."

LEONARD TO SEE FRAY

Benny Leonard, retired undefeated lightweight boxing champion and owner of the Pittsburgh club, is to sit in the Pirates' box and will assist Frederickson in the directing of his team.

At the conclusion of the fray here, the Pirates will go to New York for a Sunday game with the Americans, and the Hawks will go to Ottawa, where they are to battle the Senators on Tuesday.

CHARLEY HYATT GREATEST STAR —CARLSON

By JESS CARVER.

I sat in the Pitt dressing room yesterday, half an hour or so before practice time, and before any of the athletes had put in their appearance. Dr. Cliff Carlson, coach of the Panther basketeers, was fiddling around the room, expounding a new theory of play which he intends to try against Tech tonight. We were talking about basketball in general and suddenly, almost without warning, Dr. Carlson gave me the story I am setting forth here, his story of which never before has been told.

Dr. Carlson.

"Charley Hyatt is the greatest basketball player I ever have seen," the Doctor began. "I hesitated for a long time before saying this, but after four years of association with that kid, watching him under all sorts of conditions, seeing him stack up against the best college players in the land, I'm completely sold. Hyatt is great, as far as I'm concerned, the greatest ever."

CAN DO ANYTHING

"Charley can do anything, everything. I used to think that he gave the ball away a bit too often, but then he gets it back as often, if not more than he gives it away. You know the sort of a shot he is—deadly. He'd be valuable to any ball club if he never scored a point, because he is always a threat. A certain coach, I won't tell you his name, told me that he could get his team keyed up for any game except the one with Pitt, and that Hyatt is the reason."

"I've watched basketball for 20 years, seen the best college and professional stars of two decades, and I think Hyatt is the best of 'em all. I'm not kidding you when I say that he is responsible for my success, for the reason that in addition to being a great player, he can adapt himself to my system and still retain his own individual superiority. He works with the rest of the team as a cog, though when the going gets too tough, I know that I can depend on him to take matters into his own hands."

KEEPS STYLE

"We've never had any trouble. He doesn't ask any favors, he turns out for practice and he does as he is told. I haven't tried to change his style: You wouldn't ask Babe Ruth to swing right handed, would you?"

Suddenly Doc hopped up from the bench on which he had been sitting.

"I'm talking too much," he exclaimed, "but it is about time. Hyatt never will get all the credit he deserves, because you know the higher you get in this old life, the more they want to cut you down. I'm for Charley, hook, line and sinker, and I'll argue the shirt off anyone who doesn't think Charley is the greatest basketball player ever."

Goldberg Shoots Snappy 146 to Win By 1 Up

PALM BEACH, Fla., Jan. 24.—Believe it or not—Rube Goldberg has won a golf match. The inventive cartoonist had to stage a special match in the annual championship tournament of the Artists and Writers Golf Association in order to achieve his goal—but he did it after scouring the entire association for a worse golfer than the Rube is—or, at least, has been in this tournament.

Goldberg took on Syd L. Hydeman in a challenge match yesterday, each starting with a limit handicap of 35 strokes. So it actually was a scratch affair. Strokes meant nothing to this pair, anyhow. They proved it by their cards.

Goldberg, had a snappy 75-71—146, for the 18 holes, while Hydeman's card—when it finally was pieced together—revealed a natty 76-78—154. Goldberg triumphed by 1 up.

LOCAL RIVALS IN SECOND TILT TONIGHT

Carnegie Tech invades the chilly Stadium pavilion tonight for the second contest of the annual three-game series with the Pitt Panthers. The Tartans, with a seven-game losing streak, and without a single victory over a district opponent hardly figure to check the unbeaten Panthers this evening.

At the same time, Coach Paul Hogan, mentor of the Plaid, hopes to have his team at its peak. The Skibos forced Geneva, one of the favorites in the Tri-State Conference race, to go into two extra periods to slide out a victory on Tuesday. Against the Panthers two weeks ago, the Tartans put up a great game, and forced the Blue and Gold regulars to go at top speed to win out by a 6-point margin.

OUT TO COP TWELFTH

Pitt will be out to make it 12 in a row for the season, and two straight over Tech. Coach Carlson has developed a new style of play, which favors the flashy side, which he intends to try against the Plaid. The probable lineups:

Pitt		Carnegie Tech
Behrens	F	(C) Noss
Hyatt (C)	F	Webster
L. Cohen	C	Merton
Attaya	G	Schumacher
W. Kowalik	G	High

Only one other district college five will see action tonight, St. Francis opening a trip through the northern part of the sector by taking on the Youngstown Y. M. C. A. five at Youngstown.

OTHER TEAMS WORK

The Dukes, West Virginia, Geneva, W. Va. Wesleyan, Westminster and Bethany are prepping for important clashes booked for tomorrow. The Dukes meet Thiel in a Conference clash at Greenville and hope to catch the Lutherans on the rebound after their upset victory over Grove City.

West Virginia and Wesleyan play a return game in Buckhannon. Geneva goes to Cleveland for a tussle with John Carroll and Bethany and Westminster hook up in the most important tussle of the evening at Bethany. The leadership of the Conference will be at stake in this game.

WAYNESBURG LOSES

CALIFORNIA, Pa., Jan. 24.—California Teachers won their second victory of the season over Waynesburg College here last night by a 40-39 score after a long mixup following the game when the official scorebooks and the public score card failed to tally. The Jackets were winners by a one-point margin, according to the public board, but a close check-up which required five minutes' time after the final

LOGAN WEBSTER

Webster, sophomore member of the Carnegie Tech quintet, is one of the most versatile players on the squad. He performs at forward, center and guard as the occasion demands. Coach Hogan has been using him regularly at one of the forwards. His goal in the closing seconds of the Geneva game enabled the Tartans to carry the Covennanters into extra periods.

BRANNON STOPS JOHNSON; COFFMAN WINS

BATTLING GIZZY COPS; SOLMEN DEFEATED

Three of the four bouts last night at the Palisades, McKeesport, including one of the headliners, ended before the prescribed limit, two of the knockouts being of a technical nature.

Eddie Brannon, dynamic little Negro fighter of the Hill district, was credited with a technical knockout over Tiny Johnson, of Syracuse, N. Y., a substitute, when Referee Al Grayber ended hostilities after two minutes and 28 seconds of fighting in the sixth round, claiming that Johnson was in no shape to continue.

GIVEN BODY BEATING

Brannon administered a severe body trimming to Johnson, beginning his weakening attack in the second round and continuing unmercifully until the Syracuse Italian plainly showed the effects of the hefty wallops of the Pittsburgher. Once or twice Brannon landed low blows on Johnson, and once, in the fifth round, the New Yorker tried to claim a foul, going down, but Referee Grayber refused to allow it and started to count. Johnson arose at the count of two and continued fighting, but showed signs of weakening.

Johnson's best round was the first, when he shook Brannon several times with an accurate left hook to the stomach and head, but he slowed down after the opening session and was an easy target for Eddie's two-fisted attack. Johnson weighed 135¼, while Brannon scaled 136.

COFFMAN TOPS GANS

In the other 10-rounder, Joe Coffman, smiling Buffalo slugger, got the official decision over California Joe Gans, of Gary, Ind. Jock Sinico, one of the judges, voted a draw, while Frank (Bull) Brown and Referee Grayber cast their ballots in favor of Coffman.

The bout was a good one all the way, with Coffman showing unmistakable superiority over his Negro foe. He landed the harder and cleaner blows and once, in the second round, had Gans on the verge of a kayo, but was unable to put over the finishing wallop. Coffman was credited with six rounds, Gans two, while two were even. Coffman weighed 139¾, and Gans 138.

NOVAK STOPS MUNN

Frank Novak, former North Side amateur heavyweight, made his professional debut in an auspicious manner, stopping Sailor Munn, of McKeesport, in 40 seconds of fighting. Munn took a left jab to the nose and a couple of punches to the body and sank to the floor in a neutral corner, taking the full count. Novak looked good during the short time he was in the ring. He weighed 187, against 174 for Munn.

Eddie Guba, of Clairton, stopped Hughey Gallagher, of Swissvale, a last-minute substitute, in the third round of their opening bout. Gallagher, out of condition, went down for a count of nine before dropping for the second time, after which the towel came fluttering from his corner as a token of defeat. He weighed 137, while Guba tipped the beam at 136¼.

GIZZY BEATS SMALLWOOD

NEW BRIGHTON, Pa., Jan. 24.—Battling Gizzy, of Pittsburgh, won a sizzling 10-round fight here last night from Chet Smallwood, Akron southpaw. A packed pavilion was treated to a real battle as the boys mixed freely. The officials were split, with one judge voting a draw, one favoring Smallwood and Referee Joe Keally giving the decision to Gizzy.

Nick Polis, Aliquippa, won over Harry Spencer, Pittsburgh, in the six round semi-final. Charley Tarzan, Rochester, looked impressive in winning from Steve Pollock, of the Marines. Willie Johnston, of Beaver Falls, defeated Harry Miller, of McKeesport, Referee Keally halting the fight in the second round, and Eddie Todd, Aliquippa police sergeant, won in four rounds of heavyweight milling with Warren Farrow, of New Castle.

SOLMEN LOSES

JOHNSTOWN, Jan. 24.—(AP.)—Al Trainor, of Philadelphia, won a decision over Mickey Solmen, of New Castle, in a 10-round bout here last night. Trainor weighed 152 pounds and Solmen 153.

Mike Hogan, 143, of Pittsburgh, won by a technical knockout from Billy Palm, 134, of Johnstown, in the second round of the scheduled six-round semi-final. Jimmy Dontella, 128, of Bakerstown, won by a technical knockout over Matty Siehl, 132, of Johnstown, in the fourth round.

Walter Livingston, of Johnstown, 128, won a decision in six rounds over Joe Richer, of Dunlo, 140, in the opener.

EDWARDS TOPS CANNAL

EAST LIVERPOOL, Jan. 24.—Freddie Edwards, of Chester, W. Va., won an eight-round decision over Cowboy Joe Cannal, of Youngstown, in a rough main bout here last night. Cannal was down for a five count in the first round and again for a nine-count in the sixth, but weathered the storms. They are welterweights.

Ross Fields, of Weirton, won from Young Sapienza, Zelienople, on a technical knockout in the first round, the loser suffering a bad gash over his left eye as the two collided in midring.

Duke Yearling Floor Call Draws Out 18

Practice was held by the first freshman basketball squad in Duquesne University history yesterday when 10 additional men reported to Coach Chick Davies in answer to a call for candidates, giving the Duke floor mentor a total of 18 yearling passers. Davies will handle both the varsity and the freshman cage teams, at least temporarily.

Coach Davies was pleased with the response yesterday.

MAXIE STRUB — JOEY GOODMAN

Strub, hailing from Erie, and Goodman, from Cleveland, box the 10-round windup at the Moose Temple tonight in the show transferred to the downtown arena after the Coliseum was ordered closed. Both finished up their training at Flynn's gym yesterday and posed for the above photograph at the end of their grind. They worked out at different hours.

STRUB BOXES GOODMAN TONIGHT

By HARRY KECK,
Sports Editor.

A young boxer who scored a knockout in his only other appearance here and is matched to box the champion of the world in his division in his next bout after he leaves here is one of the principals in the 10-round main bout of Promoter Francis Flynn's card at the Moose Temple tonight. The youngster is Joey Goodman, a Jewish lad, who broke into the ring game as a kid in short pants in Baltimore in the days when Joe Dundee was going on to the welterweight championship. He meets Maxie Strub, tall, lean German star, of Erie.

The pair will be clashing for the second time. In their first bout, at Cleveland, last fall, Goodman, a hard puncher, found himself sadly outboxed in the early rounds, due somewhat to Strub's advantage in height and reach, but he came on to floor Maxie for a count of nine and wind up the battle in fast style to gain a draw.

Both Strub and Goodman finished their training at Flynn's gymnasium yesterday. Maxie has been here ever since Tuesday, coming from Wheeling, where he knocked out Ray Collins last Monday night. Goodman got in yesterday morning. A packed gym saw the pair go through their paces in the gym. Strub, starting work at 2 o'clock, boxed two rounds each with Tug Phillips and Joe Corelli and floored the latter twice, while Goodman, going on an hour later, put on a spirited session with his manager, Jimmy Dunn, who "caught" punches from his protege. This is quite a trick and went over big with the onlookers.

Dunn, who piloted Johnny Kilbane to the featherweight championship, is one of the few managers who drill with their boxers on the gym floor. He has championship aspirations for Goodman, who meets Sammy Mandell, lightweight ruler, in a non-titular match in the Cleveland Public Auditorium on the night of February 3. Local fans know that Joey can box and punch, for they saw him stop Herman Perlick at Motor Square Garden last October.

Strub's record lists an almost unbroken string of successes since he first donned the gloves, and he is recognized as one of the best men of his weight in the business. This is his first showing in Pittsburgh.

An exceptionally good preliminary card rounds out tonight's bill. Howard Mayberry, clever veteran, of Donora, boxes Jack DeNeri, of the North Side, and formerly of Cleveland, in the semi-final. Georgie Bretsch, of the North Side, and Freddie Boylstein, of Kittanning, are in the second bout, and Frankie Portland, of Ambridge, who stopped Bob Collura his last time out, in the same ring, opposes Jackie Griffiths, of the Hill, in the opener.

MISS ANN WOLFERD — LLOYD WANER — MISS MARC[illegible]T HILL

Smiles from Bother Lloyd Waner have been few and far between since last Monday morning, when the Pirate star underwent an operation for appendicitis at the Presbyterian Hospital, but he was almost free of pain and the sun streamed into his room today as the photogr[illegible]her paid him a visit. He is shown joshing with his nurses as the picture was taken. "I'm glad I have only one appendix to give the doctors," he said. Miss Hill is his head nurse, Miss Wolferd being the assistant.

DREYFUSS OFF FOR SOUTH

By CHARLES J. DOYLE.

President Barney Dreyfuss of the Pirates, accompanied by Mrs. Dreyfuss, left Pittsburgh today for Florida where they will stay for an indefinite period. The prime object of the visit has to do with the health of the Buccaneer owner. Shortly after the close of the last baseball season, the Pittsburgh magnate became very ill. He is feeling much better now but he thinks the jaunt to the Southland will bring benefits.

Barney Dreyfuss

While the owner of the club is away, the important matters pertaining to the welfare of the Pirates will be handled by Manager Jewel Ens and Treasurer Sam Dreyfuss, with Secretary Sam Watters in his customary post of secretary.

GRIMES UNSIGNED

One of the most significant matters which must be met soon has to do with Burleigh Grimes, star pitcher of the Freebooters. The spitball veteran has not yet signed his contract. He is said to be seeking a big increase, although he is known to be the highest-salaried athlete on the Dreyfussian payroll.

Ens and Dreyfuss, junior, apparently will have full power to deal with the star pitcher. Burleigh was in Pittsburgh before Christmas, but he did not talk contract and little has been heard of him since he returned to his Wisconsin home. It may be, however, that the local office has negotiated with the player.

MANY IN FOLD

Officials of the club point out that most of the players are signed. They do not care to go into detail on the unsigned performers other than to say they expect all players on the roster to be in the fold before the date of departure to the Paso Robles camp.

LLOYD WANER OUT OF PAIN

Lloyd Waner, of the Pirates, today appeared to be enjoying the best time he has had since he entered the Presbyterian Hospital. The wee centerfielder underwent an operation for appendicitis last Monday morning, and for several days thereafter he suffered much pain.

Lloyd had a restful period last night, and today his face was wreathed in smiles as he talked with a few of his friends. His physician is pleased with his condition.

First Derby Trial To Be Run March 1

The Derby Trial Handicap, a $5,000 added feature to be decided March 1 at the Fair Grounds in New Orleans, is the first important 3-year-old event of the year, leading up to the Kentucky Derby of 1930.

Long's Sport Comment

the early part of the year. After the Churchill Downs dates there will be no racing in Kentucky until Latonia opens late in June.

The prospect of unfavorable weather is given as the reason for the change by Col. Matt J. Winn, Latonia manager, but it may or may not be significant that the change in Kentucky dates will mean a spring shipment of horses to Chicago, and a consequent improvement in the racing situation there. Col. Winn happens to be manager in Chicago also.

Tommy Thevenow

MOST other ball players would have been put down and out by the numerous physical ills and injuries suffered by Tommy Thevenow, the Phillies' shortstop, but that player keeps on fighting in the face of his persistent jinx. Since the close of the 1929 season Thevenow has undergone two operations, following the series performed on him after an automobile accident last spring, yet he doesn't show a sign of being downhearted. "I feel better already," he is quoted, "and when I get out of the hospital I'll go home and rest before starting training. By the time spring rolls around I feel sure I'll be as sound as ever, even though the breaks seem to be against me now. The Phils will be a factor next season, and I am doubly eager to be fit when the time for the test comes. Old Alex will surprise some of the boys. We are going to be up there and I hope I can help."

Between Rounds

Primo Carnera will have an edge of almost 75 pounds over Big Boy Peterson when they battle in Madison Square Garden, New York, tonight, and Peterson is only a second or third-rate heavyweight, but that doesn't mean much. Carnera was an overnight dud against Young Stribling and Peterson also may show him up.

Larry Johnson boxes Fred Lenhart and Add Warren meets Ora (Buck) Weaver in two 10-round preliminaries to the Peterson-Carnera bout. Dick Grimme, of McKeesport, is in with K. O. Bill Dugan for six rounds and (get a load of this) Abraham Calahan (Arabia) takes on Jack Lewellyn for four rounds.

Willie Davies and Steve Hamm meet in their crucial return battle in the Canadian flyweight tournament at Toronto tonight. Willie has been on the scene training for several days. Their first bout was declared "no contest" when Willie fell or was pushed out of the ring and injured so badly that he could not continue. Hamm is a tough baby and Willie figures to have his hands full with him tonight. The winner gets either Midget Wolgast or Frankie Genaro in the tourney final.

AMATEURS AT AVALON

Amateur bouts are scheduled in Avalon Borough Hall tonight under the auspices of the North Boroughs Post of the American Legion.

Tony Herrera, popular Mexican lightweight, who recently knocked out Tommy Crawley in the first round at Motor Square Garden, meets Jackie Pilkington, of New York, in a return bout on the Jackie Fields-Vincent Dundee lightweight match card in the Chicago Coliseum tonight. Pilkington defeated Herrera a few months ago in a bout in Chicago in which Herrera broke both hands, necessitating a long layoff.

Joe Trippe, who meets Sergt. Sammy Baker in a return bout at Motor Square Garden, February 3, goes against Johnny Goodrich at Buffalo tonight in their bout postponed from last Monday night. Other bouts carded tonight include: Carmen Sapienza vs. Marty Cutino, 10 rounds, Philadelphia; Johnny Friel vs. Jack Gibbons, Ray Collins vs. Eddie Kaufmann, Henry Andrews vs. Jack Simmons, Frank Bukovski vs. Nick Severo and Matty Ozzard vs. Joe Schlaef, six rounds each, Erie; Benny Touchstone vs. Frankie Wine, 10 rounds, Tampa, Fla.; Jim Maloney vs. Armand Emanuel, 10 rounds, Detroit, and Dave Shade vs. Joe Rocha, 10 rounds, San Francisco.

Irish Kane has turned over the management of Jack DeNeri, his featherweight, to Jimmy Conrad, but will continue to train DeNeri for his battles.

Bushy Graham and Freddie Miller box in Cincinnati Monday night. Bushy ran out of an earlier match there with the Ohio star.

The Motor Square Garden Club has not yet lined up an opponent for Jackie Rodgers for February 10. Eugene Hunt is out and negotiations are under way with Vidal Gregorio.

Mickey Solmen and Gene Moretti have been matched to box the main bout at McKeesport Thursday night.

Fight Results

At McKeesport—Eddie Brannon knocked out (technical) Tiny Johnson, 6 rounds; Joe Coffman defeated (California Joe Gans, 10 rounds; Frank Novak knocked out Sailor Munn, 1 round; Eddie Guba knocked out (technical) Hughey Gallagher, 3 rounds.

SARAZEN VICTOR IN AGUA CALIENTE OPEN

GENE REGISTERS 295 TO WIN $10,000

AGUA CALIENTE, Lower California, Mexico, Jan. 24.—(AP.)—Ten thousand dollars was pocketed by Gene Sarazen of New York last night for four days of golf here. It was the biggest money purse ever offered in tournament play. He galloped into leadership of the Agua Caliente open just like he broke into fame in 1922.

Coming from behind he established the course record here with a 68, but instead of just taking a one-stroke lead like he did in the 1922 National open from Bobby Jones and John Black at Skokie today he passed up Horton Smith, of Joplin, Mo., and Al Espinosa, of Chicago, by two strokes.

BIG PRIZES AWARDED

Payoff last night was like the eternal hopes of those who crowd the gaming tables, for winnings come high. Look the figures over:

Gene Sarazen, New York, $10,000, score 295.

Horton Smith, Joplin, Mo., $3,750, score 297.

Al Espinosa, Chicago, $3,750, score 297.

Olin Dutra, Santa Monica, $1,250, score 298.

Mortie Dutra, Tacoma, Wash., $1,250, score 298.

MacDonald Smith, Long Island, N. Y., $750, score 299.

Al Watreus, Detroit, $650, score 300.

Joe Kirkwood, Philadelphia, $550, score 301.

Henry Ciuci, Bridgeport, Conn., $450, score 302.

Bobby Cruickshank, New York, $375, score 304.

Charles Guest, Los Angeles, $375, score 304.

Paul Runyon, Little Rock, Ark., $225, score 305.

John Farrell, St. Augustine, Fla., $225, score 305.

Harold Long, Denver, $200, score 306.

Harry Cooper, Buffalo, N. Y., $200, score 306.

Neil Christian, Portland, Ore., $200, score 306.

Leo Deigel, Agua Caliente, $200, score 306.

Abe Espinosa, Chicago, $200, score 306.

Neil McIntyre, Indianapolis, $100, score 307.

John Golden, Paterson, N. J., $100, score 307.

Walter Murray, Gary, Ind., $100, score 307.

Ed Dudley, Wilmington, Del., $100, score 307.

GENE SCORES 68

That's what some people get for playing golf. And, of course, there are those who feel like many others in this salubrious Mexican climate, that Dame Luck has just turned against them. Take Walter Hagen, for instance. He came here with the record of 580 won in tournament play this year, and failed to change that record. And there were others, too, as the final list of standings appended hereto reveals.

Here is the way the stocky little winner of the biggest prize ever offered came in yesterday, to collect his $10,000:

Par out	4	5	3	4	4	4	5	3	5	37
Sarazen	4	5	3	4	4	4	4	3	5	36
Par in	4	5	3	4	4	5	4	3	5	37—74
Sarazen	4	5	3	4	4	3	4	4	5	36—72

Five golfers had total scores of 288, just outside of the prize money class. They were Jim Foulis, Chicago; Phil Hart, Wheeling, W. Va.; Bill Mehlhorn, New York; Walter Hagen, Detroit, and Billy Burke, New York.

The card of Denny Shute, Columbus pro, winner of the recent Los Angeles open, totaled 309.

AUGIE TRAILS

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—(AP.)—Welker Cochran took the lead, 400 to 382, in his special three-cushion match with Augie Kiechhefer here yesterday.

TWO FREEMANS LOSE

CHICAGO, Jan. 24.—(AP.)—King Levinsky, Chicago light-heavyweight, outpointed Johnny Freeman, of Buffalo, N. Y., in the eight-round final bout here last night. Chuck Hoffner, Denver brother middleweight, outpointed Chip Freeman, brother of Johnny, in eight rounds.

RED SOX GET BATTERY

BOSTON, Jan. 24.—(AP.)—The Boston Red Sox today announced the signing of Felix Newyear, of Christopher, Ill., a right-handed pitcher and Omar Fowlkes, a catcher from Oakland City, Ind. Both players were recommended by scout Pat Monahan.

How to Play Basketball

What is the correct method of receiving a ball?

Answered by
J. E. McCUTCHEON
Basketball Coach, University of Toronto, Canadian National Champion

A ball must be received cleanly so that no time is lost in returning the pass. Fumbling is costly and inexcusable. In receiving a pass the fingers and thumbs should be well spread, the hands parallel, with the palms toward each other. The hands should be slightly cupped so that the heel of the hands take the brunt of the force when the ball enters the hands. The arms should be bent slightly at the elbows so that they give slightly with the ball. Care should be taken that the stance allows a proper balance. The feet should be so placed that the player can receive a pass and deliver without wasting time, and so that the body is free to move in all directions. Place the feet about 20 inches apart, one slightly behind the other with the weight resting evenly on the balls of the feet with the body bent slightly forward at the waist.

Forbes

Readers Give Glimpses Into Public Opinion.

By B. C. FORBES

IT takes all kinds to make the world, including you and me, most of us live in a groove; we do about the same thing every day, we cover pretty much the same ground every day, we see mostly the same people every day, we do largely the same kind of reading every day. Thus our thoughts incline to become more or less the same every day. We create a little world of our own—or have it created for us by circumstances. And we live in this little world, in a rut.

Well is it for us to get out of it once in a while, at least in thought if we can't do it physically.

Contact with different minds serves towards this end. Therefore, what follows may stimulate and interest you.

ONE reader of this column, who describes herself "as a young woman too sentimental for a world of 'practical business men,' writes in part:

"I am curious to know what satisfaction men get out of the knowledge that they are powerful? I'd say they were a bunch of conceited jackasses who care nothing about humanity. Outside of Henry Ford and Thomas Edison, every last one of the so-called big men are pure and simple gluttons. Why should so many workers be compelled to suffer losses created in stock gambling by captains of industry? You, of course, know nothing about the pinch of poverty, except through observation, but why don't you advise those big financial wizards to stop throwing money away on foolish luxuries and distribute the money among workers unable to get even the most modest of homes?"

ANOTHER recent letter said: "A distant relative of mine was laid off at the—plant because they have discharged all employes over 50, regardless of how long they have been working there. I will not buy any of their products any more, and shall tell all my friends about this."

I sent that letter to the president of the very large company named, and here is the gist of his reply:

"The writer of the letter is ridiculously informed. We have never discharged an employe on account of his age, and we have many working for us who are 70 and even older. We do have a pension plan for retiring men between 60 and 70, based on the number of years they have been in active service. It is true that we have some restrictions on employing men over 45 who have never worked for us, but this is largely to protect those who have been with us for some time, and enable them to retain their jobs as long as they are able to work."

That should straighten that out.

COMMENTING on the suggestion recently made in this column that rather than discharge employes, it would be preferable to follow the steel industry's example of spreading the work among all the men, so that the total wages paid out would benefit as large a number of families as possible, one reader writes:

"Does it never occur to you how funny you are? I have 30 employes. You never had any, but know just what to do when business gets poor. I lay off men who never gave satisfaction and keep the old faithful hands. You would keep the loafers and cut all down equally! You give me a pain."

Showing how two minds can differ totally about the same simple problem.

ANOTHER reader takes me to task "for never touching on the fact that good business for the big mail order and chain stores means poor business for the independent merchant," and adds:

"The tire companies are opening retail service stations because they have sold mail order houses at a figure that would put their dealers out of business, and now the big tire companies are cutting each other's throats—the small dealers' throats having been previously cut from ear to ear, with few exceptions."

A HOUSEWIFE challenges what was said in this column about the cost of living having been creeping downwards, according to the statistics. She adds:

"Such articles as silver, rubber, automobiles, zinc, etc., are not at all digestible. How about boiled ham, which was 25 to 30 cents a pound in 1912 and now 90 cents to $1? Sirloin steak formerly was 25 cents, today 65 to 75 cents. Lamb chops were 25 to 30 cents and now 60 to 65 cents. I bought the very best liver at 12 to 15 cents a pound, today 35 cents. Milk was formerly 6 cents a quart, now 18 cents. Cream was 8 cents for a half-pint, now it is 16 cents. Bread was 5 or 6 cents a loaf, today 8 to 10 cents.

"You should secure some real good housewife to give information before you attempt to write on a subject which gentlemen are not posted on. Employers might say that, if living has come down we can lower wages. You should modify what you said."

THAT should be sufficient to jolt some of us out of our narrow mental ruts.

New Activity in Group Banks Checked by Stock Market Crash Resumed

By MERRYLE STANLEY RUKEYSER.

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—The dynamic American spirit of restless energy and enterprise will reassert itself in the business and financial world as soon as the sores resulting from the Wall street panic are healed.

Any intelligent reading of the business annals of this country inevitably leads to the conclusion that growth and progress are normal developments in American business, and setbacks are merely temporary, short lived interruptions. The attention of business men and investors is focussed on signs of an upward turn in trade after months of recession. President Hoover stirred hopefulness in directing the public mind to the improvement in employment statistics, prepared by the Department of Labor. It is of course too early to be certain whether the rally in the demand for men is a flurry or evidence of permanent improvement in the economic outlook.

There are in addition subsurface signs that broader plans, which were checked by the panic, are gradually being resumed. For example, before the late October-early November debacle, there was a nationwide surge toward group banking. The impulse was temporarily paralyzed and completely checked when bank stocks crashed downward as part of the general security deflation. It is significant that new activities in the direction of group banking have been resumed in various parts of the country.

NEW BANK GROUPS

T. R. Preston, ex-president of the American Bankers' Association and president of the Hamilton National Bank, of Chattanooga, has launched a new group in his territory under the name of Hamilton Associates.

Another important group is forming in the Southeast under the aegis of the First National Bank of Atlanta.

In South Carolina, R. Goodwin Rhett, of Charleston, is forming a group.

One of the largest new groups is being formed around the National Bank of the Republic, of Chicago. George Woodruff, the guiding spirit, will head the National Republic Bank Corporation, which will dominate 12 banks and security companies, with aggregate resources of $250,000,000. Eventually the new company may take over banks outside of Chicago. The group setup overcomes the inhibition in Illinois against even intracity branch banking.

Another bank group is being launched in Ohio by leading financiers in Columbus.

ENLARGE SCOPE

Moreover, some of the older groups recently have been enlarging the scope of their activities. The Northwest Bancorporation, of Minneapolis, has been adding new units. It now dominates 87 banks, with aggregate resources of $474,000,000. E. W. Decker is the outstanding figure in this group. Another powerful agency for group banking in the Northwest is the Wisconsin Bank Shares Corporation, of Milwaukee, headed by Walter Kasten. It has 13 affiliated banks.

J. W. Pole, comptroller of the currency, though in sympathy with the desire of banks to coalesce in larger units, opposes group banking through a holding company, and advocates an extension of the principle of branch banking, extending the right to establish branches throughout a Federal Reserve district. Secretary Mellon takes a less dogmatic view, and favors further study and investigation of this important new trend in banking. It is understood that Roy A. Young, governor of the Federal Reserve Board, agrees with Mr. Mellon rather than with Mr. Pole in this matter. Louis F. McFadden, chairman of the House Committee on Banking and Currency, is planning to summon leading banking authorities in and out of the government service to get their views and recommendations concerning the bank of the future.

Senator Carter Glass has introduced a resolution in the Senate for an investigation of the workings of the Federal Reserve system.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—Bonds showed familiar inactivity today and prices of most issues in the higher grades were virtually stationary. Early transactions brought out a few of the wide fluctuations characteristic of a thin market, but for the most part the entire list appeared fairly well stabilized at its recent levels. Time money was firm.

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—(AP.)—Transactions in the most active bonds on the New York Stock Exchange today were as follows, 000 omitted in sales column (United States bonds in dollars and thirty-seconds of dollars):

PROFIT TAKING HALTS STOCK RECOVERY

Selling Impedes Upswing After Scores of Shares Advance 1 to 9 Points

NEW YORK, Jan. 24 — (AP.) — Heavy week-end profit-taking and a renewal of short selling impeded the recovery of stock prices today after scores of issues had been marked up 1 to nearly 9 points in the early trading. The early afternoon selling movement carried several issues 1 to 4 points below their earlier high levels. Trading showed a marked expansion in volume, sales in the first two hours running more than half a million shares above those of the same period yesterday.

The improvement in speculative sentiment was reflected in the more cheerful advices of the leading commission houses, and the large increase in the number of buying recommendations. Some observers, however, called attention to the fact that the sharp reduction in the short interest in many issues had impaired the market's technical position.

STEEL MARKED UP

The excellent showing made by the Bethlehem Steel Corporation last year aroused hopes of an even more favorable report by the United States Steel Corporation after the close of the directors' meeting next Tuesday. Steel common was marked up 2½ points to 177½, but ran into some realizing around that figure and yielded about a point. Bethlehem crossed par for a gain of more than 2 points.

General Electric (old stock) jumped 8½ points. Atlas Powder and Warren Bros. each sold 6½ points higher. J. I. Case extended its gain to 5½ points and Brooklyn Union Gas, Advanace Rumely common and preferred, Eastman Kodak, Jersey Central, Otis Elevator, United States Industrial Alcohol, Auburn Auto, Columbian Carbon, Westinghouse Electric and Western Union were among the many issues to sell 3 to 5 points higher.

There were still a few soft spots scattered throughout the list. American Beet Sugar, Foundation Company and National Biscuit (old stock) dropped 2 to 2½ points.

FOX SEE-SAWS

Fox Film, which was the spectacular feature in yesterday's market, sold off 2¼ points to 25½, rallied to 29¾, broke to 24½, and then crossed 26 again. William Fox has been ordered to show cause Monday afternoon why the application of minority stockholders for a receivership should not be granted.

Call money again dropped from 4½ to 4 per cent. The Chicago Federal Reserve Bank announced no change in its 4½ per cent rediscount rate.

WEST PENN CUP FINAL GAME TOMORROW

By TOM BIRKS

With the soccer ticket of the season scheduled for tomorrow afternoon at the Westinghouse High School stadium, where the German Sport Club and the Gallatin team flash their stuff, officials of the West Penn Football Association responsible for the staging of the game are looking for a banner crowd.

The cup tilts always was the big thing in soccer circles and many years was played on New Year's Day, as this was a logical time to pull off the game to draw a crowd. However, with the demise of the Gallatin Sport Club this year involved, there is reason to feel one of the greatest battles ever staged in the final of the West Penn will be served for the fans.

Gallatin has a great team and so have the Germans. Fans may argue that the teams are not in a par with the finalists of other years, but this like other questions, is open to debate.

Many famous clubs have inscribed their names on the West Penn trophy. Heidelberg, Arden, Turgeon, Victory Hill, Donley, Morgan, Coddy, Braddock Homestead Steel are names veteran soccer men in this district recall with pride. Braddock perhaps was the greatest of them all and what a team that was, from Bobby Boyle in goal down to Jimmy McHenry, Sammy Shearer and Lowther.

When Homestead Steel was in its heyday and Arden had its wonderful Brady, Japp and Rookie combination what soccer thrills flashed in West Penn Cup games!

Then came Heidelberg with its strictly amateur outfit including O'Donnell, Buff, Donnell and Joe Hagan, all famous players. This game tomorrow will flash players like Sickles, Murphy, Reisenbacker and Frey, all players more than the average skill and the game will be called at 3 p. m. and be preceded by the playing of the Cameron Cup final at 1:30.

Plans for the second annual dinner of the local chapter, Baseball Writers' Association of America, to be held February 6 at the William Penn Hotel, have progressed to such an extent that the committees are quite convinced that the event will be the equal of the brilliant affair of last year when 300 dinners were inaugurated.

John L. Hernon, secretary-treasurer of the local chapter, stated today that requests for table and seat reservations have been unusually good. Hernon and his associates are confident that the demand for places will be so heavy that Pirate Hall, where the affair will be staged, will be well filled.

All those desiring reservations should get in touch with Hernon. He can be reached by mail by sending in the requests to John L. Hernon, Box 218, Pittsburgh.

Harry Keck, sports editor of the Sun-Telegraph, who is chairman of the entertainment committee, reports many novel features.

Iowa Grid Card For '30 Completed

The campaign will open September 27, with Bradley Tech, of Peoria, Ill., as the initial contestant. On October 4 the Oklahoma Aggies will play here. The first of the intersectional attractions will be the Centenary College of Louisiana, here on October 11, to be followed by another October 18 when George Washington University, of Washington, D. C., plays here.

Iowa will be idle on October 25 before breaking into a list of four tough battles, the Hawkeyes will meet the University of Detroit, at Detroit November 1, and will go to Milwaukee the next Saturday to meet Marquette University. SIANOS CLASH WITH CHAMPS TONIGHT

By JULIUS LEVIN

The Sianos will make a determined attempt to cause a triple deadlock for first place in the Allegheny County League tonight when they meet the Duquesne Lafayettes at the South Side Market House. The Goldensons and Homestead Ackermans are right at the heels of the Duquesne Lafayettes and the Sianos can mess up matters considerably by taking a fall out of Ed Minnick's Scalici Hurricane.

The contest brings together two natural rivals and should attract a large crowd to the Market House. The Lafayettes need one more victory to sew up the first-half championship.

Next week the Sianos will enter the County League second-half race under a new name, having agreed to play for John J. Verona.

Dribbles

Henry Rose, coach at Hill Top Y. M. H. A., announces that the game scheduled for Saturday night with the Greater Pittsburgh Institution has been called off.

The Carnegie Institute composed of members of regular and substitute staff will play games at Sharpsburg and Aspinwall this afternoon. Carnegie Tech's basketball star to be, Bill Hunt, will be in the second half of the Aspinwall game.

St. Joseph's Lyceum will be out to add another victory to its string of wins when it meets the Calvert Club at Mellon Orphans' Avenue floor. The St. Josephites will take with them 15 out of 21 games they have won from Tenth of Duquesne in the previous.

Things I Never Knew Till Now

THAT genuine emeralds (which cost more than diamonds) appear purple under the jeweler's glass. Only the phoneys appear green.

That there are some scientists who say that the Titanic has not yet reached the ocean's bottom, and that it still travels around with the subterranean currents.

That no Czar of Russia has died a natural death since Peter the Great.

That no definite cure has been found for a cold, and that physicians do not know much concerning it.

That Marilyn Miller's intimates call her "Lumpy."

That you can be arrested and fined for snoring in Chicago. Two men as a matter of fact recently were.

UNCLE NO TIKEL

THAT Libby Holman, the king of a woman who doesn't need a guy like me, has an uncle who backs several Broadway shows but won't put a penny in any in which she appears because he disapproved of her stage career.

That concentrated oil of nicotine is the most powerful poison known.

That humans alone kiss as a sign of affection, due to certain erotic tissue in the lips.

That no woman ever acted the part of Charley's Aunt.

That in the British prisons the inmates get gray lounge suits, a looking glass, comfortable slippers, their own safety razors and a strip of carpet on the cell floor—but no monocle!

AS IF YOU CARED

THAT Petronius Arbiter's Trimalchio's Dinner, 1,700 years before Galsworthy, quoted one of the characters in the home as saying: "It is just as easy to be born a gentleman as it is to say Jack Robinson."

That a great beneficial use to humanity has ben found for malaria, which has cured paresis.

That the drum-major who in 1918 thrilled the 5th Ave. crowds was Jack Kelly, U. S. N., now the drummer in a Chicago theater.

That one of the most misquoted lines from Shakespeare is "The play's the thing," and that the complete sentence from "Hamlet" is: "The play's the thing wherein I'll catch the conscience of the king," meaning something altogether different from the popular usage.

JUST LIKE YOUR KIDS

THAT when Beethoven was a youth he had to be beaten to play the piano, according to Ferenc Molnar.

That all tipping has been stopped in Germany, 10 per cent being added to the checks everywhere.

That even the most pious man will "fall" and immediately rub his lips with a kerchief if you say: "Rub the rouge from your lips."

That one of the better known broadcasters for WEAF talks to his mother in California via code during various hookups.

That electrocuted felons die of strangulation, which is the same as death by hanging, which was abolished here as too cruel.

That there is a law in New York that prohibits women from smoking in public places or on the street.

That Rudy Wiedoft, idol of Rudy Vallee and one of the better orchestra conductors in N. Y., is deaf.

GOT FROM SCANDINAVIAN

THAT the word "sport" is of French origin. It comes from "disport"—to carry oneself away from one's ordinary business.

That animals have no sense of personality. They do not recognize themselves in a mirror, for example, the simplest test.

That the family name of British royalty before the war was "Guelph." In other words, if the queen were an ordinary citizen she would be addressed as "Mrs. Guelph"—in plain tukk.

That the pronunciation of "sheik" is "shake" and not "sheek."

That in China and Japan you pay your doctor while you are well and he serves you free when you are ill.

That while the U. S.-Canadian border is not guarded, we have soldiers garrisoned at all strategic points 10 to 20 miles behind the line, and so have they.

That if you go broke in a big game at the Monte Carlo Casino they buy your passage back home.

And that the chicken positively came before the egg.

UNSCRAMBLE THESE ANAGRAMBLES
DAILY ANAGRAM PUZZLES

TRY your hand at this fascinating game of Anagrambles—the game that is taking the town like the crossword puzzle craze took the whole nation for a ride through the dictionary.

The game is quite simple. Merely change the following words by the addition of the single letter indicated. Do not omit any letter of the original word. The letter may be inserted at the beginning of the word, anywhere within the word, or at the end. Thus, the word "pate" by the addition of the letter "l" becomes either "pleat" or "plate." The word "drag" may be changed to either "grade" or "raged" by the addition of the letter "e."

The original word must be changed in meaning by the commentary letter. To change "mine" by adding "d" to form "mined," would be incorrect. Rearrange the letters of your word to change its meaning, not its tense or number. Take a pencil now and write in your newly formed word in the spaces provided.

Worm Turns in Street Car; Bus May Be Next Place

Officials of the Pittsburgh Railways Company must have been completely surprised, nonplussed, taken aback, amazed, possibly even astounded, when the worm (technical corporation term for passenger or public) turned in one of its cars t'other night. The worm proverbially is the most humble of all critters, but, also proverbially, it will turn, as the railways company ought to know.

This turning incident was centered in the refusal of a number of passengers to leave a street car, ordered to reverse its course. They were to be transferred to a car behind, already loaded. One who had had that experience many times decided to make a stand—and a speech. He urged his fellow passengers not to leave—and they "stayed put." They had a nice long ride, but eventually got home—two hours and a half after boarding the car.

Considering that the passengers were making a fight for a principle, we believe the time was well spent. They pay for good service and are entitled to get it. We know that passengers are in part responsible for crowding street cars, forcing themselves in rather than waiting until the rush hour is over, but voluntarily entering a crowded car downtown is a matter entirely different from being forced to change to one when part way home.

The street car people could relieve this crowded car problem if they gave the public a square deal in rates on its buses. A lower rate would take away some street car passengers, but to a man up a tree it looks like good business to convert a token-paying street car patron into a bus passenger paying 10 or 15 cents.

Perhaps the quarter-paying bus passenger may take it into his head some day to rebel, too. Did you ever think of that, Messrs. Railways Company Officials?

Men Must Worship

They Invent Gods If Necessary.

AN EFFIGY OF QUEEN ALEXANDER, WORSHIPED IN INDIA

This interesting, surprising picture shows a huge figure set up as a goddess in one of the temples of the Jains, a wealthy religious sect in India.

The late Queen Alexandra, mother of King George of England, was loved throughout the British Empire.

The Indian subjects of her husband doubtless heard a great deal about her, and concluded that she ought to make a good goddess.

Therefore they set up this enormous image, showing the Indian idea as to what a Queen of England would probably wear.

And to this day the figure of the dead Queen stands in the temple of the Jains, at Cawnpore, revered and worshiped by a crowd that comes to ask favors of it.

This worship which would be called "Pagan idolatry" is a growth of human nature, said truly "If there had not been a God, it would be necessary to invent one."

Jews and pagans have invented gods of all sorts, usually making them as much as possible like themselves, with their own fashions and hatreds, jealousies and revenges.

A Greek philosopher said "If the camels had a god, their god would have four legs and a hump."

Even some people with considerable civilization have invented gods reflecting their own small qualities of jealousy and hate.

Human beings, surrounded by evidences of power incomprehensible, and painfully conscious of their own littleness, instinctively seek for supernatural health.

A million years ago they kneeled begging the lightning not to kill them. They thought it was the weapon of an angry god.

They feared winds howling in the cave, supposing that evils did the howling.

They made horrible idols and sacrificed human beings to them.

They killed other savages, religiously, telling them to go to heaven and take messages to the gods.

Men must worship something and will invent something to worship.

Meanwhile, science actually IMPROVES CONDITIONS.

Men have harnessed the lightning and it now runs street cars, lights our homes, cooks food, runs electric fans.

Men have taken the wind, compressed it, and made it a vacuum cleaner.

This is an interesting picture and you can think for some time about it.

"Bugs" Baer Says:

Twice in Same Place

EVERY year this nation loses three hundred million dollars in bad checks.

A check is a certificate of good-will drawn on a wishing-well. The rubber draft is the most popular. It bounces against the bank and the recoil knocks your hat off.

"Bugs" Baer

We once accepted a check on the State Lake Bank, of Chicago. The bank wasn't in the state. It was in the lake.

Linoleum parchment is very popular around New York City. The only time we ever got mad was when we took a check on the left bank of the Hudson.

It came back marked, "No fun."

The tough orchestration of the matter was that we had to pay $3.48 protest charges on the valuable piece of oil cloth.

That's getting two kicks from the same hoof. We argued with the alert banker about the protest charges. But we paid them.

If that is the law it's worse than an amendment.

First, an urban slicker slips you the sour slab of paper. Then he goes on his detours rejoicing. You are out the 50 buttons and you chalk it up to experience and shadow-boxing.

Then the bank calls up and the head banker informs you that your are chairman of the protest division and your first year's dues are $3.48.

When a debonaire artist knocks you off for 50 gilt-edge mortgages he should be happy enough to pay the protest dividends.

The most popular story at the present time was originated in this column. It is about the victim saying to the fairy godfather:

"I always get your checks twice. Once when you give it to me and once when the bank sends it back."

The incredible sum of three hundred million deficit between the lip and the pocket is guaranteed by the statistics of the National Retail Credit Association.

We don't believe it. We know there are that many suckers. But we never thought there were that many smart birds.

We usually take our medicine right off the shelf standing. We don't usually complain. But there is one bird roaming the works who is in for an old Spanish shellacking if we ever get him.

We don't mind the 50 so much. But those $3.48 protest charges was the straw that broke the camel's arches.

Isn't It So?

Time never hangs heavy on the hands of a boy with his first watch.

NARCISSUS

By Herbert Kaufman

THE greatest of sheiks whom tradition bespeaks,
Compared to Narcissus, were tu'penny squeaks.
At a flick of HIS eye, Queen and Goddess stood by.
As for dryads and nymphs and such OTHER small fry,
They grew sad for him, mad for him,
Longed to be BAD for him;
Pined for him, whined for him,
Left homes behind for him.

YET ALL of their cases were passing and mild
When we contemplate ECHO, who SIMPLY WENT WILD.
She crochetted him slippers, craved locks of his hair,
And no matter how often he gave her the air,
Still haunted the door of his club and the links,
Wore love charms, slipped "come-hither" stuff in his drinks—
Yet, though built for the Follies and eye-balm most rare,
The poor little girl didn't get ANYWHERE.

ONE after another, the best bets in town
As futilely high-signed and languished around,
But human was never and ne'er shall be born
To bilk Messer Cupid and hold him to scorn,
"Yon Frigidaire, son, thinks he's safely frappe," Jeered Venus (who'd just fallen HARD, by the way.)
"He slipped ME the mitten! Now go get him, runt!"
And this is the way that they pulled off the stunt,

NEXT morning, while hunting, the unaware fool
Paused to drink at the brink of a nice crystal pool,
And there for the first time looked down on a face
That set his heart leaping and made his blood race,
He ogled his image, to bosom would press it,
Plunged into the water and sought to caress it.
Came daily and babbled his love to the spite
Fore'er out of reach, and forever in sight,
Went looney and stuck round the neighborhood till
He metamorphosed to a danged daffodil,

THE moral might be this, my friend,
"Love always lands 'em in the end,"
But that's of rather mushy trend,
More likely hath the tale in mind,
To warn both mortal man and elf
'Gainst thinking TOO MUCH of himself.

∴ LISTEN, WORLD! ∴

By Elsie Robinson

THEY don't think much of ROMANCE in Russia . . . they believe in COMRADESHIP instead.

Russian men and women fought side by side during the World War and in the Revolution. They suffered wounds together, faced plague, imprisonment, torture and starvation together, died together and were buried in the same grave. And from that grim experience came a new conception of companionship between male and female.

Russian men could no longer think of women as helpless creatures, needing special protection and exemption. Russian women could no longer pretend to be clinging vines, even if they wished to. All those artificial sex distinctions which we recognize under the term "chivalry" . . . all romantic traditions . . . were abolished. For 10 years Russian women have been treated just like men.

Andree Viollis, in her book, "A GIRL IN SOVIET RUSSIA," tells of the new attitude.

"We have set love in its proper place," said a Russian official to Miss Viollis, "romantic love, that is, sentimental love . . . We hold love to be a natural function; one does not permit it to invade one's life. We place it below the friendship, the esteem which can and should exist between man and woman."

And so love making is no longer the theme in Russian song, drama and story. Our popular films, with their sentimental plots, seem amusing to them. They are frequently greeted with yawns, hisses and cat-calls! Young people do not neck and pet in parked automobiles nor flirt as they pass on the street. The fox-trot, shimmy and Charleston are forbidden, for the Soviet considers such dances too sensual.

But, on the other hand, young people are allowed to marry as early as they please, part as soon as they wish . . . provided all this does not interfere with their public usefulness.

In Russia women share public honors and authority equally with men.

But they also share the death penalty and all legal and industrial responsibilities.

They can sow their wild oats if they wish . . . no child is considered illegitimate.

But a woman cannot bring a breach of promise suit, nor can she hold a man to an unwilling marriage. Divorce, to either man or woman, is granted on request. Alimony is limited to the term of one year and often refused entirely.

But how about the children?

Mothers and fathers are held equally responsible for their support. Mothers, be they wedded, unwedded or divorced, are expected to work. They are not COMPELLED to work, but the majority of them do.

Splendid nurseries are provided for the children, where they may receive far better food, care and medical attention than they could in the average home. Maternity homes and lying-in hospitals are provided for expectant mothers, where they may stay without labor or cost for two months before births and two months after. If the mother does not know a trade she is taught one during this period. After this she goes back into life, to take her place with men.

A hardship? Not from the Russian point of view. Woman is Russia is considered man's equal in courage, energy and intelligence. They regard our chivalrous, romantic treatment of women as an insult! Well....what's YOUR opinion?

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS.

THERE was a Scotch efficiency engineer that was hired to look over the plans for a new hotel.

"Here," he says, "in the lobby, you must arrange for the men's lounging chairs to be facing a railing about three and a half feet higher than the chair seats."

"How silly," says the owner. "What good would that do?"

"Silly, is it?" Well, my grandfather run a hotel, and I'll tell you that men likes to stick their feet up higher than their heads when they loaf."

"Sure, but it looks terrible."

"Looks terrible, but you can pay for your electric bill with the change you'll find in the upholstery of the chairs."

A Phantom World

WHAT a phantom world is this
Of the men who fancy bliss
Lies in any golden scheme.
Men who would not be, but seem,
Judging all life amiss!

Phantom world whose values vain,
Phantom world where phantoms go,
In their false and fleeting show,
World where pride and folly reign!

From the futile world at last
When men into truth have passed,
They will find the real world waits,
Love and toil within its gates,
Song and hope and purpose vast!

Text for Today

And as Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness, even so must the Son of man be lifted up. That whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have eternal life.—John iii:14, 15.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE

By H. G. WELLS
In Collaboration With
Prof. Julian Huxley and George P. Wells.

FISHERMEN, infuriated by the quantities of starfish that appear in their nets and by the havoc wrought by these animals on oyster-beds, often chop them in halves and fling them back into the sea; but since each half then proceeds to develop into a whole starfish the fishermen are increasing rather than reducing the number of the species.

In the segmented worms we find various methods of asexual reproduction. In the little marine worm, Autolytus cornutus, new individuals are grown at the hinder end of the body, so that there may be a chain of from two to (at least) forty individuals, each with a head of its own, but stuck together head to tail by a mortar of living tissue until such time as one of the hinder ones becomes rebellious, refuses to follow its leader and tears itself away.

H.G. Wells

Moreover, in this species we have an example of the phenomenon known as "alternation of generations."

The fertilized eggs develop into sexless individuals which swim about sprouting new individuals until they die—but the individuals thus sprouted are male and female (and differ in a number of external characters from the sexless generations); they do not reproduce themselves asexually but produce fertilized eggs—and so the cycle begins again.

In another kind of worm, Syllis ramosa, which is found inside the cavities of sponges from the deep sea, new individuals are sprouted off as side-branches from the flanks of the old, so that a web of worms is produced from which the sexual individuals snap themselves off and escape.

Finally, similar but even more striking phenomena are seen in flatworms. In most species of Planaria (but not in all) the creature creeps about, but there is disaffection, so to speak, in its latter end; as the animal becomes fully grown the latter half reorganizes itself into a new individual, and when it is ready it suddenly rebels and firmly grips the ground like a resolute donkey, refusing to be pulled along by the front any longer.

There is a frantic tug-of-war and a final split; the front end crawls away with an appearance of extreme indifference to grow a new and ultimately equally troublesome tail. Meanwhile, the hind end starts on an independent life, to be rebelled against in its turn by its own posterior.

2. Obelia.

IT IS common to find a light brown fur-like growth just below low-water mark on seaweeds, the wooden piles of piers and the like. The growth consists of branching filaments of about the thickness of fine sewing cotton, the branches terminating in tiny knob-like enlargements. The whole thing is suggestive at first sight of a miniature forest of seaweed, but the filaments are animals, not plants; they belong to the genus called Obelia.

Under a microscope we find that the filaments consist of hollow strands of living substance ensheathed by a transparent, horny tube.

At most of the knobs the tube opens out as a delicate goblet of simple design, and in each goblet there lives a polyp. The polyps—the individuals of the little colony—are very simple in their structure.

They consist of plain cylindrical bags of living tissue; at one end they are joined to the central filament of the branch on which they rest and at the other they have tiny funnel-shaped mouths surrounded by single rings of writhing tentacles.

Scattered all over their surfaces, and particularly numerous on the tentacles, are minute stinging capsules. Each of these is a tiny oval vesicle with a spiral filament coiled up inside and a sensitive "trigger hair" projecting from the surface of the animal into the outer world.

When the triger hair is stimulated the spiral filament, barbed and poisonous, is shot out with surprising vigor.

The flower-like polyp is a living snare; it waits, with its tentacles stretched out, and if a suitable victim—such as one of the microscopic crustaceans—brushes one of the tentacles as it passes by it is suddenly riddled with the stinging, numbing filaments, then grasped in the other tentacles and crammed through the mouth into the hungry bag.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—Thoughts while strolling: What became of Typhoid Mary? Beefy ladies who seem to barge along. An original Remington bronze. The strange looking idlers around the radio stations. A quick flurry of snow. S. Jay Kaufman, a Ridgeway, Pa., boy, who made good in the city.

Mary Garden is thinner. Gil Patten, who wrote the Frank Merriwells. A pressing place called The Wrinkle Shop. Gabble, gabble, gabble from the tea rooms. Lily Damita going into the Savoy Plaza. The appealing and gracious timidity of elderly people. Genevieve Tobin.

The horse hair trunk with brass tack curlicues once owned by Barnum. And now in a curio shop. The whispering fellow who hawks post cards of Venus de Milo as "naughty Parisian" pictures. The belt-coated youths who step so gracefully from moving bus platforms. And flirt back their hair.

Nothing can gaze at you so disdainfully as a cockatoo. The shivering street corner hot chestnut venders. Maurice Chevalier shirts—heavy blue and worn with red ties. Florists who slash prices after 8 p. m. Crowds waiting for a Christian Science lecture.

Sign: "Beautistician." The blue electric fire from Broadway. The ghostly gloom of the Vanderbilt house. Chalk signs of beggers. The awed hush of those entering St. Patrick's—often on tip toe. And a priest walking slowly across the lawn. Bernard Gimble and Gene Tunney.

The little shop that deals only in riding crops. And that shirt maker who is in the Social Register. Luzia, the South American fashion artist. People who look at street clocks and then glance hurriedly at wrist watches. Cigaret humidors priced at $500.

Those sombre salons devoted to trade but with nothing on display. Dignified window sitters at the old Murray Hall Hotel. Charles E. Mitchell, the banker. Venerable ladies who drive in horse-drawn cabs in the late afternoon. Whatever became of carved peach seed baskets as watch charms?

The intimate postage stamp dance floors where Broadway once sat in the spectral gloom of tobacco fumes are no more. The cycle has swung back to barn like restaurants with blazing lights. Like the old Palais Royal. Dancers are no longer forced to toddle but sweep along in graceful glides.

* * *

Two new Broadway restaurants are a block long. There is no cover charge. There are big orchestras and the meals are from $1.50 to $2.00. But the pint of table water is still $1.50 and the quart $3.00.

* * *

The trick of making profits in these places is in the table water gag. Otherwise they would operate at a loss. Dancing New Yorkers take along their flasks. They must have table water, set ups and cracked ice. And ice in man costs $1 for a little bowl.

* * *

Music lovers arriving late for concerts are being forced to coo their heels in the foyers. They are not admitted until after the first intermission. Leopold Stowkowski, who is touchy about audience disturbances, inaugurated the stern measure at Carnegie Hall and the plan is followed at other concerts.

* * *

Hunters of the perfect dessert may find something an inch or so from their ideal in a dish known as "Ikmek Kadiaff with Kaymak." It is procurable chiefly in Armenian cafes and is a bread cooked in honey and covered with a heavy double cream that requires 24 hours to fashion.

East Forty-second street still has painless dental parlors with uniformed Negroes out front passing out cards. But the traveling dentist, it seems, has entirely vanished. He used to come to our town every spring with his band. Whenever he pulled a tooth the band played. Thus the crowd could not hear the victim yell.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

BECAUSE you desire to be known as a good fellow often you allow friends to persuade you to do things you know you should not do.

You spend more than you can afford or engage in doubtful practices.

Eventually you bring disgrace to your family because you have not the courage to refuse the requests of your friends.

Perhaps you have lost considerable money as a result of your trying to please others.

Did those who urged you on come forward and offer to help you when you got in trouble through taking their advice or conforming to their desires?

This is often the outcome of foolishness, and those who are responsible are the last ones to help out the unfortunate.

You went in with your eyes open, they say, and have no pity when you lose.

The person who has the power to overrule your judgment has little real admiration for you.

He considers you more or less a weakling—he would not back you.

He wants to put his money with a safe person.

You are not considered such an individual.
